DETECTIVE DIES IN COAL MINING STRIKE RIOTING

Hard Battle Is Staged Near Gov. Emmerson's Mansion.

MANY SHOTS FIRED IN ILLINOIS CLASH

Felled Union Men Beaten and Kicked by Mob of Infuriated Strikers.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 25 (U.P.).—A coal miners' battle a block from the governor's mansion tonight ended in the death of a detective sergeant, the critical wounding of a union leader, and the injury of half a dozen others.

Detective Sergt. "Port" Williams, 45, died in a hospital after he was shot in the riot, which began in front of the Knights of Columbus Hall, straggled through the business district, and reached its tragic climax in front of the Leland Hotel.

Garnett Smith, union worker from Herrin, was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. He had two knife wounds in his chest and his head was cut and badly beaten. Dominic Geromano, a bystander, also was critically hurt with two bullet wounds in his chest. W. A. Pace, Herrin; Cyril Pace, Monmouth; E. O. Donnell, Pittsburgh, Pa., and "Bozo" Gamage, Danville, were less seriously hurt. Most of them suffered head bruises.

Dying Man Admits Slaying.

T. T. Sullivan, chief of the State criminal identification bureau, announced several hours later that Smith confessed shooting Williams. Smith, near death on a hospital cot, maintained, Sullivan said, that the revolver was discharged accidentally.

City Attorney Hugh Dobbs announced that if Smith recovered he would be charged with murder and a guard was placed over the injured man at the hospital. Smith is president of union local 1776 at Herrin and said he came here this morning for the meeting.

Besides Smith, 24 other union men were arrested. A great crowd gathered when they were taken from the hotel to the jail. All were charged with inciting a riot. Among them were John Grecula, Smokey City, Pa.; Lawrence James, of Springfield, all organizers Dwyer, Indian Springs, Ind., and W. J. for the United Mine Workers of America.

Men Beaten and Kicked.

The trouble began when William J. Sneed, of Herrin, called a meeting of United Mine Workers of America members in the hall to discuss opening of more mines under a new $5

Sea Fliers Feared Victims of Storm

Little Hope Held Now for Safety of Three Airmen From Japan.

Tokyo, Monday, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The wireless station at Ochiishi continued throughout the night to cover the North Pacific for news of the Japanese good-will plane en route to Nome, Alaska, but the efforts were fruitless, and the fear was expressed the plane had not survived a week-end storm.

The plane hopped off at 5:35 a. m. Friday from Samushiro, and the last word was at 10:16 a. m. the same day, when the plane flashed it was 750 miles northeast of Tokyo. At 12:30 a. m. today (10:30 a. m. Sunday, Eastern standard time), the good-will ship had been out nearly 72 hours.

The newspaper Hochi Shimbun, promoter of the flight, doubted whether the ship would ever be heard from again. Aboard were three aviators, Eiichiro Babe, pilot; Kiyoshi Honma, navigator, and Tomoyoshi Ishita, radio operator. Their ship was a single motored one and this was the third ill-fated good-will flight sponsored by the newspaper.

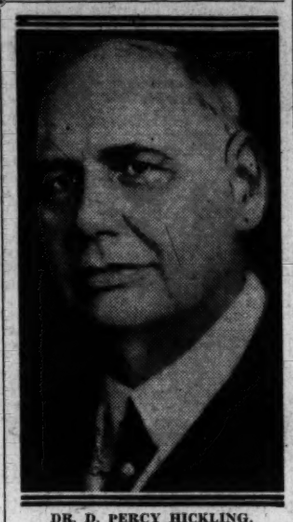
Federals Claim Gains In Brazilian Fighting

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—An official civil war bulletin today said the federal drive against the important northern Sao Paulo center, Campinas, had brought their advance troops to the village of Carlos Gomes, 18 miles north of Campinas.

Fighting continued at Pedreira, a minor sector of the Campinas front several miles to the west. The federals reported they had repulsed a rebel attack there and had taken 50 prisoners. Gen. Joao Francisco reported from the southern front that his federal troops had taken Fartura and Salto Grande, and were driving their advance along the railway line 90 miles north of Itarare.

Dr. Hickling Plunges Down Elevator Shaft

Fall in Home May Prove Fatal to Nationally Famous Alienist.



DR. D. PERCY HICKLING.

Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist and nationally known expert on mental diseases, was critically injured last night when he plunged more than 12 feet down a small elevator shaft at his home, 1304 Rhode Island avenue northwest.

Attending physicians at Emergency Hospital, where the 69-year-old specialist was taken, expressed fear that he would not survive his injuries. A complete diagnosis had not been made at a late hour last night and his condition was described as "undetermined."

A long-practiced habit was held responsible for Dr. Hickling's fall. For the last two weeks workmen have been laboring to complete an automatic elevator in the physician's home. To make way for the shaft, Dr. Hickling was forced to relinquish the use of a medicine closet in which his medical equipment had been stored for many years.

Accustomed to stepping into this closet for matters of reference or to obtain compounds and instruments, Dr. Hickling apparently forgot for the moment that the construction work

ROOSEVELT CLAIMS 14 WESTERN STATES

Aboard Roosevelt Special, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt headed eastward into Arizona today on the first leg of the long and circuitous journey back to Albany after a campaign swing that already has put him before many thousands of persons in fourteen States.

As his train sped across the barren lands with their sparse growth of cactus and mesquite, and into the range country, the campaign managers of the Democratic presidential candidate, in accordance with their frequently enunciated policy of not conceding a single State to the Republicans, claimed that they would win the 152 electoral votes of the fourteen States he has visited.

His journey so far has brought him into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California and Arizona.

He has made numerous back platform appearances and speeches, the outstanding of the latter having been his farm relief declaration at Topeka, that on railroads at Salt Lake City, on public utilities at Portland and on the relationship of Government to business at San Francisco.

Another of the speeches which he has described as major ones of this trip is to be made at Sioux City,

Mrs. Borah Better, Physicians Report

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Continued improvement was noted today in the condition of Mrs. William W. Borah, who is ill with psittacosis, or parrot fever, but physicians said it still was serious. A hospital bulletin issued at 1:15 p. m. (Mountain standard time), said:

"While her condition is still very serious, the improvement has continued."

Mrs. Borah, wife of the Idaho senator, has received three doses of the convalescent serum since the first injection early Saturday, shortly after its arrival from Washington.

U.S. CHAMBER RAPS GOVERNMENT TRADE

Will Fight Alleged Unfair Competition With Private Firms to End.

(Associated Press.)

A renewed attack on what was described as governmental competition with private business was issued yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, with the assertion it would continue the fight until its "objective is accomplished."

Accompanied by a lengthy recitation of what the organization considers abuses of the Constitution, the statement was contained in a special report presented to the chamber's directorate by a committee of which Henry D. Sharpe, of Providence, R. I., is chairman.

"The chamber has long opposed any form of Government competition," a statement accompanying the report said, "its membership at various times having declared its position. The present report therefore is another step in the chamber's efforts that will be continued until

Two Men Injured In Odd Auto Crash

One of Cars Goes Through Iron Fence and Other Halts on Doorstep.

An odd automobile accident at Seventh and D streets southeast early today sent a man to the hospital with a possible fracture of the skull. Another was treated for shock.

According to police, an automobile operated south on Seventh street by Thomas E. Drurry, 21, of 204 Tenth street southeast, at the intersection of D street collided with a sedan operated by Teodore A. Mathews, 37, of 614 Four-and-a-half street southwest.

After the collision the car driven by Mathews continued on through an iron fence in front of 400 Seventh street. The other car came to a halt on the doorstep of 707 D street. Drurry was taken to Casualty Hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. Carl Thomas, 20, of 313 Ninth street southeast, was treated at Providence Hospital for shock and released.

Joint Income of Roosevelt And Wife Said to Be $42,500

$25,000 in Salary as Governor and $12,500 From Bonds Constitute Major Share, Says Magazine in Telling of Family's Economical Life.

New York, Sept. 25.—The annual income of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife, including his salary as governor, says the magazine Fortune in its issue out tomorrow, is $42,500.

The magazine said the $42,500 is made up as follows:

"Salary as Governor of New York, $25,000.

"Franklin Roosevelt's income from semi-inactive law practice and sale of articles; also Eleanor Roosevelt's salary as teacher in Todhunter School and small profits from Val Kill furniture shop, but excluding her new salary from Bernarr MacFadden's forthcoming magazine (of which Mrs. Roosevelt has been named editor), $5,000.

"Income (at present market levels) from investments of both Gov. and Mrs. Roosevelt, mostly in bonds, $12,500."

The publication recently surveyed President Hoover's personal fortune and estimated it at $700,000 "with an annual income, earned and unearned, of more than $90,000."

The magazine says, "The governor wore a suit of his father's until last year, when young James is rumored to have hidden it," and adds, in asserting the Roosevelts must live as economically as possible, "Mrs. Roosevelt, for all her entertaining, buys no more than two evening dresses a year."

The governor is reported as having always believed that a political office holder should not be dependent upon his salary alone and is quoted on that subject as follows:

"Either the individual should have enough money of his own safely invested to take care of him when not holding office, or he should have business connections, a profession or a job to which he can return from time to time."

GIRL EN ROUTE TO BE MARRIED DEAD IN CRASH

Fiance Is Badly Injured in Accident Close to Woodbridge, Va.

FIRE MAKES VICTIM'S RESCUE IMPOSSIBLE

One in Second Car Slightly Hurt; Neither Driver Ordered Held.

Miss Gertrude Sass, 26, of South Ozone Park, N. Y., was burned to death yesterday morning on the eve of her wedding in an automobile accident about 2 miles south of Woodbridge, Va., on the Washington-Richmond highway, about 6 o'clock.

Her fiance, C. W. Engle, of the U. S. S. Idaho, stationed at Portsmouth, Va., is in the Quantico Marine Hospital in a serious condition with a concussion of the brain, several fractured ribs and a bruised right arm.

The young persons were on their way to Portsmouth from New York when the accident occurred, and were to have been married there this morning. Engle was on leave from his ship, having made the trip North for his fiancee a few days ago.

Others in Crash.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of the highway, the right front wheels of both cars colliding. The cars turned over on the left side of the road.

The second car in the crash was driven by Anton P. Hoeffner, of Rosedale, N. Y., who escaped injury, but his brother, Henry Hoeffner, was cut about the left eye. They were on their way North from Florida.

Flames Balk Rescue.

Miss Sass was knocked unconscious and pinned under the steering wheel as Engle was thrown clear when the car turned over. An explosion occurred and the small car was enveloped in flames, making her rescue impossible. She was burned beyond recognition. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Hall & Davis at Occoquan, Va. Engle was taken to the Quantico Hospital by a passing motorist.

Coroner E. H. Marstellar, of Prince William County, Va., had reached no verdict late last night. Neither driver was ordered held for further action.

Gen. Lejeune Shows Further Improvement

Lexington, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Attending physicians today said they were encouraged at the continued improvement in the condition of Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, superintendent of Virginia Military Institute, who was injured last week in a fall on the campus.

They said the patient, with the exception of brief intervals, was conscious. Gen. Lejeune suffered a fractured skull and a broken arm when he fell down an embankment.

4 Die in Plane Pilfered From Airport at Rio

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Three adventurers today kidnaped an airport watchman, stole a commercial airplane and apparently attempted to fly to the rebel capital of Sao Paulo, but the coup ended in death for all four.

The wreckage of the plane was found 15 miles south of Rio de Janeiro, near Merity. Witnesses there said the pilot had dived crazily just before the crash, indicating a lack of experience in flying.

Police tonight said they had identified the leader of the ill-fated expedition as Walter Voss, a German. An intensive investigation was launched, but no definite conclusions had been reached late tonight as to the purpose of the fliers.

Police said they had learned Voss and an unidentified companion had rowed to the island airport of the

NORRIS TO TALK FOR ROOSEVELT

"National Progressives" Head Repeats 1928 Performance.

(Associated Press.)

The National Progressive League announced yesterday that Senator George W. Norris, veteran Nebraska Republican independent, would make a coast-to-coast speaking tour in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt's presidential candidacy.

In a formal statement, the league named Senator Norris as its head and described itself as "nonpartisan in policy" with its activities confined "solely to economic issues."

Norris, who bolted Herbert Hoover four years ago and campaigned for Alfred E. Smith, will open his 1932 speaking drive for Gov. Roosevelt on October 15. His itinerary has not been fixed. He will speak under the auspices of the National Progressive League.

Other Speakers for League.

The league also will send Mayor Frank Murphy, of Detroit; Bainbridge Colby, of New York, Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet, and Amos Pinchot, of New York, on

Four Killed as Planes Lock Wings and Crash

Whittier, Calif., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Four persons were killed when two airplanes locked wings and crashed on Beverly boulevard near Pico late today.

The ships were circling above the Los Angeles Eastside airport at an altitude of about 300 feet when the wings interlocked, police were told. The passengers of one plane were identified as James E. Hill, 31, of Los Angeles, and Rollo G. Cadien, 25. In the other ship were James L. Wisner, 38, Los Angeles, and a woman about 28 years old whose identity was not immediately established.

Britain Now Expected To Save Gandhi's Life

Mahatma, Still Sinking, Warns of Terms London Must Meet.

India Office Speeds Consideration of Hindu Compromise.

Poona, India, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi warned the people of India today he would suspend his "fast unto death" only if the compromise electoral plan, accepted by untouchables and caste Hindus, is approved by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

His voice was barely audible as he neared the end of his fifth day without food. A physician who examined the 62-year-old Nationalist, said he would be unable to recover unless he took food soon.

"If my fast is broken by virtue of the Cabinet's decision, it will be but a suspension," he said. "Sure as fate, I shall take my vow again if the part to be played by caste Hindus is not well played in the coming months."

Mr. Gandhi lay on an enamelled bed under a mango tree in the compound of Yeroda jail.

The watchers by Gandhi's bedside were busy tonight because the yarn which the emaciated little man insisted on trying to spin kept breaking with the turns of the wheel.

Try as he could, the thread would part and his strength was no longer adequate to repair it, so his disciples did it for him, patiently, unobtrusively, again and again.

Mr. Gandhi's ration of salt in water was considerably reduced tonight,

London, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A blaze of lights in the India Office until nearly midnight tonight attested the speed with which Great Britain was seeking to help end the fast of the Indian Nationalist, the Mahatma Gandhi.

Although it was privately believed the government will agree early tomorrow to the Indian electorate solutions prompted by Gandhi's threat to abstain from food "unto death," there was no official statement when India Office conferees turned out the lights tonight.

An official statement said "every effort has been made and is in mind to avoid delay."

During the day, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary for India, and the Marquis of Lothian, undersecretary for India, were in consultation, and the conversations were continued without the prime minister after he had left for Chequers, his country place, late in the day.

There was a deal of evidence that the British government wished to demonstrate its complete accord with Gandhi's proposal ultimately to merge the electorates of Hindus and the depressed classes. Assurances have been given that this action does not affect

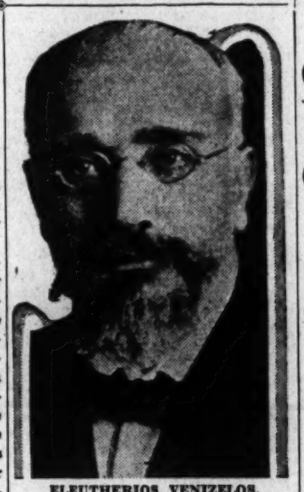
HIJACKERS KIDNAP 4 DRY AGENTS AND TAKE $18,000 LIQUOR CARGO

Venizelos Candidates Win 100 Greek Seats

Royalist Groups Take Like Number in Quiet Voting.



ELEUTHERIOS VENIZELOS.

Athens, Greece, Sept. 25 (U.P.).—Tabulation of votes from today's general elections indicated at midnight that the various republican agrarian parties will hold the balance of power in the Chamber of Deputies.

The Liberal party of Premier Venizelos and the Royalists and their Populist associates each won approximately 100 seats of the 250 in the chamber. The Communists won approximately ten seats, it was indicated, leaving 40 for the Republican groups which normally would be expected to form a coalition with the Liberals, but which recently have shown an increasing anti-Venizelos sentiment chiefly because the premier declared he had no intention of resigning, even in favor of another Liberal.

One-third of the members of the Senate were also elected today.

The election was quiet and the government imposed rigid restrictions to prevent disturbances. Automobile traffic, save in special cases, was prohibited. There was no sale of intoxicants, and announcement of early election results by a newspaper or political parties was forbidden.

Premier Venizelos had declared that the fate of the republic was at Use Machine Guns in Raid On Road.

CAPTORS FREE VICTIMS LATER

Capital Man Held in Maryland Attack.

Special to The Washington Post.

Prince Frederick, Md., Sept. 25.—Three carloads of hijackers swept an automobile convoy guarding liquor seized by prohibition agents with a barrage of submachine gun bullets near here early today, capturing the cargo and four agents, after a raid on a Spanish mansion at Plum Point.

In this, the most sensational conflict between prohibition agents and bootleggers in Maryland since prohibition went into effect, the boot at stake was $18,000 worth of imported liquors recovered after the rout of the Federal men in a Negro's small farmhouse a short distance from the scene of the encounter.

The truck containing the liquor, taken at gun point from the agents, overturned in front of the farmhouse as a hijacker-driver was taking a turn at full speed. The hijackers hurriedly carried the liquor to the house, and again bringing their guns into play, forced the Negro to permit them to cache the liquor in and around his home.

Capital Suspect Held.

They then sped off, and up until tonight only one suspect, Henry G. Carter, 31, of Washington had been captured. He is being held at the Southern police station in Baltimore under $7,000 bond. Agents said he has declined to say anything about the roadside encounter.

The liquor—150 cases of fifteen varieties of whisky—was seized in a raid on the $200,000 Spanish mansion of Philipo Beereda, son of Robert Beereda, now dead, who was a diplomatic envoy from Peru to the United States.

Philipo Beereda inherited the mansion, a 25-room structure built 30 or

R. W. Child Backs Democratic Ticket

Tells Why He Will Head Republicans for Roosevelt Organization.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Richard Washburn Child, who was Ambassador to Italy under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, announced today that he would support Franklin D. Roosevelt for President and would head an organization to be known as the "Republicans for Roosevelt League."

Child made public a letter he had written to Col. E. M. House, predicting that "Roosevelt will be elected by Republican votes" for three reasons:

"First, because Republicans despair of reorganizing our party under the present leadership so that it can even write a program.

"Second, because Republicans have no desire for another four years of contest between a Republican administration and a Democratic Congress.

"Third, because the time comes when above all party considerations the Nation needs hope, needs liberalism and a greater human understanding."

Coast Air Record Broken by Turner

Makes Round Trip From Los Angeles to San Francisco in 2:41:

Los Angeles, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Col. Roscoe Turner, noted speed pilot, landed at the United Airport in Burbank at 3:08 p. m. (Pacific standard time) today and set a record of 2 hours 41 minutes for a round-trip, nonstop flight between here and San Francisco. He averaged 275 miles an hour.

Turner flew from Los Angeles to San Francisco in 1 hour 26 minutes 43 seconds and made the return trip in 1 hour 14 minutes 27 seconds. His time broke the existing San Francisco to Los Angeles record, established by Jimmie Wedell, of New Orleans, by 17 minutes.

The aviator's round-trip time took only 10 minutes more than a coast airline requires for the one-way trip. He left here at 12:27:20 p. m. (Pacific standard time).

COUNTERFEIT BILLS CHARGE HOLDS TRIO

New Yorkers Lodged in Jail at Alexandria; Store Owners Victims.

A few country storekeepers, with a keen knowledge of what constitutes genuine money, caused the arrest early yesterday of three New Yorkers, one of them a woman, who are alleged to have passed counterfeit $10 bills, which are believed to have emanated from a bogus money factory in New York. Authorities confiscated $200 in fraudulent bills.

Those under arrest are Miss Evelyn Davis, 23 years old; Thomas Mikalis, 29 years old, and Daseilios Illis, 30 years old. They are being held in the Alexandria City Jail pending a hearing today before the U. S. Commissioner for the Alexandria area.

The three were arrested in Fredericksburg by Patrolman Oscar Kendall, of Fredericksburg, and State Policeman Sam Redding, after a lookout had been sent by roadstand proprietors and filling station owners on

Mrs. Robins to Come Here to Discuss Hunt

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Margaret Dreier Robins said today that she planned to go to Washington Friday or Saturday for consultations regarding the disappearance of her husband, Col. Raymond Robins.

She said she expected to confer with Federal authorities, who are conducting a Nation-wide search for Col. Robins, and she hoped also to talk to President Hoover. Mrs. Robins is at the home of her brother, H. Edward Dreier, at Fort Salonga, Long Island.

Sultan of Sulu's Daughter Seeks 14 Islands of U. S.

Paying of Claim of Princess Dayang Is Made Difficult by Fact Only Seven of Contested Places Have Been Located by Geographers.

(Associated Press.)

Princess Dayang, daughter of the Sultan of Sulu, says the United States owes her 14 islands, but Government geographers so far have located only 7.

The Moro princess last year appealed to President Hoover and the War Department to return the islands, and now is importuning Gov. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt of the Philippines. She contends they were given to her many years ago by her grandmother, Queen Lana.

The Bureau of Insular Affairs has been investigating her claim, but the princess in Manila is impatient about the delay and insists that these tiny islets, with only a few hundred acres of territory and inhabited by about 300 Moro fishermen and cocoanut growers, should be turned over to her immediately.

Known as the Turtle Islands, they lie near the northeast coast of British Borneo. Seven have been identified by international geographers, and were named in the treaty of 1930 between Great Britain and the United states, fixing a boundary line between Borneo and the insular possessions of the United States.

The seven are Sibaung, Boaan, Lihiman, Langaan, Great Bakkungaan, Taganak and Baguan.

This treaty gave the identified islands to the United States, but Princess Dayang contends the North Borneo Co.'s agreement with the sultanate of Sulu, under which Great Britain claimed control of the Turtle Islands, did not really cover that group, and insists they were not included in treaties between Spain and the United States, defining territory taken over by this country as a result of the Spanish-American War.

The 36-year-old princess is assisted in her legal battle by her husband, a

U. S. Money to Regain Free Entry in Mexico

Mexico City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A dispatch from Piedras Negras today said the Chamber of Commerce there had been advised the decree prohibiting free entry of American money would be canceled by President Abelardo Rodriguez.

Former President Pascual Ortiz Rubio in August decreed that only United States gold would be permitted entry into Mexico, and since then tourists have been required to convert into Mexican pesos, presumably to their disadvantage. The Piedras Negras chamber had protested on the ground that the measure was prejudicial to tourist trade.

Roosevelt Quoted As Against Bonus

Democrat Says Candidate Is on Record in Letter and Interview.

(Associated Press.)

R. W. Woolley, a former member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Democratic national campaign committees of 1916 and 1924, made public yesterday a letter in which he said Gov. Roosevelt is "on record as holding that payment of the bonus forthwith is not feasible."

"Therefore," he added, "I suspect the frantic challenges issued by perturbed Republican spokesmen appeal strongly to his keen sense of humor." The letter was addressed to George R. Hunt, Lexington, Ky.

Woolley said Gov. Roosevelt stated his views on the soldiers' bonus in a copyrighted interview published in a number of leading newspapers last April 23, and quoted him as follows from the New York Times:

"I don't see how, as a matter of practical sense, a Government running behind $2,000,000,000 annually can consider the anticipation of bonus payment until it has a balanced budget, not only on paper but with a surplus of cash in the Treasury. In other words, the household books that are now in the red should be put in the black."

speaking tours for the Democratic nominee.

Morris is listed as chairman of the national committee of the league, and Senator Edward P. Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, as vice chairman. Frederic C. Howe is secretary. Offices have been established in New York and Washington.

Other members of the national committee were named as Henry A. Wallace, of Iowa, publisher of Wallace's Farmer; William Draper Lewis, of Pennsylvania, director of the American Law Institute; H. C. Hansbrough, former senator from North Dakota; Felix Frankfurter, Harvard law professor; John G. Maher, of Nebraska; Donald R. Richberg, of Illinois, counsel of the Railway Labor Executives Association.

Hoover Assailed by League.

James M. Thompson, publisher of the New Orleans Item and Tribune; Ray Stannard Baker, of Massachusetts, biographer of Woodrow Wilson; Francis J. Heney, judge of superior court of California; W. R. Ronald, publisher of the Mitchell (S. D.) Republican; Roscoe Fertich, of Washington, D. C.; W. N. Polakov, of New York; H. S. Julian, of Missouri, and H. C. Schober, of South Dakota.

The league's statement declared President Hoover "incapable of effective leadership" and called upon "every independent voter to ignore party labels and joins in support of Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy and the progressive principles for which he stands."

McCook, Nebr., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Senator George W. Norris, at his home here tonight, said he had agreed to make a Roosevelt campaign tour sponsored by the National Progressive League, but that he did not know when it would start or what the itinerary would be. Norris is a Republican.

He said he would be ready to start October 15, and that he would make a coast-to-coast tour if the league wished. The senior Nebraska senator said, however, he could not accept any official position on the league which would require detailed office work.

Norris said he had advised the league he would go West, and that any time after October 14 would be satisfactory to him.

Rum to Play Larger Role In Vote, Indications Show

Dry Forces Split by Dr. Poling's Campaign for Hoover, Says Canon Chase; McBride Decries Wet Landslide Reports.

(United Press.)

Indications that prohibition is to play an increasingly important part in the presidential campaign came last night with word that the dry forces—once a compact, powerful unit for political action—were almost hopelessly split.

From one wing of the prohibitionists—the Antisaloon League headed by F. Scott McBride—came the assertion that primaries have proved that there will be "no wet landslide" and that the next Congress will neither repeal nor modify the eighteenth amendment.

Canon William Sheafe Chase, of the International Reform Federation, made sarcastic comment upon the activities of Dr. Daniel Poling, head of the allied forces for prohibition who is pledged to work for the re-election of President Hoover. Chase referred to Poling as "the leader dividing the dry forces."

Increased activity among the wets was reflected by the publication by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment of a booklet called "Thirty-two Reasons for Repeal." It reiterated familiar charges, made by wets against prohibition, including:

"Congestion of the courts, crowding of prisons, corruption of public officers, cost of enforcement, loss of Federal revenue and revenues reaped by liquor rings."

Poling Seen Dividing Factor.

"The official information," said Chase, "that the allied forces have decided to espouse the Republican cause * * * is most interesting. The encouraging thing is that the National Women's Christian Temperance Union refused to indorse either the Republican or the Democratic party or either of its candidates. The administration committee of the Antisaloon League did the same. Is it not unfortunate that Dr. Poling, who has been during the last year cooperating with all the dry organizations, should now be the leader in dividing the dry forces?

"Up to the present time the drys have been outgeneraled. The forces of division have been stronger than the forces of unity. It is unfortunate that no meeting of the forces supporting the eighteenth amendment has yet been held, though there is an organization whose chief object is to unify the dry forces."

Poling will soon start on a national airplane tour in support of the Hoover candidacy.

Senator Millard Tydings, of Maryland, a Democrat and a militant wet, last night accused three Republican senatorial candidates of "barefacedly adopting the Democratic prohibition plank." He referred to Senator Hiram Bingham, seeking reelection in Connecticut; Tallant Tubbs, of California, and Henry Kiel, of Missouri.

"Thrown Plank Overboard."

"They have thrown the Republican prohibition plank overboard," Tydings said, "and pledged themselves to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It is hard to believe that the desertions of the party platform which I have just mentioned have not been approved by those in charge of the national campaign. It is, in any event, a deliberate attempt to mislead the people."

McBride predicted the next Congress would be virtually unchanged in its prohibition attitude.

"In primary elections," he said, "with Republicans running against Republicans and Democrats against Democrats—thus eliminating partisan considerations—the opponents of prohibition repeal who have not wabbled have been victorious. The results further indicate that in the presidential election the issue will be partisan and economic and that the liquor issue will be fought out in congressional and senatorial elections.

"Undoubtedly the drys have been aroused by the activities of the wets and they resent the effort to use partisan influence through the party platforms on the prohibition question, which has always been a nonpartisan issue."

ROOSEVELT CLAIMS ELECTORAL VOTE IN 14 WESTERN STATES

Iowa, next week. The Democratic candidate on several occasions has highly praised Independent Republicans, particularly Senators George W. Norris, of Nebraska, and Hiram Johnson, of California.

During the next week Norris is to introduce Mr. Roosevelt to the citizens of McCook, Nebr., his home town. Johnson responded to the praise the New York Governor gave him at Sacramento last week with a statement that there was a great difference between the view that Roosevelt took of "progressives and progressivism" and that with which President Hoover looked upon them.

Several times, too, the Democratic candidate has spoken of his distant relative, Theodore Roosevelt, as the "first great Republican progressive," and in Los Angeles yesterday he said he cast his first vote for the Republican Roosevelt.

After journeying to Phoenix this afternoon for an automobile trip about the city, the Roosevelt party traveled to Williams, Ariz., for a two-day stay at the ranch of Mrs. John C. Greenway, national committeewoman for Arizona and an old friend of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt will join the party there.

Crowds Greet Roosevelt.

The journey today brought the train through several Arizona towns, where crowds turned out to see the candidate. At Wickenburg, one of the first stops, a sizable crowd gathered about the back of the train, but Mr. Roosevelt did not appear.

Explaining that the train would pass through the town again on its way from Phoenix to Williams, Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona introduced Mr. Roosevelt's daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, and J. Bruce Kremer, national committeeman for Montana.

Two cowboys with broad hats and rough overall pants galloped their ponies down across the tracks to sit on the edge of the crowd and listen. A headless rattlesnake, freshly killed, lay beside the track where the train stopped.

Yesterday Roosevelt spoke to thousands in the huge Hollywood bowl, and attended the motion picture industry's electrical pageant, where 65,000 persons greeted him when he was introduced by Will Rogers, film comedian.

The candidate acknowledged the applause and told the audience he and Rogers had been working hand in glove for a long time to "take care of the kiddies and do something to lessen suffering. I've been in the movies, too, for the last three months and I'm all in favor of the profession," he added.

The pageant was given for charity.

In introducing the nominee, Rogers referred to him as just "neighbor Roosevelt from the other side of the Rocky Mountains."

"I'm the only mayor in this part of the country who'll speak to Mr. Roosevelt," Rogers said. He referred to the failure of Mayor John C. Porter of Los Angeles to greet the nominee at the railroad station.

"You're the biggest thing that's been in this stadium since Babe Didrikson," Rogers continued. "This is the most people that ever paid to see a politician. You know this stadium was built to hold Iowa picnics down here. I'd even introduce Hoover if he'd come out here."

Speaks at State Capitol.

After spinning through the rich farming section watered by the Roosevelt Dam, the nominee left his train at Phoenix for a drive about the city, and to speak briefly to a huge crowd on the State capitol grounds. He made little reference to politics in either his talk there or the few words with which he greeted the crowd that swarmed about his car when the train rolled into the station.

At the station he was welcomed by Gov. George W. P. Hunt, of Arizona, and the man who defeated Hunt in the recent primary campaign, Dr. B. B. Moeur of Tempe. The two rode with him through the streets.

In his short talk at the capitol, Mr. Roosevelt said this was the first time he had been in Phoenix, but added that he knew one of Arizona's citizens, Senator Hayden, very well.

"He was always trying to get someone into the Navy when I was with the Department in Washington," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Leaving Phoenix, the train retraced its route to Wickenburg, where Mr. Roosevelt made the promised appearance on the platform before resuming the journey to Williams.

Upward of 25,000 residents welcomed Gov. Roosevelt at Phoenix.

Gov. Roosevelt spoke twice there, the first time to the crowd of several thousand packed around the observation car of his train, which arrived on schedule at 2 o'clock. On both occasions he was introduced by Senator Hayden.

"It's certainly good to get here," the Democratic nominee said, "I've been in the State a good many times before, but this is the first time I've been to Phoenix. I'm especially glad to be the guest of my old friend, the governor, and of your mayor, whom I find comes from the same county I do, back on the banks of the Hudson River."

Huge, Tightly-Packed Crowd.

Led by city and county motorcycle officers and the band of the 158th Infantry, Arizona National Guard, the parade wound through downtown streets and headed for the capitol. The sidewalks for the 25 or more blocks of the parade were lined with other thousands.

As the head of the procession reached the capitol, it found a scene of confusion.

So tightly did the crowd press across the lawns that no space was left in front of the building. Only with greatest difficulty were the motorcycle officers able to form a wedge through the throng to open the way.

At the capitol, Mr. Roosevelt again was introduced by Senator Hayden.

"My friends, I am glad to come back to Arizona," he said.

"I am glad to be received with this warm welcome, and glad to renew acquaintances with an old Washington friend, Senator Hayden.

"I don't know whether you or Arizona appreciate," he said, "the full debt all the other States owe to the fine, humanitarian spirit you show here. You welcome the visitor with open arms, and here give him greater health and greater opportunity. I am happy to know that spirit still pervades Arizona.

"This is the first time I have had the opportunity to visit the capital of your State, though I am well acquainted with the northern part, and have traveled through the southern. I only wish I could stay here longer and get better acquainted."

Bonus Demands Seen Hampering Recovery

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The "persistent demand" for further veterans' bonus legislation, says the Guaranty Trust Co. in its monthly survey of business conditions, "is unquestionably hampering business recovery, particularly in view of the continuing deficit indicated by the Treasury statements for the first two months of the fiscal year.

"With a certainty that requirements for unemployment relief will be very heavy throughout the winter, and with a distinct possibility that the coming session of Congress may be obliged to resort to further tax increases in order to balance the Federal budget, the continued agitation for immediate cash payment of the bonus is far from favorable in its effects on business confidence, insofar as the latter is related to the outlook for Government finances."

Thaw's Son to Pilot Poling on Dry Flight

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 25 (A.P.), An airplane piloted by Russell Thaw, son of Harry K. Thaw, of Philadelphia, will take off from here early tomorrow to carry Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the allied forces for prohibition, on a Nation-wide campaign for support of the prohibition law.

Thaw will pick up Dr. Poling in Concord, N. H., where the pair plan to have breakfast. They will go to Fort Wayne, Ind., for luncheon and have supper in Topeka, Kans. The plane has been named the Raymond Robins in honor of the man with whom Dr. Poling originally planned to make the tour, and who disappeared several weeks ago in Washington.

THOMAS RIDICULES BIG PARTIES' GOALS

Democrats Merely Want Office, G. O. P. Without Program, He Says.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Republican and Democratic parties were termed tonight by Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, "merely glass bottles with different labels and both of them empty of any medicine for the sickness of our times."

In an advance copy of a radio campaign address given out by his campaign manger, Thomas said of the Democrats:

"What the amiable Mr. Roosevelt and the Democrats want is hard to say, except that they want office.

"The real slogan of the Democracy was expressed by those senators who selected in a prize contest those thrilling words:

"'Hee haw, we're coming back!'

Desire for Office Paramount.

"Imagine a party in this tragedy which takes such a slogan.

"And yet what else is it but desire for office that united Democrats of the North, the South, the East and the West; the radical and the conservative; Barney Baruch and Burton K. Wheeler; Huey Long and Vincent Astor, and God knows how many other incompatibles besides.

"For the most part Mr. Roosevelt deals in pious hopes."

In commenting on the administration party, Thomas said:

"President Hoover and the Republicans at least have come to a point where they offer immense doles to business.

"Outside of Soviet Russia, no man has ever put so much Government in business as President Hoover. And all the while he talks rugged individualism and the American plan.

"But the purpose for which he puts Government in business is always for the sake of the business man in the hope that if the business man prospers, something may splash over to the farmer and to the worker.

"How unsatisfactory is this program, thinking first of the profitmaker, let these times attest.

"It is the degeneration of political action when we are asked to vote for parties with no more program," he continued. "When our attention is focused on one amendment—the eighteenth—and the purchase of beer when millions among us can scarcely buy bread. * * *

"We can not afford forever to go on throwing away our votes by voting for what we don't want and getting it, by voting our fears instead of our hopes, by trying to pick the winner rather than picking the thing we desire to win."

Thomas then turned to the Socialist program and platform.

"Those natural resources, which no man made," he said, "and those great aggregations of machinery now owned by absentee owners should be the possession of the great community of workers with brain and hand; * * * these essential tools for all of us should be managed for use and not for profit, under skilled leadership and not democratic principles.

Economic Plan Needed.

"We want economic plan in America, but economic plan requires a purpose. Nothing less than the purpose of the cooperative Commonwealth will avail. It requires also that we collectively should own the things for which we plan.

"It is this transfer of natural resources, the great means of production, the banking system, the public utilities, from private to public hands, which is the vital issue of our times. To that, of course, must be added the proper conduct of those industries."

Thomas declared that "with the right ideals" such industries could be properly managed under the system he outlined.

He devoted five minutes of his talk to voters in North Carolina in an effort to get enough signatures on petitions to place his name on the ballot there.

Cermak Heads Roosevelt Czechoslovakian Clubs

Oklahoma City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago was elected president of the National Association of Roosevelt Czechoslovakian Clubs of America at an organization meeting here today.

The announced purpose of the association is to "foster enthusiasm among Czechoslovakian folk of America who have the right of franchise to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for President."

Roosevelt's Ballot For 'T.R.' Disputed

Current Biography Asserts He Was Quoted as Being "For Bryan."

(Associated Press.)

Quoting Gov. Roosevelt as saying he "voted for T. R.," Joseph M. Dixon, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior, in a statement yesterday said a current biography of the Democratic presidential candidate describes him as saying he "stood for Bryan."

He added that the volume quotes the younger Roosevelt as making the statement to Harvard friends who inquired at the time of the McKinley-Roosevelt-Bryan campaign whether he was supporting his distant cousin and McKinley or the Democratic candidate.

Dixon was chairman of the Roosevelt Progressive national committee in 1912.

Capitalist System Declared at Crisis

British Economist Writes It Will Fall Unless Defects Are Cured.

New York, Sept. 25.—The capitalist system, Sir Arthur Salter, British economist, writes in the issue of Foreign Affairs out tomorrow, "has developed deep-seated defects which threaten its existence unless they can be cured."

He describes the present world economic situation as "the greatest challenge ever given to the constructive and collective intelligence of man."

The decisive choice before the world today, he writes, is between trying to build up world trade based on world order, or moving further toward a system of "closed units, each aiming to be self-sufficient." In this choice, he says, the tendency of the United States will be decisive.

Poland's Hangman Says He's World's Worst Paid

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 25 (U.P.). Poland's official executioner complained bitterly to the government today that he is the "worst paid hangman in the world."

Asking that his pay—$15 for each person executed—be increased, the executioner pointed out that he has become so destitute that the government seized his furniture Saturday and auctioned it off to meet delinquent taxes.

He explained that he has hanged only 80 persons so far in 1932 "and that doesn't constitute a living wage."

PINCHOT SUPPLIES DATA R. F. C. ASKED

Continues Attack on "Red Tape;" Calls Reports Only Guesses.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Continuing his attack on the "elaborate red tape" of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today furnished data requested by that body for 64 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties.

Gov. Pinchot, in a letter to Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the R. F. C., said the information is "necessarily and inevitably" incorrect. He described the data as "guesses, made up as best we can."

Data on Philadelphia, Allegheny and Northampton Counties supplied two weeks ago resulted in a loan last week of $2,500,000 to Pennsylvania for those counties. The R. F. C., in announcing this loan, said that a further loan to the State would be made when similar data was provided for the remaining counties.

2-Month Controversy.

The governor's controversy with the R. F. C. started two months ago when Pinchot applied for $45,000,000. He asked that $10,000,000 be given at once with the remaining $35,000,000 being supplied as needed.

The R. F. C. turned down Pinchot's plea on the grounds that the State had not done its full share nor exhausted its resources to help itself. Subsequently the Legislature in special session enacted a 1 per cent emergency sales tax act to provide from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 for State relief, and the governor then renewed his application for Federal aid.

In announcing the $2,500,000 tri-county loan for Pennsylvania, Chairman Pomerene issued a lengthy statement reviewing the controversy between Pinchot and the R. F. C. and asserting that Pinchot alone of all governors seeking loans had not complied with the board's request for detailed data.

Called Loan Inadequate.

Last Friday Pinchot, commenting on the loan, described it as a "totally inadequate advance."

Pinchot said his letter today was sent with the "express approval of the State emergency relief board."

The data supplied by the governor comprises figures for each month of 1931 and 1932 to date for each county, showing the number of families needing relief, the number of homeless persons, the amount of relief money spent from private and public funds and the estimated amount of work relief required for each month during the remainder of the year.

H. F. Hollis Sees Dry Law Failure

Man Who Voted for Statute in Senate Predicts Roosevelt Win.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Former United States Senator Henry French Hollis (Democrat), of New Hampshire, who voted for the prohibition amendment in 1919, but now says he is an authority on French wines, arrived today on his second visit to the United States in thirteen years.

He said he came from Paris with two convictions: That the eighteenth amendment is a failure and that Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the next President.

"I see nothing incompatible," he said, "between a belief in prohibition as the best system for the United States and the enjoyment of fine wines in France. I have now concluded, however, that prohibition will not work in our country as the laws stand at present. I believe that beer and wine should be permitted, but that the saloon and distilled spirits should remain outlawed. I consider good wine a wholesome tonic, and aid to digestion and a humanizing influence."

New York Aid Demands Increase of 300 Per Cent

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The number of persons cared for by public relief in New York State in July, 1932, was "at least 300 per cent over the total of the corresponding month in 1931," the State Temporary Emergency Relief Administration said in a statement today.

"The figures point conclusively to the fact that the first signs of better times cannot keep from the relief lists the huge numbers of unemployed who will not be reabsorbed into industry and business for months to come," said Harry L. Hopkins, chairman of the State organization.

TEMPORIZING VIEWS LAID TO ROOSEVELT

Henry J. Allen Intimates Nominee Isn't Proud of His New Friends.

(Associated Press.)

Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the Republican national committee, in a statement yesterday, quoted Gov. Roosevelt as saying he is proud of the enemies he has made and asked "why he didn't also express his pride in some of the friends he has made."

"For instance," said his statement, issued through the committee, "there is William Randolph Hearst, who on May 1 declared that 'all who are not in a position to appreciate Roosevelt's equipment declare his presidential boom is a fake; for the simple reason they know him for what he is not, rather than for what he is.'

"Why didn't he express his pride in the new friendship of William Gibbs McAdoo, who at that time agreed with Mr. Hearst, and of Jack Garner, who agreed with both of them? * * *

"Then there is that other choice group of new friends made up of Huey Long, Dill, Wheeler and Norris—the socialistic philosophers. * * *

"And there is the Wall street group of new friends, comprised of Baruch, Kennedy and other outstanding speculators, some of whom have accompanied the governor on his tour."

Economy League Flight To Be Headed by Byrd

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Admiral Richard Byrd and four aids will take off from Newark Airport Monday of next week for Baltimore, to start a tour on behalf of the National Economy League. Charles M. Mills, executive director of the league, will be a member of the party.

Admiral Byrd is national chairman of the league, which has a membership of between 750,000 and 1,000,000. Archibald B. Roosevelt is secretary, and the advisory council consists of Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith, Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker, John J. Pershing and William S. Sims. The league says its purpose is to "bring about Government economy by eliminating allowances to veterans not actually disabled in war service and preventing immediate payment of the bonus."

Roosevelt Has 60,404 Lead in Straw Ballot

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Arthur F. Mullen, Nebraska national committeeman and Roosevelt floor leader during the convention, announced today that a compilation of straw ballots reported to Democratic national committee during the past week gave the following:

Roosevelt, 188,869; Hoover, 128,465; Thomas, 447; scattered, 82.

4-CARRIER SYSTEM APPROVAL FORESEEN

Eastern Lines Decide Upon Final Plans as I. C. C. Support Is Seen.

(Associated Press.)

Twelve years of effort looking to efficiency in railroad operation through uniting the smaller and weaker lines with the larger yesterday appeared close to realization, with four carriers preparing petitions for approval of consolidation into four great Eastern systems.

That the Interstate Commerce Commission will approve the plans agreed upon in New York last week by the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate and the Baltimore & Ohio was said in official circles yesterday to be virtually certain. The commission already has given its approval to a line-up suggested last spring by the four systems, making only minor changes.

This plan did not altogether meet the approval of the railroad chiefs. The fifth Eastern system—the Wabash-Seaboard—was declared by railroad executives to be unfeasible.

Has Been Long Discussed.

The matter of consolidation has been under discussion ever since the roads went back to private operation after the war.

On December 30, 1930, President Hoover announced at the White House that at his suggestion chiefs of the great Eastern roads had agreed to a consolidation plan.

This plan, however, did not begin really to take shape until late in 1931. Long negotiations were carried on ironing out differences of opinion and tentative agreements were made regarding exchanging of railroads and trackage rights and other matters.

Economic conditions then became such that the question of income of the carriers was foremost.

Few Exceptions Made.

Finally, with the 15 per cent rate case disposed of, the carriers brought in their plan for four systems. The commission approved it with a few exceptions, the chief of which was denial to the Baltimore & Ohio of the Chicago, Indianapolis, and Louisville Railway, which is jointly owned by the Southern & Louisville and Nashville systems.

The consolidation plan as approved by the commission takes in all railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers. It takes in all railroads in Virginia except the North and South lines and even extends to the South Carolina State line with the Winston-Salem southbound divided between the Pennsylvania and Atlantic Coast Line systems. It extends into Tennessee and on the west to Kansas City, with the Baltimore & Ohio owning the Alton Railroad and the Pennsylvania getting the Wabash.

New England railroads are left out of the plan. The only penetration of the New England territory is by the New York Central which for years has held a lease on the Boston & Albany Railroad.

5 Held in Murder of Lottery King.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Murder charges were placed against five Negroes tonight for the killing of Arthur "Daddy" Black, Rhode Island's "lottery king," in a fruitless holdup in his home Saturday night. Black died of pistol wounds and his bodyguard, Larney Williams, was shot in one arm.

Trade Competition in Navy Yards Hit by Chamber Body

Established as Repair Shops, They Are Taking Most of Shipbuilding Contracts Away From Private Firms, Is Charge.

(Associated Press.)

The "manufacturing operations" of navy yards were attacked yesterday in a general assault on Government competition with private business by a United States Chamber of Commerce special committee.

Homer L. Ferguson, Newport News, Va., shipbuilder, was a member of the committee and Henry D. Sharpe, of Providence, R. I., its chairman.

Their review of the situation in navy yards said:

"Navy yards, originally intended with their dry docks and marine railways to provide for repairs of naval vessels, have been expanded with shops, ways and equipment until many of them are great industrial enterprises prepared to construct the largest and most complicated war vessels.

Huge Investment.

"The investment in the yards now exceeds $300,000,000. This industrialization has reached a point where appropriation bills for the naval establishment—properly the fleet—commonly provide that money can be expended under contracts with private American concerns only when an article can not be made, or the work done, in a navy yard or naval arsenal without appreciable increase in cost to the Government.

"There has been an increasing tendency in Congress, by reason of the extent of these Government-owned industrial plants, to require that naval vessels authorized for construction should be built in the yards. Of the 15 cruisers authorized in 1928, eight were designated for construction in navy yards. Of 9 submarines constructed, or placed in construction, since the war, 8 were given to the navy yards.

"Guns are made at a naval gun factory at Washington; torpedoes are made in a plant at Newport; smokeless powder is made at a plant on the Potomac which represents an outlay of $14,000,000 and has been operating at a labor cost in excess of $1,000,000 a year for production of 2,000,000 pounds of powder, when powder could be bought from private manufacturers at 53½ cents a pound. The undertaking of optical repairs has brought about equipment of an optical shop where production of binoculars has been started.

Articles Produced.

"Means for producing a great variety of incidental articles have been obtained and organized. Articles produced, that are readily obtainable from private sources near the producing yard, include:

"Anchor chain, rope, cans and drums, paint, varnish, polish, furniture, mattresses, hammocks, propellers, mess tables, lockers, Diesel engines, gasoline engines, fire extinguishers and valves.

"Bids are made by navy yards against private suppliers for articles which they can produce and which are needed by other Government agencies. In the fiscal year of 1931 the amount of work done for other parts of the Government was about $1,500,000 in value. As in the case when one Government agency bids to supply another, the bids of the navy yards are not comparable with a private concern's competitive bid, which is firm and which, if accepted, has to be guaranteed. The navy yard's bid is merely an estimate; if the costs are higher, it has the privilege of charging its costs, even though they exceed the bid of the private enterprise from which the work was taken.

"In 1928 the average number of civilians in the navy yards was 27,600. In 1932 the expenditures of the Navy for civilian employes of all kinds was about $78,000,000, of which $38,000,000 was for mechanics and $4,700,000 supervision of shop employes."

MISSOURI SPREADS NET FOR 2 CONVICTS

Auto in Which Fugitives Fled Prison Is Found in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A vain search was conducted here today for two escaped long-term Missouri Penitentiary convicts who deserted a prison motor car used in fleeing the institution after releasing a guard and a trusty chauffeur they kidnaped in their successful flight.

The automobile used by Dr. George Kowertz and Alvin Hetzer, the escaped convicts, was found abandoned on the south side a short time after the men released Homer Yancey, the guard, and Joe Szwabo, the convict chauffeur, this morning.

Yancey and Szwabo, taken to police headquarters, said Dr. Kowertz, who was assigned to the medical staff at the penitentiary, and Hetzer, his assistant, took command of the prison car about 3 miles east of Jefferson City. The quartet was driving to the intermediate reformatory at Algona, 8 miles southeast of Jefferson City, in answer to a summons for medical aid. Officials at the penitentiary have announced the call was faked.

Surgical Knives Put to Neck.

According to Yancey, Kowertz and Hetzer, who were riding in the back seat of the machine, presented sharp surgeons' scalpels to his neck and that of the chauffeur. Yancey was unarmed.

"Stop the car and throw your hands up, or I'll cut your head off," Yancey quoted Dr. Kowertz as threatening.

Then, according to the guard, he and Szwabo were forced into the back seat, where they were bound. During the night, he said, the car was driven as fast as 75 miles an hour over all kinds of roads. Once, he said, they passed through Springfield, Mo.

Dr. Kowertz was under a twenty-year sentence from Kansas City for the $900 robbery of a bank at Ballard, Mo.

Was Convicted Counterfeiter.

Previously he had served seven years in the Federal prison at Leavenworth for counterfeiting. He is a graduate of German universities.

Hetzer, his aide, was under a twenty-year sentence, also from Kansas City, for highway robbery.

The guard quoted the physician as saying, "I haven't long to live anyway." At the prison he was reported suffering from cancer. When they reported to police here Yancey and Szwabo each had five dollars, which they said Kowertz gave them for railroad fare back to Jefferson City.

8 Europeans Hurt By Blast in India

Bengali Girl Intellectual Is Slain as Terrorists Toss Bomb.

Calcutta, India, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Eight Europeans, including two British police officers, were wounded last night when Bengali terrorists tossed a bomb into the European Institute at Baratali.

A 20-year-old Bengali girl was found slain, presumably by a police fusillade which followed the bomb tossing.

The slain girl, whose bullet-pierced body was left behind by fleeing terrorists, was identified as Pritilata Waddedar, a young Indian intellectual and graduate of Bethune College in Calcutta. Her name came up recently in the investigation into the shooting of Capt. E. Cameron, of the Eighth Gurka Rifles, by terrorists June 14. Her picture was found at the scene of the Cameron slaying between pages of a book. She had been questioned but later disappeared.

JEALOUSY BLAMED IN DOUBLE KILLING

Louisiana Shooting Fatal to Two at Church Service; Child Wounded.

Leesville, La., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Vernon Parish authorities said today they believed a gun fight at a rural revival service near here last night in which two men were killed and a sleeping child was wounded was caused by long standing jealousy between two farm youths over a mutual sweetheart.

Lee Johnson, 20, and Jesse Perkins, 22, both farmers, were shot and killed as the shooting, starting outside the church door, was carried into the church where preaching was in progress. The 8-year-old son of Douglas Carroll, another farmer, sleeping in a rear pew, was struck in the head by a bullet, but is expected to recover.

Several other members of the congregation were bruised in the rush for the exits.

Suspect Is Held.

An hour after the shooting Everett Wisby, 25, surrendered to Sheriff D. F. Turner, who quoted him as saying he shot Johnson and Perkins in self-defense. Bystanders reported the three met outside the revival service and quarreled. Sheriff Turner said Wisby and Johnson had been at odds because of attentions paid to the same girl.

A coroner's jury today viewed the bodies of the two victims and then went to Cravens, a community about 25 miles southeast of Leesville, where the families of Perkins and Wisby reside.

Authorities also were working on the theory the slayings may have been an outbreak of a neighborhood feud which officers said had existed between certain clans of the Whiskachitta community where the church is situated, for 30 years.

Relatives of both Johnson and Wisby have been arrested at one time or another as suspects in at least four slayings which have occurred in the two families, Deputy Sheriff H. L. Barrington said. The affray Saturday increased to six the number of members of the families who have died by gunfire in the past few years.

Claims Self-Defense.

Sheriff Turner disclosed that several months ago Wisby filed with his department two warrants charging Johnson and several of his friends with assault.

Wisby in his jail cell tonight said he was outside the church near the door when Johnson and Perkins approached him in a "hostile manner." Seeing that both were armed, he said, and believing they were prepared to attack him, he fired.

Johnson was felled at the doorsteps and died immediately. Perkins received one shot in the chest and ran inside the church and down the aisle toward the pulpit. Witnesses said he staggered to the front row of seats and fell to the floor when additional shots were fired at him.

Most of the congregation scattered.

Gen. MacArthur in Turkey.

Istanbul, Turkey, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, American Army chief of staff, was greeted with high honors on his arrival today from Roumania. Tonight the general was expected to depart for Angora, the capital.

16 BALLOONS START BENNETT CUP RACE

All, Taking Off in Stormy Weather at Basel, Go Away From Alps.

Basel, Switzerland, Sept. 25 (A.P.). Sixteen balloons, representing eight nations, including the United States, were released in stormy weather today to begin the Gordon Bennett Balloon Cup Race.

A strong north wind carried them away from the Alps, some heading toward Belgium.

W. T. Van Orman, seeking his third straight victory in the Goodyear 8, was the thirteenth to take off. The U. S. Navy bag, which won the American national balloon race last year, immediately preceded the Van Orman balloon in the air. Both were flying the Stars and Stripes.

R. J. Blair accompanied Van Orman. Lieut. Comdr. E. G. W. Settle and Wilfred Bushnell were in the Navy bag.

Germans Are Off First.

The German entry, Deutchsland, was the first balloon released, followed by L'Adventure, a French balloon. Germany, France and Switzerland had three entries each, Poland two, and Spain, Austria and Belgium, one each.

Ernest Demuyter, who is considered Van Orman's greatest rival, was in the air a quarter of an hour before the American in the Belgian balloon, Belgica.

All balloons were carrying mail to be posted at the nearest points possible to wherever they land. Pilots will be advised of weather conditions by radio.

List of Other Entries.

Other entries and personnel follow:

Germany—Barmen, Otto Bertram, Alexander Dahl; Stadt Essen, Ferdinand Eiermacher, Dr. Hugo Kaulen; Deutschland, Erick Leimkugel, Richard Schutze.

France—Lafayette, Georges Blanchet; L'Aventure, Marius Marquant, Georges Renollaud; Petit Mousse, Georges Ravaine, M. Speias.

Austria—Ernest Brandenburg, Capt. Baron de Etthofen, Lieut. Col. F. Mannsbarth.

Poland—Polonia, Fomaski Wladislaw, Janusz Antoni; Gdynia, Hynek Franciszek, Burzynski Zbignien.

Switzerland—Zurich, Lieut. Col. Valo Gerber, Dr. Erick Tilgencamp; Victor de Beauclair, Capt. Huber, Lieut. Lochinger; Basel, Dr. A. Van Baerla, Dr. E. Dietschi.

Spain—14 De Abril, Capt. Antonio Nunez, Lieut. Francisco Carrasco.

Second Arrested In Slaying of Dry

Minnesota Woods Searched for Third; Suspects Deny Complicity.

Tamarack, Minn., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A second suspect was arrested for questioning and the North Woods was searched for a third man by Federal and county officers today in their investigation of the killing of James G. Harney, Federal prohibition agent found shot to death near here yesterday.

Emil Giving, 28, was taken into custody by a deputy sheriff and two Federal agents when he returned to his cabin at 2 a. m. today. He offered no resistance, and was taken to the county jail at Aitken, where Gust Hedstrom, 36, also was held.

Both denied any connection with the killing of Harney, who was a brother of M. L. Harney, district prohibition administrator at Chicago and who had been one of a party of Federal agents raiding a still at the Harry Hedstrom farm near Tamarack, brother of Gust. Harry Hedstrom was being sought.

Yancey Claims Record For Autogiro Altitude

Boston, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, Transatlantic flier, floated down at the East Boston Airport today with what he claimed was a new altitude for autogiros—21,500 feet.

Holder of the present record of 19,200 feet himself, Yancey said his machine went more than 2,000 feet higher. The new mark was not official, however, because he used a barograph not officially approved. He was aloft an hour and 50 minutes.

CLARKSBURG GREETS LEGION'S NEW HEAD

Home Folks Wildly Acclaim Johnson, Who Pledges Best Endeavor.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.). Louis A. (Louie) Johnson, the big, jovial, newly elected leader of the American Legion, was welcomed back home amid the plaudits of his fellow townsmen today. Old-time residents said that not within their memory has Clarksburg ever accorded such an ovation.

Responding to glowing speeches of welcome at a public meeting, the national commander, deeply moved, his voice choking with emotion, recalled friendships formed since he came to this city—twenty years ago to the day—a young graduate from the law school of the University of Virginia.

In his address, Mr. Johnson referred to the legion preamble, "for God and country," and declared that in the year before him his people here at home and the million comrades in the legion ranks could depend on him "to go down the line with you, for God and country."

"I would rather die in the effort," he said, "than fail those who have placed their trust in me."

Clarksburg paraded and cheered. Arriving by automobile from Pittsburgh, Johnson was given a place at the head of the parade and rode for an hour through cheering lanes of fellow citizens.

The chief welcoming address was made by Gov. William G. Conley. James F. Barton, national adjutant, of Indianapolis, concluded a tribute with "God bless you, Louis; carry on."

From the Virginia department, Commander M. E. Bristow read a message from Gov. John Garland Pollard, and George Henderson, of Cumberland, Maryland department commander, added his tribute. Milton Campbell, of Cincinnati, spoke for the Ohio department.

Seaman to Try Ocean Trip Alone.

Gijon, Spain, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A lone Norwegian, Alf Hansen, arrived here today in his yacht Mari James, from Weymouth, seeking shelter from a stormy sea. Accompanied by a dog and cat, his mascots, he expects to sail shortly for New York via Lisbon and the Canary Islands, hoping to break the record for lone Atlantic crossings.

HIGHER PRICE DRIVE CENTERED ON MILK

Producers Are Withholding Supplies in Several Large Cities.

(Associated Press.)

Farmers' efforts to withhold the morning milk bottle from doorsteps of several large cities today had become the outstanding activity in agriculture's drive for higher prices.

At Macon, Ga., protection of a temporary Federal court injunction was obtained by milk distributors restraining members of the Georgia Milk Producers Federation, Inc., from interfering by violence with shipments of milk to Atlanta.

A milk holiday was decided upon Thursday by the produce confederation as a means to obtain higher prices, but the organization's officials disclaimed any connection with picketing of roads and dumping of milk shipments near there. The order was made returnable at Macon Friday by Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver, at Atlanta.

Other Milk Holidays.

Milk holidays were also in effect in Michigan and Ohio communities. At Toledo Saturday detectives found listening equipment had been wired to the headquarters of the Northwestern Cooperative Sales Co., which represents farmers in twelve Ohio and two Michigan counties. The Farmers Producers Association at Toledo and its officers were enjoined earlier last week from picketing in their endeavor to compel higher prices from dairy companies.

Roland Sharpe, secretary of the emergency committee of the milk shed, which pours thousands of gallons into the metropolitan area daily, said there was danger of further strikes in several places unless quotations were raised to 5 cents a quart for farmers.

Chicago Plan.

In the Chicago area another side of the picture was presented through cooperative ownership of milk plants by dairymen to achieve increased returns by elimination of middlemen's profits. Nearly half a dozen such plants were in operation with the latest starting last week in Racine County, Wis. About 100 farmers joined in the Burlington, Wis., cooperative milk plant to cut production costs by cooling and weighing their own milk.

The Burlington dairymen acted in the face of dwindling profits. Within twenty days after their decision the machinery was installed and the plant ready for operation. The plant cost approximately $30,000 and the dairymen expect it to be paid for within fifteen months from fees which previously went to privately owned plants. The milk is shipped to the Chicago market.

Steamer Waits Hour For Walker at Naples

Naples, Italy, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—James J. Walker, who kept many notables waiting by being late for appointments when he was Mayor of New York, held up an ocean liner today.

The steamship President Pierce was two hours late in sailing for Genoa, but the tardiness of Private Citizen Walker was only partly to blame. After the boat was held up one hour for him it was found the prow was stuck in mud, and it took another hour to release the ship.

7 Death Sentences Denied by Albania

Legation Says Agitators Were Given 15-Year Prison Terms.

(Associated Press.)

The Albanian Legation issued a statement yesterday which it said was to "correct an erroneous report emanating from certain anti-Albanian sources with regard to the recent trial in Tirana of 80 professional agitators and adventurers charged with subversive activities."

The legation said "some American newspapers carried the announcement that the death sentence had been pronounced against seven of the conspirators" and asserted it was authorized by the Albanian government to deny this report.

"No sentence of death was passed on any of the accused," said the statement, which added that "in many countries today the offense of which they were charged and found guilty entails the capital penalty." Instead, it said, the Albanian court provided 15 years imprisonment for the chief conspirators.

Ohio Manufacturer Dies in Auto Crash

Zanesville, Ohio, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Harry A. Weller, 53, president of the S. A. Weller Pottery Co. here, died today, the second victim of an automobile accident Friday.

Roy Montgomery, loan company executive, died a short time after the accident, in which Harry O. Worstall, 43, and A. L. Gable were hurt.

The company Weller headed is one of the largest pottery concerns in the country.

July's Relief Total Falls Under June's

125 Cities Report They Spent $21,760,238; Rise From 1931.

(Associated Press.)

Relief expenditures in 125 cities during July were reported yesterday by the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department at $21,760,238, a decline of 4 per cent from the June total, but an increase of 87 per cent over July, 1931.

The bureau's figures came from 976 agencies, the report said, adding that the total approximated the amount spent in December, 1931.

"Growing dependence upon the county as a financing and administrative unit for relief is reflected in reports showing six times as much expended for relief by county departments this year as compared with July a year ago," the report said.

Father Works for Peace As Son Fights in Chaco

(Associated Press.)

While Dr. Juan Jose Soler toils vigilantly here as Paraguay's representative to settle the Chaco dispute, his son, Carlos, is on duty as an army officer in the contested territory.

Mrs. Soler, who recently returned to Paraguay with one of their two daughters, arrived just in time to see her son off from a frontier town to the scene of the hostilities between her country and Bolivia. Carlos, a young lawyer, is a lieutenant in the army.

Pennsylvania's Jobless Figure Falls by 2,714

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Pennsylvania department of labor and industry today announced a decrease of 2,714 in the unemployment figures for the State during August. In July the department estimated the unemployment total at 1,267,606 and for August at 1,264,892.

The decrease in unemployment resulted from increased activity in the textile, clothing, food and leather industries of the manufacturing group, in the anthracite mining field, road construction and quarrying industries last month, the announcement said.

Cuban Fliers En Route Here Tarry in Dayton

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Three Cuban aviators, making a good-will tour of the United States on behalf of their government, rested here today preparatory to their take-off early tomorrow for Washington. The fliers, Capt. Mario Torres, flight commander; Lieut. Rudolpho Herrera and Lieut. Pablo Alonso, spent the day as guests of officers at Wright Field. They inspected air fields in this vicinity and were tendered a reception by Wright Field officers.

The fliers entered the United States last Tuesday, and since then have visited air stations at San Antonio, St. Louis, Kansas City, Tulsa, Cincinnati and Dayton. They flew here yesterday from St. Louis, stopping off for a brief visit in Cincinnati.

Theater Workers Agree On Reduced Pay Scale

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—After negotiations all summer, the Theatrical Protective Union and managers of legitimate theaters agreed today upon a new wage scale imposing reductions ranging from 7 to 15 per cent on all stage hands in the city.

The managers had sought a 33 1-3 per cent cut.

Prisoners March Out As Guardhouse Burns

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Ten prisoners were marched to safety as flames broke through the roof of the three-story guardhouse at the U. S. Army barracks here tonight.

The interior of the building was destroyed, but the brick walls remained standing. Homes of officers nearby were saved when the barracks fire department called on the Plattsburg Fire Department for aid. The loss was $10,000. The fire was believed to have started from defective wiring.

Man Trying to Rescue Brother-in-Law Drowns

Waynesboro, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Howard G. Kugler, 39, drowned today in a vain attempt to rescue his brother-in-law, Donald McIntyre, 21, from the Waynesboro Reservoir.

The men, picnicking with their families, were walking around the reservoir rim. McIntyre slipped and fell in. Kugler, knowing his brother-in-law could not swim, jumped in to save him, but McIntyre struggled frantically and both sank in 12 feet of water. Firemen recovered the bodies.

HERRIOT SEES REICH AS COVETING POWER

His Speech Attacking Plea for Arms Equality Is Scored in Berlin.

Gramat, France, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Herriot declared in a public address today that military experts of unquestionable authority insist Germany is seeking sufficient military strength to defeat "with one thrust the designated adversary."

The premier, whose speech outlined the French conception of disarmament with security, did not name the "adversary." He said the military authorities were trying "to convince us" of the truth of their opinion and then put the question to his audience in these words:

"In the same way that, formerly, Prussia took advantage of conditions imposed on her to build a redoubtable army of an absolutely new type, is not German military genius today searching to create an army * * * with the intention of striking to the heart with one decisive thrust the designated adversary * * * for whom national defense is but one form of patriotism?"

On Way to Geneva.

The premier stopped here on his way to Geneva, where the League of Nations assembly meets tomorrow.

(The premier was quoted in Paris a few days ago as saying he was studying the expediency of presenting to the disarmament conference a large file of reports on alleged clandestine German armaments. It was revealed that the French government was considering a plan to ask for an international investigation into German armaments after Germany's demand for equality in arms and its withdrawal from the disarmament conference.)

M. Herriot admitted the former World War allies engaged themselves, under terms of the Versailles treaty, to disarm, as the German arms equality note pointed out, and he pledged French execution of this provision.

But, he added, "this disarmament which we desire as much as anyone, we want through security."

He enumerated what he termed French disarmaments gestures and sacrifices, such as the quitting of the Rhineland occupation before the time limit and reductions in reparations, for which he said "no one was grateful."

The premier lauded Secretary of State Stimson's "historic" address last month, which, he said, "showed the United States was attached to the defense of the Briand-Kellogg peace pact." He praised the "generous appeal of President Hoover" for disarmament, and said France stands for total elimination of force in international conflicts.

Attacked in Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Premier Herriot's discussion of German armaments in a speech in France today was attacked by a government spokesman as containing "such a lot of monstrosities" that it "can not be accepted without reply."

He described the speech as "nothing but oratorical and juridical subtleties."

The general feeling in Berlin was that the French premier's statements were contrary to facts. It was denied, in behalf of the government, that Germany was seeking to increase its armaments.

"Germany would accept and welcome any disarmament measure or prohibition of any weapon," the spokesman said.

The premier's mention of new peace measures met general approval and it was said for the government this was "perhaps the only positive thought" he expressed which might "result in reasonable and just regulations."

Glassford Calls on 77th To Enlist in War on Slump

Tells A. E. F. Comrades at New York Dinner They Would Have Acted as He Did in Handling Bonus Army Here.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police in Washington, D. C., tonight challenged the veterans of the Seventy-seventh Division to enlist in a war against depression.

"As the senior officer present at this gathering," he said at a reunion in the Hotel Roosevelt, "I call upon you to fight this war against human misery and want, not with arms of destruction, but with arms of helpfulness."

Gen. Glassford, who commanded the Fifty-second Field Artillery Brigade of the division in France, in the course of a brief address winding up a three-day celebration referred only once to his difficulty with the bonus expeditionary force in Washington—and then half in jest.

"The bonus army happened to come down my alley," he said. "It was entirely accidental. I wasn't waiting for it, I assure you.

"I will say, however, that I don't think there was anything I did in Washington that you men wouldn't have done in my place. I have received words of praise from many service men for my handling of the situation."

His words were greeted with applause.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, Pa., who took care of the B. E. F. for a few days after it was evicted from the Capital, was present as a guest and was given a rising ovation.

Mrs. Corrine Roosevelt Robinson, sister of Theodore Roosevelt, recalled an incident in which the former President came to her after America had declared war on Germany and expressed an ardent desire to lead a division to France in precedence to the movement of the main army.

"Why won't they let me take a division across?" she remembered his saying. "I know I can't last. My Brazilian trip has made me a sick man. I know I will crack soon. No one need be jealous. I can't do much, but I know I can arouse enthusiasm for the cause."

BARCELONA WILDLY ACCLAIMS PREMIER

1,000,000 Greet Azana and Statute Giving Catalonia Autonomy.

Barcelona, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—More than a million persons took part today in a wild demonstration marking the arrival of Premier Manuel Azana, of Spain, and the formal presentation of the recently enacted statute making Catalonia an autonomous state. Several persons were injured. The statute was delivered to Col. Francisco Macia, president of Catalonia.

Premier Azana declared the government had not granted Catalonia autonomy for "any reason of politics," but because it was a fundamental doctrine of the Spanish republic that all regions should have autonomous rights. His speech, made at the presidential palace, was transmitted throughout the city by loud speakers.

Spain and Catalonia are united so strongly, he said, "that attacking one is attacking the other." He called Catalonians "the rod and bone of the republic."

President Macia said he was glad to express his appreciation of the harmonious granting of the statute because "no human power could have stopped the Catalonian will for these rights."

From the time his special train from Madrid entered Catalonia, the premier was the recipient of tremendous ovations in every town passed through. Even on highways and cross-roads people gathered to greet the train. Nearly all the streets of Barcelona were decorated with flags and bunting.

The premier was protected from crowds by double lines of assault guards with their hands interlocked. Picked civil guards were stationed a few hundred yards apart along the line of the parade through the city.

PARAGUAYAN CANNON BOMBARD BOQUERON

Bolivian Machine Gun Fire Repels Attackers; Forts' Capture Denied.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Sept. 25 (U.P.).—Paraguayan forces continued today to bombard Fort Boqueron in the Gran Chaco, where Bolivian troops are besieged, a government communique said.

Artillery in the Boqueron sector had been quiet for the last two days, but the Paraguayans renewed their assault this morning. Paraguayan attacks have been repelled by Bolivian machine gun fire.

The war department said Paraguayan troops had captured a large quantity of machine guns and mortars.

The Paraguayan reply to a new note from neutral nations is to be made public tomorrow, it was understood.

La Paz, Bolivia, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The army general staff today published a denial of a Paraguayan report that Paraguayan troops had captured Forts Falcon and Rojas Silva.

It was added that Bolivians had repulsed an attack on Fort Vinfuque by the Paraguayan legion, "Macheteros of Death," constituted of men of advanced age, a fact which "indicated the desperate efforts of the Paraguayans."

New Ukrainian Church Bishop Is Consecrated

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Right Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Zuk today was consecrated presiding bishop of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of North America and titular Bishop of New York City in an impressive ritualistic ceremony.

The participation of Archbishop Aftimios, presiding Bishop of the Holy Eastern Orthodox Church in America, was regarded by many present as indicative of a further drift away from the Catholic ritual toward the orthodox ritual and of the development of an American Ukrainian Church.

The United States has already made three treaties in an effort to establish legally the ownership of the thousands of islands in the Philippine Archipelago. A treaty with Spain in 1898 established a dividing line between Borneo and the American possessions. Another treaty two years later took in a number of islands which had been overlooked and provided that all those 3 miles off the Borneo coast were American. But nobody could locate this line because of the extreme irregularity of the coast.

Consequently an agreement was made with Great Britain in 1930 fixing a definite straight line in the Sulu Sea between American and British territory.

The Turtle Islands are 600 miles south of Manila and about 300 miles east of the Island of Mindanao. In all Uncle Sam has managed to count 7,083 islands acquired from Spain. More than 1,000 of these are strung in a north and south line and only 462 have an area of one square mile or more. Less than 2,500 have names. Luzon, the largest of the islands contains 40,814 square miles, and the second, Mindanao, has an area of 36,906 square miles.

Youth Tries Second Time To Stow Away on Graf

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The lure of transatlantic flying today beckoned Maryan Wecelowski, a 17-year-old Polish lad, for the second time this year, and he was caught trying to stow away aboard the Graf Zeppelin.

He was sentenced to fourteen days in jail on his first attempt in June. Today he was hauled out of his hiding place and given to the police again. The Graf is scheduled to start on another of her regular trips to Brazil tomorrow, with Dr. Hugo Eckener commanding.

LIBERALS MAY QUIT M'DONALD'S CABINET

Sir John Simon Is Likely to Remain; Ottawa Pacts Are Blamed.

London, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—It was virtually taken for granted here tonight that most of the Liberal members of the national cabinet will resign on Wednesday when the government opens its discussion of the recently concluded trade agreements at Ottawa.

Despite this, conservative colleagues were making efforts to induce the Liberals, under the leadership of Sir Herbert Samuel, the home secretary, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary for Scotland, to remain at their posts.

The Liberals probably will take with them, however, Lord Snowden, Lord Privy Seal, the former chancellor of the exchequer, who has consistently fought for free trade.

There is no danger, it was understood, that Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, and his small Liberal group, will bolt.

The Liberals have criticized the Ottawa pact as committing the government to too drastic a tariff policy, and if the ministers resign, vigorous criticism of the treaties signed between the United Kingdom and the dominions to increase empire trade in all probability will follow.

Too, the complexion of the national government will change, but Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is expected to weather the storm because of the heavy straight Conservative majority in the House of Commons. This majority is said to favor the agreements themselves.

Train Kills Doctor And Nurse.

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Returning from a farm home where they had just attended the birth of an infant, Dr. Jasper Grimes, 59, of Beaumont, and Mrs. Hazel Lee Berry, 26, a nurse, were killed in a collision of their motor car with a train today. A Southern Pacific passenger train struck their sedan at Connell's crossing.

BIG PROBLEMS OUT OF LEAGUE AGENDA

Assembly Will Meet Today, Ignoring Arms, Slump and Manchuria.

Geneva, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Three of the most important questions before the world today—disarmament, the Manchurian issue and the economic depression—are excluded from deliberations of the League of Nations assembly which begins its thirteenth annual session tomorrow.

With these three outstanding issues to be dealt with by other international bodies, leaders hope the assembly's session will be unusually short.

The disarmament problem, including German demands for equality, now is in the hands of the disarmament conference which is broader in participating membership than the assembly. The Manchurian question will be held in abeyance until the league council meets November 14 to consider reports of the league commission and other written reports dealing with the Sino-Japanese conflict.

The economic problem has been referred to a world economic conference which, also broader in prospective membership than the assembly, already has organizing committees at work.

It is planned to eliminate general discussion of issues by the assembly which usually requires weeks.

The opening address by Eamon De Valera, Irish Free State President, who is temporary chairman, and the election of the president and other officers of the assembly will occupy the morning sitting tomorrow. Nicholas Politis, Greek delegate, was regarded by many members as the leading candidate for the presidency.

The league council and disarmament conference steering committee will continue to hold meetings during intervals between assembly sessions.

Results of French Bond Conversion Plan Bared

Paris, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Louis Germain-Martin, finance minister, today announced only 2½ per cent, about 2,000,000,000 francs or $80,000,000 of the 85,000,000,000 franc bond conversion had been paid in cash. (A total of $3,400,000,000 was involved. He said one reason given by those bondholders demanding cash was the "fear of an imminent war."

The plan was to convert $3,400,000,000 in bonds from a high-interest-bearing series of issues, to others bearing reduced interest, and has been hailed as a great success.

INDIA OFFICE SPEEDS COMPROMISE STUDY

communal awards by the British government in general.

Mr. MacDonald has previously urged the Indian communities to agree among themselves on any possible changes before the awards passed into law.

Mr. Gandhi's efforts were officially looked upon here as purely domestic and religious. His triumphs were seen as a victory, not over British rule, but over the Indians themselves who opposed the Nationalist leader, and it was on this ground that a spokesman based a prediction there would be no obstacle to British agreement.

The question Mr. MacDonald was considering was, whether the plan submitted by the untouchables and the caste Hindus was practicable; whether it really met requirements of those concerned and whether it committed the government to anything outside the range of the communal awards.

It was pointed out that two provisions actually go beyond these awards, these pertaining to details of the franchise and the question of representation in the central legislature. Neither of these was included in the government decision of last month.

It was believed here that Mr. Gandhi would not refuse to break his fast for the sake of these two points, because, presumably, he was not immediately concerned about them.

One Killed as Cologne Reds Riot.

Cologne, Germany, Sept 25 (A.P.).—The police tonight waded through a shower of flower pots, stones and bottles to disperse a Communist demonstration and the toll of the melee was one dead and one injured among the Communists. Two patrolmen and one Nazi were hurt and twenty arrests were made.

but he took pinches of soda as he drank frequently.

The little leader noted with keen interest the expert craft of an attendant who massaged him to stimulate the circulation of blood, but the masseur was no longer able to produce the fresh appearance that he had Saturday after the tiresome negotiations.

At midnight tonight the mahatma will have passed his 132d hour of fasting, and his increasing weakness during the evening hours was easily apparent.

There was a touching scene when Mrs. Motilal Nehru, widow of the National Congress leader, visited Gandhi. She burst into tears on perceiving his emaciation, but Gandhi slowly pointed to a seat beside him, and tried his best to comfort her.

Bombay, Sept. 25 (U.P.).—The caste leaders held another conference here today and confirmed the settlement plan which Gandhi has stamped with his approval. The leaders adopted a resolution asking that the government take immediate action in order to save the Nationalist leader's life. They said that henceforth "untouchables" will be given their full rights, will be permitted to enter all temples, schools and other public places.

The Hindu "untouchable" has, in the past, been held in such low esteem that his very shadow is considered polluting by the higher caste Brahmins—the caste which monopolizes the priesthood and gives religious sanction to its high station.

The social degradation of the "untouchables" is so severe in some sections that the depressed classes themselves consider their state as just and will not even take food without sipping water into which a Brahmin has dipped his big toe.

A Brahmin doctor, when treating an "untouchable," will not feel his patient's pulse without first wrapping cloth around the wrist so as not to touch the skin.

JAPANESE-SOVIET RELATIONS CLOSER

Important Inferences Drawn Following Big Oil Deal Between Nations.

Moscow, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A large slice of the refined oil market in Japan, which heretofore has been shared almost wholly by American Standard and British Shell interests, has been captured by Soviet Russia, and important inferences were officially drawn from this development today.

One was that the deal for "more than 200,000 tons of refined oil will have an important economic effect on the development of Russo-Japanese relations."

(Tokyo dispatches Saturday said Japan expected "some form of recognition" of the newly created Manchurian state of Manchukuo, which lies next to Russia along the Siberian border, in the near future.)

A brief official announcement yesterday that a contract had been signed between the Soviet Union oil export department and Kodjiro Matsukato of the Japanese private oil importing company of that name, was supplemented in the press today.

5-Year Contract.

Newspapers hailed the deal as the first big sale of Soviet refined oil on the Japanese market, although crude petroleum had been sold there for some time.

It is now revealed that the contract covers the five-year periods beginning in 1933, but the price involved in the transaction was not given.

"Japan imports 300,000 tons of refined oil annually," said K. Riadoval, president of Soyuz Oil Export. "Most of this heretofore has been sold by the Standard and Shell interests, but Soviet refined oil will appear there beginning with 1933. This is of great importance as a stimulus to trade between Soviet Russia and Japan, and doubtless will have an important economic effect on the development of Russo-Japanese relations."

French and Canadian Deals.

Soviet Russia recently concluded an agreement with France for the sale of 10,000,000 tons of oil products during the next five years in France.

The French and Japanese oil deals were supplemented by one in Canada all within the single month of September.

The Aluminum Co. of Canada recently agreed to trade $1,000,000 worth of aluminum for an unstated amount of Soviet oil. The crude product will be refined in Canada and put on the market by a Canadian company. The surplus proceeds will be turned over to the Soviet government toward the purchase of the aluminum.

U. S.-CHINESE WHEAT SALE PLANS STUDIED quarter that the proposed sale might amount to 15,000,000 bushels or more.

It was learned authoritatively that there was discussion of a possible loan of $8,000,000 of Reconstruction Corporation funds, either directly to China or, possibly, to the Farmers National Grain Corporation, to finance the export of the wheat.

Reconstruction Corporation officials said they knew of no direct application for such a sum, either from China or the grain corporation, and no decision on this point was reached at the White House parley.

The Reconstruction Corporation is empowered to make loans to facilitate the export of surplus agricultural commodities, provided such export does not unbalance the world market, but authorities said yesterday there was a legal question still to be decided as to whether the corporation could lend directly to a foreign country.

Those present with the Chief Executive during the discussion in the Lincoln study of the White House were Secretary Hyde; C. B. Denman and Charles S. Wilson, members of the Farm Board; Chairman Atlee Pomerene of the Reconstruction Corporation, and Jesse Jones, Gardner Cowles, Wilson McCarthy and Harvey Couch, all directors of the corporation. Chairman Stone, of the Farm Board, who has been ill for several days, was not present.

It was said after the conference that the proposed sale would involve wheat now held by growers in the Northwest. The grain producers in that section, it was explained, have suffered some distress because of the cost of shipping their product to the East or Midwest for sale.

George Milnor, manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, has been attempting to arrange the sale to China, but it was said yesterday that no final arrangements had been made.

More than a year ago the Farm Board sold approximately 15,000,000 bushels of its stabilization wheat to China.

At the White House, it was said no announcement could be made concerning yesterday's conference.

Frederick County Man Held as Beer Dispenser

Winchester, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—E. L. House, of near Stephenson, Frederick County, was under $2,000 bond today awaiting trial on a prohibition charge.

County and Federal officers who arrested him last night said one room in his home had been converted into a bar from which was dispensed beer. Persons who were seated at tables when the officers entered hurriedly scrambled toward the doors and windows.

Missing Boy, 15, Sought.

Local police have been asked to look out for Gordon Johnston, 15, who was said by his father to have run away from his home in Pittsburgh, Pa., and to be on the way to Washington.

Why we are increasing our factory pay-rolls 50%

We hope these reasons will appeal to many other manufacturers . . . the action of a few can do but little . . . concerted action can do much

By James H. Rand, Jr., President
Remington Rand Inc.

FROM time to time in the past few weeks, the press has announced the re-opening of many plants to fill immediate rush orders. This has started an upward trend. But a greater and faster impetus is now within our power.

For the past two years, the world has existed largely upon its inventory. Today there is an actual shortage of finished goods in many lines. Recent statements of leading companies show that inventories are at the lowest point in 10 years.

This shortage goes all the way from the manufacturer, through the wholesaler and retailer . . . even into the home.

Most merchants will not purchase ahead so long as their customers do not have jobs or money with which to buy. Two years of idleness have sapped the savings of the workers. Before they can buy again, they must first earn money. That money must come from pay-envelopes.

Business leaders everywhere have been encouraged by the action of the United States Steel, American Radiator, Sherwin-Williams and hundreds of other corporations which have announced large purchases of materials and equipment in advance of production.

We believe the next important step should be joint action by leading industries to boost their employment and pay-rolls for at least sixty days. Acting on our belief, we have called back thousands of our own employees.

We have this month increased our factory pay-rolls by more than 50%.

By October 1st, eight of our major plants will be working four days a week. Although our output will be greater than our increasing sales, we intend to keep going, in the belief that a larger inventory of finished goods is a sound investment in the light of present facts.

The time has arrived for concerted action by all manufacturers. The resources and credit are available to re-open plants. The uptrend must be turned into a solid revival before winter comes. Since this can be achieved only through nation-wide action, we make this suggestion—

That every Chamber of Commerce in the United States immediately mobilize its member-manufacturers to the end that they will re-open their factories and will increase their plant activities for at least sixty days to build up new inventories of finished goods, with the knowledge that their own sales will respond to such a nation-wide increase in pay-rolls and buying power.

MATERIAL SECURITY AND MORALS LINKED

Story of Jesus' Decision in Question of Coin Is Theme of Rev. F. S. Niles.

"There can be no permanent material security apart from moral and religious security," said the Rev. Frank S. Niles, speaking yesterday morning at the Georgetown Presbyterian Church. The theme of the sermon was "Whose Image and Superscription?"

Mr. Niles went on to say: "It was the last week in the life of Jesus. The Saducees and Pharisees, sworn enemies of each other along religious lines, now united in a common hostility to Jesus. Pharisees and Herodians, enemies along political lines, forgot their politics for a while in their mutual desire for the destruction of the Master. In the face of this combined attack of liberalism and orthodoxy, of religion and politics, Jesus stood calm and serene and came off victorious in every encounter.

"'Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar?' they asked Him. If Jesus should say, 'Give tribute to Caesar,' He would become about as popular with the common people as was Benedict Arnold with the Americans during the latter part of the Revolutionary War. If he should say, 'Do not give tribute to Caesar,' then there were the Herodians who would be glad to testify in court that He was a dangerous revolutionist.

Had Right to Question.

"Yet they had a perfect right to ask this question. Any Messiah must consider the question of taxation. If a man is to be a leader of the nation, the nation has a perfect right to demand the attitude of that leader on questions of national importance. But Jesus said 'Bring me a coin.' And He asked them, 'Whose is this image and superscription?' And they answered 'Caesar's.' And Jesus came back quick as a flash: 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and render unto God the things that are God's.' He lifted the whole question of government from a material to a spiritual basis, and put the responsibility for decision clearly up to them.

"The coin was made in the image of Caesar, but their immortal souls were made in the image of God. Here were young men made in the image of God, but soiled in the service of Caesar. They were losing the image of God.

Analogy Is Drawn.

"Out in my garden I found a penny. How long it had lain there, I do not know. But when first I saw it, it seemed only like a bit of the dirt in which it lay. It was so covered with earth and corrosion that I could not tell whether it bore the image of Lincoln or the head of an Indian chief. But I cleaned away the dirt, I put it into use and now once more the original image and superscription shines bright and clear.

"Jesus did not despair of these temple authorities, for Jesus knew that if He could but penetrate the outer crust, He would find deep down in the heart of the most degraded individual a soul that bears the image and the superscription of God. This was the business of Jesus. He went about among men striving to restore to their pristine beauty the souls which God had made. We hold today in our hands the precious coin of our immortal lives. 'Render unto God the things that are God's.'"

4 MEN DIE IN CRASH OF STOLEN AIRPLANE

Pan-American Airways during the night. Employes of a coal company nearby heard the watchman quarreling and shouting.

Authorities said they were convinced Voss and his companions had plotted with Jayme Taviera, a Brazilian employe of the Pan-American Airways operations department, who was at the field all night. They surmised the three men had forced the watchman into the ship at pistol point and had taken off in the early morning hours.

The wrecked plane had been well-fueled and apparently made ready for a long journey, but Voss, apparently inexperienced, crashed before he got very far.

The watchman was identified by relatives, but so far the third man in the conspiracy has not been identified.

Later tonight police said they had learned Voss was 42 years old and a former employe of various airplane companies and that he had engineered the expedition in the hope of financial profit.

Also it was confirmed from the coal company employes that the watchman had been forced to enter the ship. These workers said they were under the impression that Taveira was taking a flight for the Pan-American Airways.

The plane was burned in the wreck.

stake if the Royalists and Populists gained control of the Chamber of Deputies. He said he had made arrangements to retain power if they secured a majority.

(Associated Press.)

The Greek election this year held unusual interest because of the bitter exchange of charges between the varrous parties, particularly the Venizelists and the Royalists.

The 68-year-old premier, who has been involved in dozens of political storms during his career, ran into the last one early this month when in an election speech he attacked the former royal family of Greece.

Thereupon P. E. Tsaldaris, the Royalist leader, accused the premier of working with a military group in preelection activities, and demanded that President Alexander Zaimis appoint a premier "who would assure uninfluenced voting."

The premier was in Crete, and upon his return to the capital, September 5, he met the challenge by promptly resigning. President Zaimis then requested him to remain at the head of the government, and the premier said everything would take its normal course until yesterday's election was decided.

In the last election of a lower chamber in 1928, Venizelos won 228 out of the 250 seats filled, 191 of the deputies belonging to his own party. The Royalists won 18 seats, but this did not represent their complete strength.

Kingdom of Christ Subject Of Sermon at Epiphany

The Rev. Alvin Lamar Wills Asserts Nations Are Learning They Must Live Together in Harmony and Mutual Helpfulness.

"We are coming to see that nations must live together in harmony and helpfulness," declared the Rev. Alvin Lamar Wills, assistant rector of the Church of the Epiphany, preaching there last night.

"The Kingdom of Christ" was the Rev. Mr. Wills' subject. He took his text from the fifteenth verse of the eleventh chapter of Revelations: "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ, and He shall reign forever and forever."

Mr. Wills said in part:

"Christ is to control each man's complete life in all its relations of church, home, politics, business and social life. How many let Him in only part way, leaving great hinterlands of their complete selfhood uninvaded by His spirit?

"This life is not just a vestibule of heaven. It is not a school with death as the graduation. Christ came to teach us more how to live than how to die. Christianity is not a star-gazing religion where one may fall into a well. It looks this life straight in the eye.

Spiritual Adventures.

"The kingdom of Christ is not temporal. It is to spiritualize the life of this world. Some may maintain that this can not be done, but that is a bold affirmation; a blind prophecy. Discoveries have been achieved and inventions made that were generally accepted as impossible. And religious leaders are spiritual adventurers, and will never cease trying to do the impossible, until they have done it. Here is where faith is indispensable to keep man from surrender.

"The children of the kingdom are confident of its transforming power. St. Paul, speaking from personal experience, said, 'The gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.' He was so fully convinced that he was sure there was no exception to this rule.

"The sons of the kingdom are sure of ultimate triumph. The book of Revelation was written in an age of spiritual repression, a time of terrible persecution. Under the pulverizing attacks of Roman intolerance, the church was fast losing its faith. But our author was one of a small remnant who had such a clear and radiant faith; he said, 'No, you are all quite mistaken in your pessimism; Christ is not dead. He will return as a conqueror.'

Ultimate Will of Christ.

"So sure was he of this moral victory he said, 'It is here now. The sovereignty of the world has passed into the possession of our Lord and of His Christ.' This moral certainty harmonizes with our Lord's spirit as we find it elsewhere.

"We have now observed the means through which Christ works, the motive power which uses these means, the objective toward which He is moving.

"What shall we say then? Are we willing to become hands for Christ? St. Paul says, 'Ye are the body of Christ and members in particular.'

"Then some of us in the church must be His hands and some His eyes, moved by His mind. Will you be His eyes to look with compassioon on the needy multitudes today? Will you be His hands, strong and outstretched, to minister in His name to your fellows. God give each one of us this night such faith that in spite of all the sin and suffering in the world we, too, with St. John, may believe that such a mortal state is only temporary and does not represent the ultimate will of Christ. God help us to say with the brave seer in our text, 'The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and forever.'"

HIJACKERS KIDNAP DRY AGENTS AND SEIZE $18,000 RUM CARGO

40 years ago—from his father and rented it a short time ago to George Stonepp.

Philipo Beereda is believed to be living either in Paris or Lima, Peru. A seizure by prohibition agents Friday night on a roadway leading from the mansion was the starting point of a movement by prohibition agents which cluminated in the hijacking.

J. Randolph Brewer, in charge of the Southern Maryland District in prohibition enforcement, and Ruffin A. Brantley, and Edward Danforth, his assistants, captured a truck loaded with 210 cases of assorted liquors on a roadway leading to the mansion, which is about 7 miles from the Crain highway.

They arrested Joseph Russin and Arthur Duress on charges of transportation and possession and remanded them to jail at Upper Marlboro.

Once on the trail, the agents pursued their investigation, and last night went directly to the mansion to reconnoiter. They found several cases of liquor on the beach and saw a sea-going yacht, apparently manned by a full crew, lying off shore.

Two Men in House Jailed.

Brewer, armed with a search warrant, gained admittance to the mansion and discovered the liquor later captured by hijackers stored in the cellar. Stonepp and his brother, Dorsey, were in the mansion. They described themselves as caretakers when they were jailed at Upper Marlboro a short time later.

Brewer telephoned to John M. Barton, agent in charge in Baltimore, for help. Barton sent a truck, two automobiles and six agents to guard and transport the liquor to prohibition headquarters in Baltimore.

About 4 a. m. the convoy reached the mansion and the 1½-ton truck was loaded to capacity. The convoy pulled away with Agent Thomas Bailey and another agent leading the way in an automobile. Following their car was the liquor truck and behind that another car in which Agent Joseph A. Williamson and a second agent were riding.

Agent Charles E. Reinke was driving the truck. On the seat beside him was a mechanic.

The convoy proceeded north on the Solomons Island road toward Baltimore. It had moved 3 or 4 miles when three high-powered automobiles approached from behind at a high rate of speed. The first car forced the rear automobile of the convoy to the side of the road.

Agent Williamson and Agent I. T. Dryden were confronted with a submachine gun. The second hijackers' car—there were fourteen hijackers in the three autos—shot ahead and opened fire on the truck.

Reinke heard the machine gun fire—more than 50 bullets were fired—and stopped the truck. Then he, Williamson, Dryden and the mechanic, were taken prisoners.

Agent Bailey, in the first convoy car, realizing that they were outnumbered, sped from the scene and turned into a dark lane about a mile away. There he and John B. Bell, another agent, parked their car and made their way on foot through the woods toward the truck. By the time they reached the point of the holdup the hijackers had moved north toward Hollands Point, where they freed the captured agents. Before leaving they disabled Williamson's car.

Dry Forces Dispatched.

At 4:30 a. m. Barton, in Baltimore, received another telephone call. This one told of the hijacking. He immediately ordered every prohibition agent, except one, in Baltimore to speed south by automobile. He kept a single agent at Fort McHenry to guard seized liquors.

Fifteen agents were assembled in Baltimore to reinforce the six men originally ordered there. State policemen, summoned from Waldorf, in Charles County, joined them. Barton decided to begin the hunt at the farmhouse.

The occupant immediately told him of the visit a short time before of the hijackers, and revealed where the liquor had been hidden. The man said he had been threatened with death if he disclosed where the contraband had been secreted.

The liquor was reloaded on a truck and hauled to Baltimore.

The agents declared the hijackers displayed decided nervousness during the holdup.

Carter, the man under arrest in Baltimore, is said by the agents to have been one of the hijackers. He was captured near Prince Frederick.

DETECTIVE SLAIN IN RIOTING NEAR GOVERNOR'S MANSION

daily wage scale. About 50 responded. They entered the building while 600 strikers stood outside and jeered.

When the latter learned that Sneed had referred to them as "ignorant" and as "lunatics," they began to shout. The meeting broke up and the men who attended it were forced to run the gantlet of strikers.

Finally there were a dozen union members remaining, and the strikers began to kick and beat them. Sneed, Smith, the Pace brothers and O'Donnell all were kicked in the head as they sprawled on the sidewalk.

Three of the union leaders pulled automatic revolvers and began firing in the air. The pickets became infuriated, tore down a nearby fence and made clubs of the timber.

Detective Shot in Back.

More of the union leaders produced guns and more shots were fired as the battle moved toward the hotel. Sergt. Williams was shot through the back in the melee there. The pickets thought Smith fired the fatal shot.

"Lynch him!" they cried. "He shot a cop."

While diners in the hotel looked on in astonishment, the strikers threw Smith to the ground and beat him with their clubs. A police squad arrived, pulled Smith away and then was repulsed. The strikers beat him again before more police reserves could form a cordon and rush him to a hospital.

A. P. Pace, of Indianapolis, an official of the union and brother of the other Paces, also was kicked and pummeled, but did not apply for medical treatment.

The police tried to disperse the strikers without success. Finally William McCauley, treasurer of the subdistrict of the Progressive Mine Workers of America, the strikers' organization, mounted the hotel steps and pleaded with them to leave. When that did no good, the police exploded tear gas bombs. The fumes sent the strikers straggling through the main business streets. The police called in 30 State highway police to help keep the pavements clear.

Ritchings Sand, of Rockford, assistant adjutant general of the Illinois National Guard, arrived to investigate, presumably with intention of reporting to Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. Inasmuch as the city officials did not ask for troops, the governor did not call out guardsmen.

Italy's King Off To Inspect Colony

Victor Emmanuel Will See Eritrea, Scene of Gold Rush, First Time.

Brindisi, Italy, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—King Victor Emmanuel sailed today aboard the yacht Savoia for his first visit to Eritrea, the Italian province on the east coast of Africa between Abyssinia and Egypt, where recently there was a miniature gold rush.

The king's trip was initiated to give new impetus to a campaign to arouse interest in the development and expansion of Italy's African colonies.

As the country is primitive, with only a few government buildings, a catering staff was sent ahead to function during the monarch's week's tour. The king will take most of his meals in the officers' mess of the small, scattered garrisons.

Much traveling by motor will be involved, as the colony has only 250 miles of railroad.

NEW ST. ALOYSIUS' PASTOR APPOINTED

Rev. Lawrence J. Kelly Succeeds Father Fitzpatrick in Post.

Resignation of the Rev. Michael F. Fitzpatrick as pastor of St. Aloysius' Church, and the appointment of the Rev. Lawrence J. Kelly as his successor, were announced last night.

Father Fitzpatrick, who has been rector of the parish for five years, has resigned on account of ill health, and has entered Georgetown University Hospital, it was revealed. A native of New Jersey, Father Fitzpatrick came to Washington from Holy Cross College. He is 51 years old.

Father Kelly for the last three years has been spiritual director of Jesuits of the House of Studies at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was provincial of the Jesuit Order, with headquarters in New York, from 1922 to 1928, and master of novices from 1917 to 1922. Father Kelly is 62 years old and a native of Philadelphia.

Father Kelly formally assumed his new office at the supper of Jesuits at Gonzaga College last night. Gonzaga College is a part of the St. Aloysius parish. The Rev. Philip Clarke is the headmaster.

Soviet Honors Gorky For 40 Years in Letters

Moscow, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Soviet Russia today honored one of its most distinguished "comrades" in commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the literary activity of Maxim Gorky. The author himself was the guest of honor in a great jubilee meeting held in the Trade Union House here, and all cultural and artistic institutions cooperated to make the observance nation-wide.

Theaters throughout the country, including movie houses, showed productions based on his works, and special editions of his editorial writings were issued.

Atlas Corporation Tells Its Condition

Offers to Exchange Shares for Securities of Four of Its Affiliates.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Atlas Corporation, an investment trust of the management type, today published its financial condition statement as of August 31 in conjunction with an offer to exchange shares for securities of four affiliated investment companies.

The balance sheet disclosed total assets of $58,845,627, of which $20,411,458, or 35 per cent, was in cash. Liabilities were $1,408,801. The company has been following an aggressive program of expansion, financing them through exchanges of stock.

Investments were carried at $27,869,144, or about dollar for dollar, compared with its holding of cash and cash equivalent, amounting to $27,236,000.

The new Atlas is addressed to holders of minority stock in Ungerleider Financial Corporation, of which Atlas now holds 91 per cent of the capital stock; the securities-Allied Corporation, of which it holds 76 per cent, and Federated Capital Corporation, of which Atlas holds 75 per cent.

DR. HICKLING HURT IN LIFT SHAFT FALL was in progress, opened the closet door, stepped in and plunged more than 12 feet to the basement floor below.

It was said at Dr. Hickling's home last night that other members of the family were in different parts of the house when the accident occurred. No one saw him fall and were aware of the accident only when he called for help.

Members of the Fire Department rescue squad aided in extracting the injured doctor from the bottom of the shaft, and rushed him to the hospital. His wife, Mrs. Harriet Hickling, was at his bedside last night.

Dr. Hickling was born in Washington and has led a long and varied career as District alienist and advisor to Government and city hospitals. His connection with the famous Leopold-Loeb case in Chicago was perhaps one of his outstanding experiences.

Educated in Washington schools, Dr. Hickling is a graduate of Columbian University, now George Washington University. He was at one time police surgeon and is a member of the visiting staff at St. Elizabeths Hospital.

Among other medical affiliations Dr. Hickling is neuropsychiatrist at Providence Hospital and is a member of numerous medical organizations.

3 CHARGED IN PASSING OF FRAUDULENT BILLS

the Washington-Richmond boulevard in the vicinity of Accotink.

Secret service operatives started at work on the case as soon as the arrest of the trio was made. They are attempting to trace the source of the bogus bills, which were simulations of the regular $10 Federal Reserve notes, bearing a picture of Alexander Hamilton.

They are trying to determine whether they were obtained by the trio from the same source which has been flooding the New York area with counterfeit bills of that description. The trio were arrested in an automobile bearing Ohio license plates.

Late Saturday night, they allegedly attempted to pass one of the bills on T. K. Hino, proprietor of the Tower Inn, near Accotink, Va.; but he could not change the bill. Then, according to police, they passed $10 bills in the lunch rooms of S. A. Wilkerson and C. A. France, also of Accotink.

After inspecting the notes with customers, Wilkerson became suspicious of their genuineness. Others along the road, at whose places the trio attempted to buy sandwiches and cigarettes, observed the description of the three and the license plates of the automobile.

This information was forwarded to police in surrounding jurisdictions, and the automobile was intercepted in Fredericksburg.

SHENANDOAH PARK CHARMS PLANNERS

Members of Bicentennial Conference Thrilled by Trip Over Area.

Special to The Washington Post.

Skyland, Va., Sept. 25.—Members attending the postconference trip of the bicentennial conference on planning, parks and governmet inspecting the new Shenandoah National Park project here regretfully turned their backs on the Blue Ridge Mountains today with pleasant memories of the hospitality of George Freeman Pollock and the National Park Service, who acted as hosts, and with a promise to return at their earliest opportunity.

Last night the guests witnessed a real, old-fashioned mountain bonfire. Three stacks of dried trees 50 feet in height were touched off simultaneously and lighted the mountainside. A Hawaiian orchestra played while the flames crackled and shot skyward. After the bonfire the guests were treated to a minstrel show and dance in the recreation hall of Skyland.

After breakfast this morning the party hiked over the famous Passamaquoddy trail to Little Stony Man Cliffs and Stony Man Peak, an elevation of over 4,000 feet, affording a view of the valley and of the mountain ridges for more than 50 miles. The day was perfect, the only haze being that blue haze which hangs close to the ridges, from which the mountains received their name. After a hearty dinner the guests departed.

Two lessons were learned by those making the trip: First, they witnessed the beauty of the country, far surpassing their expectations, which is to be the first large national park in the East and which is easily accessible to the people of Washington and the Eastern seaboard, and, secondly, discovered the true spirit of the National Park Service, which is to provide clean and wholesome recreation for those who visit the parks.

The new Skyline drive, a 34-mile road extending like a ribbon along the crest of the mountains and over which the party rode yesterday as the pioneer caravan to use the highway, presented a new problem to the engineers and Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture, under whose supervision the work was done. The idea of running a road across a mountain top presented a perplexing situation from an engineering standpoint and then the thought of preserving the natural beauty of the country bordering the roadway and winding the highway to afford the most advantageous view of the scenery entered into the construction problem. All of these problems have been solved most efficiently and the result is a modern turnpike scientifically built and affording most amazing views. The final surface has yet to be put on the road and the public will not be allowed on this charming drive until next July.

Halloween Parade Plans Progressing

Nine Trophies to Be Given for Unique Costumes and Floats.

Rapid progress is being made in plans for the District of Columbia's Bicentennial Halloween Celebration under the direction of A. K. Shipe, chairman of the general committee. Nine trophies are to be awarded for unique floats and costumes.

Pennsylvania avenue and Constitution avenue are to be roped off for the festivities. Colored lights will be strung along the two avenues and a carnival and dance will be held on Constitution avenue after the parade.

Mrs. E. K. Peeples is chairman of the committee on floats and costumes, assisted by Harold V. Snyder. Mr. Snyder will assist entrants in the preparation of floats and costumes at the Franklin School Tuesday and Friday of this week from 1 to 5 p. m. Entry blanks are obtainable at the Greater National Capital committee of the Board of Trade.

ARMY RADIO PHONE TESTS ARE PLANNED

Communications to Stage Big Role in Maneuvers at Fort Meade.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Sept. 25—Communications will play an important role in the operations of more than 3,000 troops of the regular Army during the corps area maneuvers to be staged next week at Fort George G. Meade.

Not only will all normal means of communication be employed, but extensive use will be made of radio telephones in both air and ground networks under special "set-ups" directed by Maj. Gen. Paul D. Malone, corps area commander, and worked out in detail by Col. Consuelo A. Seane, corps area signal officer.

Air networks will be established for the Sixteenth Infantry Brigade, the Twelfth Infantry, Thirty-fourth Infantry and the Sixth Field Artillery, whereby intercommunication can be conducted by voice direct. In addition there will be nine radio sets using straight code, the normal method employed by units lower than the division. One platoon of tanks is also equipped with radio phones but only for communication between individual tanks.

Through employment of the radio phones field commanders will not only be enabled to issue instructions verbally to distant elements but should be able to receive descriptions of enemy activities as seen by an observer in the air several miles distant.

The maneuvers also will involve the first extended tryout of the tactical features of the new post telephone installations completed last year at Fort Meade. Instead of being designed solely to care for the normal administrative functions of the post, the new system has incorporated therein permanent extensions to all main post areas designed for use in exercises for larger troops units. As a result only a few miles of field wire will need to be laid for the umpire network to cover the whole field of operations.

Field commanders during the exercises next week will also have at their disposal the 40 carrier pigeons maintained at the Fort Meade loft for carrying messages.

U. S. CHAMBER RAPS GOVERNMENT TRADE

the chamber's objective is accomplished."

"The Government's operations can be and are carried on without regard to the elements of profit or loss, which are unavoidable in private business," the committee said. "The Government can, and does, furnish the funds which are employed, largely from taxation, without requiring or expecting payment of interest, let alone dividends, out of business.

"Public property used by the Government in business is free from any burden of Federal taxation, and is removed from taxation by the State, county and town in which it is situated. Allowances for depreciation are usually disregarded. * * *

"It is obvious, therefore, that in any field of business in which the Government chooses to enter, private business will be proportionately eliminated—not by reason of the relative merits of the two forms, but because of the unfair advantages received by the former."

Among specific recommendations of the committee were:

"The Federal Government should not engage in any form of business or service except for purposes limited to those clearly necessary in the proper administration of Government functions which are pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution.

"If under any circumstance the Government engages in any form of activity in competition with private enterprise, or in substitution for private enterprise, it has an obligation to ascertain exactly and completely the true costs and make them promptly and readily available to all members of the public.

"Under pressure of emergency conditions, legislation should not be enacted initiating functions on a permanent basis, involving or tending to involve, competition with business activity in any field."

Man Loses Eye in Fight.

George Helig, colored, of 1024 Fourth street northwest, yesterday suffered the loss of an eye and lacerations to his face during an altercation with an unidentified white man at 6 Congress court northwest. Helig was treated at Freedmen's Hospital, where his condition is said to be serious.

POST WANT ADS PAY

"WHY DIDN'T I SAVE $15.80 On My Automobile Insurance?"

Consider these SAVINGS in the world's largest mutual casualty insurance company

THIS table shows how much the Liberty Mutual dividend has reduced the cost of complete insurance on cars and trucks in Washington. Liberty has paid substantial dividends to every policyholder every year for 20 years.

Lincoln, Cadillac, Packard Class up to . . .	$15.80
Ford, Chevrolet, Buick, Plymouth, Chrysler Class up to	$12.00
Trucks 1½ Tons or Less up to	$17.38

PARTIAL PAYMENTS if desired—Liberty's low-cost divided payment plan makes thousands of new friends every year.

"IF I HAD bought the automobile insurance on my Cadillac direct from Liberty Mutual, I would have saved $15.80.

"My friends are saving money every year by insuring with Liberty, and they tell me they get prompt, competent service, if they have accidents or if they want information about any phase of their insurance.

"Naturally, my broker won't like it when I tell him I'm going to insure with Liberty—because they won't pay him a commission. But that's why Liberty is reducing the cost of insurance—their sales costs are only one-third as much as the average insurance company. I'm going to pay the commission I normally pay my broker, to myself.

"Liberty also saves money for policyholders by insuring careful drivers only. Policyholders in the Liberty don't have to help pay for a lot of accidents caused by irresponsible car-owners.

"Now, in the ordinary company, these savings wouldn't mean anything to me—but in the Liberty, they actually reduce my yearly premium. You see, Liberty is a mutual company—no stockholders to share in profits. In the Liberty, the profits made by selling direct and by careful selection of policyholders are paid back to policyholders.

"Liberty has saved and returned over $33,000,000 to its policyholders. I could have saved $15.80 on my premium this year. At the same time, Liberty has grown in size and strength—on June 30, 1932, it had Assets of $23,154,675; Reserves for Liabilities of $19,215,036; and a Surplus of $3,939,639."

ROOSEVELT IN THE WEST.

Gov. Roosevelt has proceeded far enough with his western campaign to give a fair measure of his effectiveness on the hustings and his grasp on the national problems he will be called upon to wrestle with, if he should be elected President. For the most part Republicans have been so busy refuting his charges against President Hoover and contradicting his economic theories that they have given little attention to the personal impression Gov. Roosevelt is making upon the people of the West. But some Democratic critics have not been so kind.

A correspondent for a staunch Democratic paper reports from the Roosevelt special train that the governor is making "a sort of Pollyanna campaign, tapping Hoover tenderly on the wrist from time to time, jollying trainside crowds with localized pleasantries and refusing to say anything more damaging of his opponent than to refer to him slyly as a 'superman'". The writer refers to the western campaign tour as "tame and colorless."

In the East those who have been reading Gov. Roosevelt's addresses eagerly in the hope of catching some definite thought which might contribute to the termination of present difficulties have been equally disappointed. Gov. Roosevelt has treated all of his subjects with unusual reserve and caution. He has taken his election for granted, without feeling called upon to make clear his views on the major issues of the day.

It would be interesting to know to what extent the professors who travel with the governor's party as his advisers are responsible for this result. Indications are that Gov. Roosevelt is being influenced to tone down his addresses so as not to antagonize any group and to avoid radicalism. For example, the governor was scheduled to discuss the silver question at Seattle because of the importance of silver in the trade of the East. A long conference was held with his advisers before the address began. But he did not mention silver. Instead he merely commented that "there are many ways of producing the results (restoration of trade on the Pacific) without disturbing the currency of the United States."

Democratic observers make no attempt to conceal the fact that this indefinite and cautious manner of handling vital subjects has been disappointing to the West. The effect of this policy is doubtless accentuated because of the depressed economic conditions throughout the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States. Without question they have built high hopes on Gov. Roosevelt. When he left Albany on this jaunt many admirers expected him to go roaring through the West like a lion. Instead, he has been tame and evasive. He has opened his arms to Republican voters and made special concessions to the insurgents, with an effort to please every one and antagonize no one.

Probably Gov. Roosevelt has not made a single enemy on his whole western tour. But the hopes of rugged cattlemen, miners, farmers and distressed workingmen that he would prove to be a strong man of the hour have been cruelly deflated. Gov. Roosevelt has asked the West to have faith in his proposed "new deal" without giving any concrete idea of what it would be or how it would work.

In view of the nature of his campaigning Gov. Roosevelt probably made his western trip too early. By the time he returns home the impressions he has made will begin to fade. The absence of concrete plans in his promises for the future leaves little for the people to discuss. Under ordinary circumstances a reaction against this type of campaign could be expected before election day. Yet there are many unusual complications in the presidential contest this year. It is certain that the West is disappointed. The question is whether that disappointment will be strong enough to overcome its resentment against the administration because of economic conditions.

AIDING BLIND VOTERS.

A special appeal has been issued by the American Braille Press to relatives and friends of blind adults to arrange in good time to assist them in participating in the November elections. Laws have been enacted in all States which provide that assistance can be rendered a blind person in casting his ballot, either by a friend or by two election officials of opposite political parties.

The Braille Press is the largest organization in the world for embossing and free distribution of books, magazines and musical compositions for the blind. Its president, William Nelson Cromwell, reminds Americans that thousands of intelligent men and women who are interested in the world about them and its modern problems are often separated from active participation in public affairs by a wall of darkness. Many of them, naturally, desire to cast their ballots in the coming election and they should be encouraged and assisted to do so.

Sir Arthur Pearson, himself blind, one of the greatest benefactors of the sightless, said: "His greatest need is to be treated normally in his abnormal circumstances; he must be brought into the life which surrounds him." It is in the spirit of such service that the American Braille Press makes its appeal. There are 114,000 blind persons in the United States, many of them so handicapped by lack of intimate associations as to be cut off from the pleasures and activities of life. Surely no more worthy assistance in all the world can be offered than in aiding these dependent persons to participate in the rights and duties of citizenship.

FARM TARIFF BENEFITS.

A great deal has been said about the extremely low prices which the farmer has received for his crops during the last year. The plight of the farmer has seemed especially difficult because existing prices are compared with those prevailing at the height of prosperity. From this viewpoint it is easy for politicians and psuedo-economists to tell the farmer that the agricultural tariff of 1930 and the Farm Board have brought him to ruin. But there is another side to the picture.

All the world has suffered reverses because of the depression. Had farm prices in this country not sunk to unprecedented levels for this century it would have been a miracle. The pertinent question, so far as the tariff and the Farm Board's program are concerned, is not whether agricultural prices have fallen, but how they have fared in comparison with prices in other parts of the world. This phase of the issue seems to have been almost completely ignored.

Live stock men have complained bitterly about the prices obtained for their cattle. But the latest figures available show that cattle in Argentina bring only 2.17 cents per pound, compared with 8.31 cents per pound in the United States. There is no reason for such a large spread in price, except that the cattlemen of the United States are protected by the tariff.

Wool sells in Australia for 7 cents per pound while a comparable figure for this country is 15 cents. Cattle hides in the United States bring 4.25 cents per pound, compared with 1.58 cents in Argentina. American farmers get a wholesale price of 20½ cents for butter, compared with 13½ in New Zealand and 15½ in Denmark. Sugar in this country is 3 cents per pound compared with .77 of 1 cent in Cuba. These are typical of many agricultural prices that seem extremely low until they are compared with prices in countries that compete with the American farmer.

Of course, farmers have not obtained all the benefits they hoped to secure from the 1930 tariff revision. Crops that are produced in surplus for the export market can not be effectively protected by the tariff. Farmers who produce for foreign markets must expect payment according to world market prices. That is the inevitable penalty for reaching beyond the domestic market. Farmers who do not wish to face competition with other countries must curtail their output to domestic needs so that a tariff may become effective.

Most of the duties that can be of any actual value to the farmer were included in the Smoot-Hawley act. Gov. Roosevelt condemns that act and advocates a tariff that will give farmers adequate protection without inducing them to increase their crops and without inciting retaliation from other nations. In view of the benefits already obtained from the 1930 act and the nebulous character of Gov. Roosevelt's farm relief plan, it is not surprising that the farmers are bewildered by the position he has taken.

RUSSIA AND MANCHUKUO.

A decided change is apparent in the attitude of Japan toward Soviet Russia. Apparently convinced that Russia contemplates no aggressive action in Manchuria and even looks with complacency upon Japan's domination there, Tokyo changes front and is palpably engaged in a campaign to placate Moscow. The first objective is to secure Russia's recognition of Manchukuo.

Because of the number of Russian residents in Manchuria, Soviet consuls have found it necessary to establish relations with the new government. Japan urges that it would be but a short step further for the Soviet to extend full recognition.

New and increasing troubles engage the attention of Moscow authorities at home. Crop shortages are added to the many difficulties encountered in carrying out the five year plan, such as the appalling waste and destruction caused by inefficient workmen. The scarcity of grain has resulted in more stringent demands for quota deliveries from the various agricultural districts. Already disheartened and disinterested in the output of the cooperatives, workers on a wholesale scale resorted to the pilfering of grain in the fields, in storage and in transit, which has in turn precipitated repressive measures of the severest character. Late reports indicate that not since the reign of terror in 1929, when the kulaks were deprived of their lands, have there been seen such wholesale arrests and such severe penalties.

Everywhere throughout the interior thousands of peasants have been apprehended for taking grain, penalties being especially severe for any raids upon "socialized property." Another police drive that has caused the arrest of countless numbers has been directed against all who are found retaining gold, silver, foreign currency, or precious stones. Those under suspicion of having valuables are held under conditions that are said to make them quite amenable to disclosing hiding places and making 100 per cent contributions to the government.

Japan is holding out the prospect of oil purchases as a bribe for Soviet recognition of Manchukuo, and the hard-pressed Moscow dictators are likely to grant recognition in order to curry favor with Japan.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS.

Canada proposes to effect sweeping changes in the operation of its two great railway systems, the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific. The report of a royal commission just made public discloses a broad program of consolidation and non-competitive operation that will be presented to the forthcoming parliament with the support of the government.

The ambitious scheme as outlined by the commission, while providing for the physical integrity of the Canadian national railway system, will seek to insure its complete freedom from political interference and community pressure, terminate the financial irresponsibility of the management and eliminate deficits, preserve and increase the effectiveness of the services of both roads, terminate unprofitable and aggressive competition between the two roads, and provide a plan of cooperation to avoid unnecessary duplication of services.

This is indeed a comprehensive program and one that will require the best efforts of Canadian statesmen as well as rail executives to get enacted into law. If a formula can be found by the parliament that will circumvent community pressure and provide management free from political interference, the result will be studied with interest on this side of the border.

There is no counterpart in the United States of the extremes to which the two great Canadian railway systems have carried their competitive efforts to secure business. The government lines and the privately operated Canadian Pacific not only have many parallel tracks, but they established hotels and telegraph offices in duplicate in many places where the amount of business was hardly enough to support a single agency. The new plans propose to eliminate such duplications. There will be little opposition to that, but cities and towns which have secured services through competition, probably in excess of their deserts, will be loath to relinquish their advantages, and because of this fact political and community pressure will make itself felt in parliament.

Radical changes are proposed by the commission report in the composition of the directorate. Instead of seventeen members as at present required on the board of the Canadian National, only three trustees will be named to hold office for seven years. They will control the railway budget, subject to approval by parliament, and if any sums are needed to meet deficits they will not be raised by floating new securities voted by parliament. Naturally the consolidation of the two railway telegraph and express systems will follow.

Most vital of all will be the refinancing required, particularly to relieve the Canadian Pacific. The commission report terminates with the warning that unless its recommendations are adopted "the very stability of the nation's finances, and the financial credit of the Canadian Pacific, will be threatened, with serious consequences to the people of Canada and those who have invested their savings in the railway."

Even if the American delegates had to travel on an American muleboat they would be in time for any disarmament agreement that Europe will ever make.

X-RAY IDENTIFICATION

By HENRI PICKARD, in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Criminals of the future may have to submit to being X-rayed instead of having their finger-prints taken, if the new system of identification perfected by an American doctor is adopted in London.

The system has been submitted for the consideration of Scotland Yard, and Chief Inspector Batley, the finger-print expert, has spent many hours examining it.

It was at his invitation that Dr. Thomas A. Poole, of Washington, United States, visited London.

Dr. Poole is a nose and throat specialist and he conceived the idea of his new identification system as a result of taking many thousands of X-ray photographs in connection with his work. He claims for his system that it:

Is simpler than finger-prints;

Dispenses with measurements as a basis for identification;

Indicates the presence of affections causing criminal tendencies.

"Briefly," said Dr. Poole, "the system makes possible the establishment of an international bureau for the identification of criminals without recourse to measurements, and at the same time provides the authorities with evidence on which they can work to cure the criminal of his lawless tendencies.

"When a person comes into the hands of the police an X-ray photograph is taken of his face. There you have at once a record of all the bony structure and the dozens of different cavities of the head. Most important is the record of the cavities above the eyes termed the "frontal sinuses." By this means positive identification is assured.

"A close study of the congestion of the sinuses and a reference to the past history of the criminal may readily throw light on the reason for his criminal tendencies.

"Treatment of the sinuses, today a simple matter, would in my view restore the mind to a normal healthy state. And, since a normal healthy mind is not a criminal mind, you have then removed the prime cause of the criminal tendencies.

"Thus do you combine crime prevention with your positive identification system.

"The possibility of two X-ray photographs of different people tallying exactly in all respects does not, I am convinced, exist.

"The system also becomes applicable to the cure of drug addicts. Drug addiction begins in many cases with the congestion of the sinuses, for the relief of which drugs are used. The ultimate result is that a craving is set up. This can be cured if the primary pain is removed—a simple treatment."

Nonpartisan Teamwork.

POST HASTE.

The trouble with many acting presidents in South America seems to be that they are burlesque rather than legitimate performers.

The anti-Ma Fergusons in Texas appear determined to cut the apron strings in November if they have to vote for a Republican governor to do it.

Modesty personified: Gov. Roosevelt asks for California's vote for the good of the people to the third generation, and Speaker Garner is so concerned with their welfare he is running for the presidency of both houses of Congress at once.

As the first of a series we now and here propose that Senator Norris shall be duly estopped from inscribing himself in the next Congressional Directory as a Republican.

We don't know the given name of goat-gland Dr. Brinkley, but many see in him the knell of both old parties in Kansas.

Al Smith's Jefferson Day speech against class prejudice and fault-finding as campaign issues certainly is a greater bar to his support of Gov. Roosevelt now than it was last April.

A little more than 10 per cent of the $300,000,000 relief fund has been allotted to States. A lot more of it would make good Thanksgiving presents rather than keeping it for Christmas.

Senators Johnson, Norris, Brookhart, Long and Blaine should make a congenial new Senate bloc—oh, yes, and let Dill join the mixed pickles.

No one was rude enough to interrupt Gov. Roosevelt's Los Angeles speech with a reminder that a local distributer wants to cancel his contract for Boulder dam current because he can produce it cheaper from coal.

"G. O. P. speakers to stress business improvement." Is it necessary? Those who can't feel it are too blind to see recovery in oral argument.

Without any specific alludinations, what public office would you consider any man fitten for today who doesn't know right off the bat and willing to say how he stands on the bonus?

Utterly ignoring unprecedented efforts and many relief agencies actually in operation, as well as infallible signs of improvement, Democratic orators high and low berate the administration for inaction and lack of plans to remedy the depression. Isn't that cute? PAUL HUDSON.

A MAN GOES CALLING.

"Well, anyhow," he said to me,
"The governor I couldn't see!

"The mayor, according to his clerk,
Was busy at important work.

"The Browns are on a ship at sea,
Of course they have no need of me.

"The Greens have week-end guests I heard,
To call on them would seem absurd!

"A wasted day? Well, hardly that,
I stopped with Old Man Jones to chat.

"The first friend in a week or more
To think to tap upon his door!

"And when I left he made it plain
He wanted me to come again.

"Now this I know—beyond a doubt,
The old are almost never out.

Back word they can not see a friend."

The Tortoise Won Because He Was Too Wise to Depend on Foot Work

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong, but victory rewards the favorites of fortune or the schemers who plan to insure it.

You can't endow yourself with luck, nor can you make yourself a genius, but you can defeat better men if you do better planning.

Mediocrity wins more prizes than brilliance.

The candidate who wins the nomination is not the popular man favored by the delegates, but the shrewd one who meets political bosses in a quiet hotel room and gives pledges to make victory sure.

Second-rate men won Olympic contests because their superiors exhausted themselves in preliminary trials. The higher mark made in previous trials did not count in the finals. The winners did not prove themselves the best in the world, but merely superior to better men who were tired.

Girls who win beauty contests are not the most beautiful in America. They are merely the prettiest of the kind that competes. There are thousands of another class, whose superior beauty is enhanced by breeding, character and intelligence, but these do not enter public contests.

An American tennis player lost the championship to an inferior. The court had been "slowed up" to deprive him of his natural advantage and a prejudiced lineman made the injustice complete.

Two men of superior skill lost the doubles championship because they failed to take the usual rest after winning the first two sets and playing the third to a tie.

The girl who might have been champion lost her chance because previous matches had exhausted her before the crucial contest began.

The heavyweight champion won his title by the decision of judges whose opinion astonished and offended other spectators.

One of our Presidents was declared the choice of the people, though his opponent received a greater number of votes.

Many decisions that become law are made by a minority of the Supreme Court.

The merit of a cause or a contestant does not insure victory. The man who makes the rules can decide the contest.

And a second-rate man can defeat a brilliant one if he uses his wits to discount the other's natural advantage.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Says Kansas Is Dry.

Topeka Capital.

Kansas is for prohibition. The Republican State platform states so unequivocally. While the Democratic State platform makes no reference to the party position on national prohibition whatever, it bows to State sentiment by declaring for enforcement of the Kansas prohibition law.

Kansas is for prohibition, and if it is, it is up to it in November to vote that way.

In his notable speech in Topeka, Gov. Roosevelt made no reference to his own stand and that of his party platform for "immediate amendment of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer" and for downright repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He has stated, however, that he is for this program "100 per cent."

Plenty of Company.

Watertown (S. Dak.) Public Opinion.

If Roosevelt can find no other fault with Hoover than that he misjudged the length of the depression, his indictment of the President must also lie against about 99 out of 100 Americans in all walks of life.

Hoover Goes to Iowa.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

President Hoover's consent to deliver an undisguised campaign speech in Iowa is one of those compromises against their own judgment candidates sometimes make in order to compose differences in their councils and prevent overruled advisers from sulking.

The selection of a place for a campaign event always is significant. Iowa is the President's native State; but it also is a State the unbroken record of whose Republicanism heretofore has left it as remote as Mississippi from both Republican and Democratic itineraries. But Iowa this year is the infection center of agrarian unrest.

"Nothing to Say."

Minneapolis Journal.

Even while the American Legion was in convention at Portland, Oreg., with the bonus issue as by far the most important question before it, the President did not fear to reassert his own unwavering opposition to present payment of a debt that is not due for thirteen years, and can not be paid at this time without inviting national disaster.

But Gov. Roosevelt "has nothing to say."

Clark Howell Hits 'Em.

Atlanta Constitution.

From President Hoover and his medicine ball cabinet, down to the thinning rank and file, the Republican party is in a panic as the result of the loss of the Maine elections.

When the news of the sweeping Democratic victory—doleful tidings for the administration—was imparted to Mr. Hoover, he was, he said, "disappointed." In truth, the President was dumfounded, while his expert political writer, Mark Sullivan, was nothing less than flabbergasted. For they both are aware that the disastrous defeat sustained by the Republicans in Maine presages the rout of the party on November 8.

Just Texas.

Detroit Free Press.

If Texas wants to be governed by Ma Ferguson's husband we suppose that is Texas' business and privilege, still it does seem funny that a State like Texas should get that way, and stay that way.

Can't Fool Cal.

Macon Telegraph.

"There is," says Mr. Coolidge unqualifiedly and without equivocation or hesitancy, "there is bound to be some discussion during the campaign of prohibition." No use talking, you just can't fool that man!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Says Government Cafeterias Should Be Placed in Private Hands.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If there is any good reason why some of the Government departments should engage in competition with the restaurant business, it has not been brought to public attention. Maintenance of a cafeteria is not essential to the efficiency of any governmental agency. The Government can serve no useful purpose by thus depriving its citizens of opportunities to engage in a legitimate private enterprise.

Reports to the House committee which is investigating Government competition in the business field indicate that there are 25 Federal cafeterias in Washington. There is no warrant for the contention that these cafeterias are essential to provide Government workers with food. Washington has an abundance of restaurants conveniently located for most of the Government buildings. If some of the departments were not trying to feed their own employes, more private cafes would undoubtedly be in operation close to Government buildings.

What is the purpose of these Federal restaurants? If they are merely designed to provide convenient service for Government workers, why is not the space leased to a private operator? If they are designed to reduce food costs below the prices prevailing in private establishments of a similar type, that amounts to use of governmental property and buying power in unfair competition with private business. Regardless of what their objective may be, it appears that prices are not unduly low in these Government cafeterias, and some of them are making profits.

This kind of competition between a Government and its citizens is always obnoxious. Where concessions are granted to private interests under departmental supervision and the cafeterias are operated on a business basis, there seems to be little ground for complaint. But when Government agencies themselves engage in the restaurant business, or use their buying power to create unfair competition, it is time to call a halt. If legislation is needed to take governmental agencies out of competition with private enterprise in this or any other field, the House investigating committee should not hesitate to recommend it. J. F. P.

Builders of Nation Never Dreamed That States Would Become Beggars.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The partisan campaign criticism of our President on account of his opposition to Government doles makes me tired.

The builders of the Federal Government had not the least idea that it might ever become an elemosynary institution.

The suggestion of such an element of weakness in the enduring structure they sought to build would have been rejected with repugnance and scorn.

Those builders were proud of the States whose sons they were, and the suggestion that the States would ever beset the doors of the Federal Government in the attitude of poor relations seeking alms would have met with indignant reproof.

If this trust in the simple strength of the Federal Government and pride in integrity of the States were now as assured as in the beginning, much of our recent economic embarrassment could have been avoided.

Uncle Sam, undistracted by the cares of a shiftless household, would be free to take it easy in the proper control of his legitimate business, while the immediate wants of the masses would be efficiently satisfied by the States themselves.

Today the American system needs the help of politicians strong and patriotic enough to free it from the impending danger of Federal doles, under whatever shape they may appear.

A real menace to the country at the present time is the scheming of mercenary demagogues, who threaten to submerge State responsibility in the administrative stagnation of a half-baked socialism.

FEDERALIST.

Exaggerated Traffic Noises—Howl of Anguish From Harassed Citizen.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Several good communications you have printed recently regarding Washington traffic problems lead me to inquire whether some plan can not be formulated to suppress the many unnecessary noises caused by motor vehicles. There should be some limit to the age and decrepitude of rattling trucks upon city streets and, of course, there is always the unnecessary tooting of horns to be complained of. But probably the most annoying, ear-splitting racket of all is caused by the machine-gun explosions of the motorcycle, as, with muffler open, the riders insist upon attaining a speed of 30 miles an hour in the first half block.

Another offender is the driver who forces his machine into a high rate of speed in second gear, which results in a shrill shriek that is hard upon nerves as well as upon ear drums. Living upon Sixteenth street, these noises are particularly trying. Bus drivers are serious offenders in connection with second-speed noise. Between them and the motorcycles there is not an hour of the day and half the night when repeatedly in all adjoining houses where windows are open, conversation is suspended and the din is often such as to bar mental concentration. Much of the noise is due to thoughtlessness or lack of concern for the comfort of others, and could readily be reduced in large measure.

Survey of Business Shows Real Improvement Is Now to Be Seen.

(Associated Press.)

The American Federation of Labor, in its monthly survey of business issued yesterday, said "signs of real business improvement are coming in slowly." It added that increased consumer buying is needed to bring full recovery and said:

"Our object from now on should be to raise wages, not to reduce them. Only thus can we build up buying power and keep business rising."

The federation said the unemployment rise was checked in August, but that 11,400,000 still are out of work.

Indications of business gains noted were improved production in textiles, shoes and clothing; more activity in coal mines, increased car loadings, rising commodity prices, steel activity and a slight increase in automobile production.

"A movement for wage increases would at once carry industry forward," the survey said. "Even now, at the bottom of depression, many companies could increase the wages paid to workers. In the last eight months 190 companies have paid extra dividends. If a company can increase dividends, it is in a position to increase the income of its wage-earners."

The federation held that working hours must be shortened, but said that "if shortened hours mean just another income cut, this move will not be fully constructive."

Raising the consumer buying power, the survey said, would help relieve farm distress by immediately creating a market for wheat, cotton, vegetables, meat and leather.

Municipal Budget Knowledge Urged

Pennsylvania R. R. to Tell Employes of Value of Interest in Costs.

All employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad will receive, with their next pay checks, the suggestion from their employers that the workers interest themselves "in the expenditures of their local governments," according to an announcement by J. G. Nettleton, general agent of the carrier here.

"Reduction in governmental expenditures can only be brought about by an aroused public opinion," said the announcement. "Interest yourself in these matters for your own benefit and the benefit of the public generally."

"Some of the expenses," said the statement, "are produced by extravagance and some by the demands of the people or organized portions of them for special services. They have grown to such an extent that all governments are expending money for purposes which you as an individual taxpayer would not incur if you had to pay them directly from your own pocket."

Camp Demonstration Is Held by Group

Regents and chapter representatives of the Sons and Daughters of the Republic Friday night attended a demonstration directed by Miss Elizabeth Barnes, who has had charge of the organization's Children's Club Camp at Port Tobacco, Md.

The organization spent about $500 on the camp, it was declared. A reception followed the demonstration.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone are stopping at the Seymour, New York City. They will come to Washington this week to open their home on Wyoming avenue.

The Minister of Bulgaria, Mr. S. Radeff, is passing several days at the Sunset Hall, in Wernersville, Pa.

Mrs. William S. Culbertson, wife of the Ambassador to Chile, who will remain in Washington this winter, has taken an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont are in Paris for a short time after spending several weeks in Switzerland. They will sail for this country early next month to be present at the sale of their art objects and furniture that is to be held in New York.

Miss Choate Is Engaged To Wed Geoffrey Platt.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate, Jr., of 10 East Ninety-fourth street, New York, and Mount Kisco, announce the engagement of their daugher, Helen, to Geoffrey Platt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Platt, of 13 East Sixty-sixth street, New York, and Cornish, N. H. No date has been set for the wedding. On her father's side, Miss Choate is a granddaughter of the late Mr. Joseph H. Choate, and on her mother's side of Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver, of Washington, D. C.

Miss Choate, who attended the Brearley and Foxcroft Schools, has two sisters, Mrs. Charles B. Harding, wife of Mr. C. B. Harding, and Miss Priscilla Choate, and a brother, Joseph H. Choate 3d, who is a junior at Harvard. Mr. Platt, after attending St. Mark's School, was graduated in 1927 from Harvard, where he was captain of the crew and a member of the Hasty Pudding and Porcellian Clubs. He was graduated in 1930 from Columbia School of Architecture, and is now associated with his father, Mr. Charles A. Platt, the well known architect.

Commodore and Mrs. A. W. Stahl, after spending the summer at Bass Rocks, Mass., have returned to their apartment at 2219 California street.

Mr. William Bowie Clarke is the guest of Judge W. P. Charters at his log cabin estate near Indianapolis.

Mrs. Orville Smith, wife of Judge Smith, is in Washington on a few days' visit from their home in Cleveland. They plan to spend a good deal of time in Washington this winter, journeying back and forth from Cleveland, and Mrs. Smith has engaged an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, where they will be in residence while here.

Garbed in the custume of his country—a turban and flowing robes—Mr. Vithalbhai Patel, former Lord Mayor of Bombay and present head of the Indian Legislative Assembly, a position which corresponds to the Speaker of the House in our Government, arrived at the Willard yesterday. Patel is an outstanding figure in the Indian independence movement and a close adherent of Mahatma Gandhi, whom he succeeded as president of the Indian National Congress.

Today Mr. Patel, accompanied by prominent members of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, will place a wreath on the tomb of George Washington; tomorrow he will be received by Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, and will later attend a luncheon given in his honor by the National Press Club.

On the completion of his stay in Washington the distinguished Indian visitor will continue on to the Pacific Coast, making several stops en route.

Mr. Patel arrived in this country on the liner Bremen on September 23, and was welcomed by Mayor McKee, of New York City.

Jack L. Higgins Weds Miss Juanita Gaskins.

St. Peter's Church in Pleasantville, N. J., was the scene of a quiet wedding last Tuesday night when Miss Juanita Gaskins, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Gaskins, of Washington, D. C., became the bride of Jack L. Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins, of Seaview. The Rev. Francis J. McCallion performed the ceremony.

The bride had Miss Mary Flannagan as her maid of honor and only attendant. Mr. Timothy Cosgrove was best man.

A reception for the immediate families and intimate friends followed at the home of Mr. Higgins' grandfather, Mr. Albert Jacoby.

Those attending the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Getz, Mr. Matt Brouckler, Mr. Pete Brouckler, Mr. Thomas Murphy, Miss Julia Cosgrove, Miss Ann McGill, Mr. Joseph Wittman, Mr. Robert Docozite, Miss Anna Flannagan, Mr. Stanley Conover, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bainner and son, Mrs. Millie Frazier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stokes, Mr. Carl Higgins, Mrs. Helen deDobbler, Mrs. David O'Keefe, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Miss Margaret Higgins, Mrs. Mae Shuman, Mrs. Anna Dreher, Mrs. Stanley Flannagan, Mr. Alexander Jacoby, Mr. Alexander Higgins, Miss Helen Watson, Mr. Charles White and Mr. Joseph Higgins.

The Capital Review Club will inaugurate its program for the season with a formal banquet tonight in the garden house of the Dodge Hotel. Covers will be laid for 40 guests.

The guests of honor will be Mrs. William H. King, Mrs. George Sutherland and Mrs. Franceska Kaspar Lawson.

A program will be given which will consist of vocal selections by Mrs. Franceska Kaspar Lawson, accompanied by Mrs. Ruby McQuarrie; a violin solo by Mrs. Norma Coombs, accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Manwarring; a history of the club by Mrs. William H. King, and toasts will be given by Mrs. Laura Nielsen, Mrs. Thelma Henriksen, Mrs. Berniece Goodyear, Mrs. Florence Snow, Mrs. Margaret Austin and Mrs. Helen Stevenson.

Dinner music will be rendered by Clayton's Collegians. Mrs. LaPreal Monson will preside at the banquet and the following are the other officers for this year: Mrs. Helen Stevenson, vice president; Mrs. Laura Nielson, secretary; Mrs. Berniece Goodyear, treasurer; Mrs. Donna Hayward, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruth Carlston, Mrs. Berniece Manwarring and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, program committee, and Mrs. Norma Coombs, Mrs. Ruth Knudson and Mrs. Vera Rollo, entertainment committee.

All-University Ball Scheduled on Friday.

The grand ballroom of the Willard will be gayly decorated with the banners of the various sororities and fraternities which are assisting in the planning of the all-university ball on Friday, and Mr. Louis Malkus, director of the George Washington University Band, has arranged a delightful program of dance music with popular college tunes predominating.

Students from the Georgetown, George Washington, Maryland National and Catholic Universities are on the committee of arrangement for this affair and a large attendance is expected.

Mr. Bradford Ross, son of former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Mr. Guy Glassford, Miss Katherine Dille, president of the Chi Omega Sorority, the members of the Interfraternity Council of George Washington University, and a host of university students are also cooperating with the committee arranging the affair.

Patronesses for the card party to be held under auspices of the District of Columbia Women's Democratic Educational Council, at the Shoreham Hotel, October 3, at 8 p. m., for the benefit of the national Democratic campaign fund, so far announced, are former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, Mrs. Lowell Mellett, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Mrs. W. W. Husband, Mrs. Harry N. Rickey, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mrs. George M. Eckels, Mrs. Samuel Herrick and Mrs. Charles F. Hamlin.

The Young Democrats assisting the council are Mr. Ralph Lawrence, chairman of the floor committee, aided by Mr. William Pates, Mr. Francis Taylor and Mr. Bradford Ross.

JOBLESS HELP SEEN IN PUBLIC FORESTS

Survey Shows 70,000 Men Could Be Used at Cost of $52,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

A survey conducted by the Charles Lathrop Pack Forestry Foundation was announced yesterday as showing that employment could be provided for 70,000 men for a year in State and national forests at a cost of $52,000,000.

The results, which are published in the October Forestry News Digest, were received from the Federal Forest Service, the Indian Forest Service and State Forestry Departments.

The compilation indicated that employment could be given for 20,500,000 man days, the report said, if all necessary funds were available. Of these 38,000 men could be employed for a year on State forest lands at a cost of $30,000,000 and 32,000 on Federal and Indian forests at a cost of $22,000,000.

The announcement said most of the work would be seasonal, varying from two to ten months a year. It would include tree planting, fire protection and general forest improvement work.

"The figures are regarded as conservative," the Digest said. "A study of the answers to separate questionnaires reveals that in many cases the replies have been based on plans already made, and not on the amount of work that could be done if the budget for it were sufficient. There is little doubt but that if the governors of each State were to put up to the State forester the proposition of the number of men who could be absorbed in useful work without budgetary restrictions, the totals as given in the digest would be nearly doubled.

"This digest does not include work that should be done on private lands. An estimate is that three times the totals as given here would be about the correct amount of man days in order to improve, and satisfactorily protect forest lands in private ownership."

Drifting 12 Hours, Capital Men Saved

Steamer Picks Up Pair in Disabled Launch on Chesapeake Bay.

Two Washingtonians were rescued in Chesapeake Bay Saturday after being adrift in a disabled motor launch for more than 12 hours. They were spied by a steamboat pilot as he guided a liner out to sea.

The men saved are William L. Dorsey, 219 Cromwell Terrace northeast, and D. M. Sonders, 3218 Tenth street northeast. They had put out from Chesapeake Beach Friday in a 23-foot launch and were caught in the terrific storm that afternoon, the motor being swamped and the oars broken.

The pilot, Pressly Carter, discerned the weak glimmer of a small lantern of the Washington men and the liner was stopped to pick the men up. They were landed at Cape Charles.

Curtis Relaxes On Stump Tour

Rests at Louisville Prior to His West Virginia Trip Today.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Vice President Charles Curtis, who last night completed a campaign tour of four Kentucky cities, today relaxed before resuming his trip, which will take him to Parkersburg, W. Va., tomorrow.

Accompanied by Representative and Mrs. Maurice H. Thatcher, the Vice President attended services here this morning at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church. This afternoon the Thatchers, John P. Haswell, State campaign leader, and E. T. Franks, chairman of the Kentucky speakers' bureau, accompanied him to Hodgenville to view the Lincoln Memorial.

The Vice President's schedule called for a visit to Cincinnati tonight for brief conferences with Republican leaders before leaving for West Virginia. Yesterday Mr. Curtis and Mr. Thatcher spoke at Danville and Lexington, and Friday they opened the Kentucky campaign with addresses at Hopkinsville and Bowling Green.

Hoover, Secluded in Study, Works on Campaign Talks

(Associated Press.)

Continuing his practice of the last two days, President Hoover yesterday secluded himself for much of the afternoon in the Lincoln study on the second floor of the White House.

Although the President held a conference with Reconstruction Finance Corporation and agricultural officials early in the afternoon, aids said he spent much of his time alone. It was indicated that he was at work on one of the addresses he is to deliver within the next two weeks.

Mr. Hoover also conferred with Harrison E. Spangler, Republican national committeeman from Iowa, now a White House guest, concerning his scheduled trip to Des Moines, where he will deliver his first campaign address on October 4. Spangler said the President's address would begin at 7:30 p. m. (C. S. T.) and be broadcast nationally.

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Hoover yesterday morning attended the Quaker services in Friends Church on S street near Connecticut avenue.

Contrary to their usual custom, they returned directly to the White House, without going for a drive after the services.

"TAD" JONES AND CONGRESS.

CONNECTICUT Republicans have put up one of the country's most famous former football stars, "Tad" Jones, for Congress. This is a recognition of the fact that what the G. O. P. needs is better signals and more sure passing.

* * * *

John Q. Tilson, for whose place Jones has been nominated, was never a good broken field runner or ball carrier, but he blocked well, believed firmly in team play and never ran the wrong way with the ball.

* * * *

That Congress would be much more colorful with a football touch is obvious. The boys down there have never been fast getting down the field under the ball, taking out the interference or recovering fumbles.

* * * *

Take the last season, for example. Senators and representatives tottered about the field groggy and useless through a complete lack of training in the important business of avoiding injuries in the scrimmages.

* * * *

You merely had to watch the players a single afternoon to realize that what they needed was a training table and a coach who knew enough to yank out a groggy orator and send in a substitute before it was too late.

* * * *

Let's have the next Congress under the "Tad" Jones influence with bands and cheer leaders both coming onto the field before the contestants. Let's have a long cheer for Senator Zerk and nine tigers for Representative Dinkel between plays. Let's allow the spectators to stand in raccoon coats and sing college songs dedicated to dear old Congress.

* * * *

You can imagine the newspaper accounts even now:

"With ideal weather conditions prevailing and before one of the greatest crowds that ever attended a debate on the bonus, Democrats and Republicans met in the classic clash of the year today.

"Both sides kept their line-up secret, but it was believed it would be a kicking battle, as neither side boasts a conspicuously brilliant open-field runner or line smasher.

* * * *

"Bill Borah, the fastest man on either side in reversing his field, will not play. He threw out a shoulder in a straight line plunge in a war debts fight last week and is still in the infirmary. He may be out for the season.

"Whether Huey ('Kingfish') Long will be in the line-up is questionable, as the matter of his eligibility is still undecided. Both sides were stunned yesterday by charges that the Kingfish violated his amateur standing by playing in several exhibition games with the New Orleans Fish Fry eleven under the name of Pajama Pete.

* * * *

"Huey's reply to the charges was: 'I'm innocent and I can almost prove it.'"

THE NEW NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Oh, say can you R. F. C.

OR AT LEAST STRICT DIETING.

Ima Dodo, after reading about Mahatma Gandhi deciding to starve to win a victory for the people, says, "Wouldn't you think Mr. Hoover or Mr. Roosevelt would think of that?"

LACKS ZEST.

New York's new subway yielded $62,000 less than was expected the first week. The number of women passengers was reported to be below anticipation. This is possibly due to the fact it is so easy to get a seat in the city-owned subway that there's no fun in it.

$8,000 in Cash Stolen From Carolina College

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Approximately $8,000 in cash was stolen from the safe in the treasurer's office at North Carolina State College early today by robbers who gained entrance to the office by cutting a heavy wire screen and prying open the window.

The lock on the safe was broken and the door opened by the use of tools. No explosives were used. Police expressed the opinion the job was done by professional yeggmen.

Former West Virginian Dead in Oil Well Fire

Mount Pleasant, Mich., Sept. 25 (A. P.).—After an all-night and half-day battle, workmen tonight had quelled the flaming Reed No. 4 oil well, 13 miles east of here, which caught fire late yesterday, causing one death and serious injuries to four other persons.

The body of Walter Miller, 28, who died in the hospital here six hours after being trapped in the fire, was sent today to Dawes, W. Va., his former home.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

President Hoover, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the Public Buildings Commission, will be heard at the laying of the stone of the new United States Post-office Building at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Also the music by the Marine Band, directed by Capt. Taylor Branson. Both networks will broadcast the event.

Senator Arthur Capper will go to the bat for the Republicans tonight (WRC—10 o'clock).

JESSICA DRAGONETTE'S impressions of the "Merry Widow Waltz" in the Cities Service hour was one of the most artistic and delightful bits of the season. Following her vacation she seems in unusually good voice.

Not always true of femine artists Miss Dragonette's speaking voice is as pleasing as her singing voice. Mary Pickford has been called the sweetheart of the screen. Surely then Jessica Dragonette must be the sweetheart of the radio.

Quite a ballyhoo has been raised over the novelties to be offered this season. However, the principal features presented to date have been revivals of past seasons' successes—"The March of Time," and "Great Moments in History."

RUDOLF SCHRAMM will make his bow as conductor of the Wilkins coffee hour on WRC tonight at 6:45 to 7 o'clock. One hour later he will say good-by to his many radio friends on the Gas Light hour over the same station.

For over two years the Gas Light hour has been the biggest local commercial. Schramm's new combination for Wilkins will use special arrangements from his own pen exclusively. His orchestra will accompany Margaret Cromwell, soprano, and their first program includes:

"Sweetheart's Forever," Margaret Cromwell.
"Of Thee I Sing," Orchestra.
"Moonlight on the River," Margaret Cromwell.
"Don't Tell a Soul," Orchestra.
"They Didn't Believe Me," Margaret Cromwell.

DURING the Happy Tolmanizers' program this evening (WRC, 5:45 o'clock), Fred East will make an announcement of interest to local artists who are seeking an opportunity to be heard over the radio.

"Dromedary Caravan," an Arabian desert romance, will make its debut over WJZ network tonight at 5:15 o'clock. The program will be heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday thereafter at the same time.

The H-bar-C Rangers, a cowboy script act for juveniles, is another newcomer at 5 p. m., over WABC, and possibly WMAL, and will be heard thereafter at that time every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

"Easy Aces" will return tonight (WMAL, 10:15), and will continue every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at that time.

THE story of "The Star-Spangled Banner," based on the history of the American national anthem, will be repeated during the broadcast of the Soconyland Sketch tonight tonight (WEAF, 8 o'clock).

North Carolina will have the honors in the "Parade of the States" (WRC, 9:30 p. m.).

DR. WILLIAM JOHN COOPER, United States commissioner of education, will discuss the Nation's educational needs during the National Radio Forum tonight (WRC, 8:30 o'clock).

"Why Milwaukee Has No Gangsters and No Deficit," will be explained by its mayor, Daniel W. Hoan (WJZ, 8:30 p. m.).

FU MANCHU mystery stories by Sax Rohmer will come to radio tonight at 8:45 o'clock in the first of a weekly series over WMAL.

"Women and Politics" at 6:30 o'clock over WMAL tonight will be a new series conducted once weekly by Miss M. Bainbridge Hayden.

Ed Wynn says he is heard by more persons on a single broadcast than in his 29 years on the stage.

Legionnaires Pick Laurel Post Aids

Southern Maryland Rally of Veterans Set for October 12.

J. Bryan Hobbs was elected commander of Laurel (Md.) American Legion Post No. 60 at the September meeting of the veterans' organization. Decision was made to hold a rally of all southern Maryland veterans and their families on October 12, Columbus Day, at Laurel.

Other officers elected were: Julian B. Anderson, vice commander; John P. Curtin, vice commander; William Murray, vice commander; Luther W. Waters, adjutant; Stuart W. Dorset, treasurer; Edward D. Merson, sergeant at arms, and John J. Neighbor, chaplain. The executive committee was made as follows: Lloyd Kaiser, Vinton D. Cockey, Kenneth B. Jones, DeVere H. Harden, Michael G. Scott and W. LeRoy Armstrong.

Seventy legionnaires attended the meeting. It was announced that Snyder Farmer Post, American Legion, Hyattsville, would act as cohost with the Laurel post at the rally.

RED YOUTHS CROWD ENGINEERING FIELD

Soviet Is Facing Shortage of Doctors and Teachers as Result.

Moscow, Sept. 25 (U.P.).—Soviet Russia is faced with a serious shortage of physicians, scientists, teachers and authors because the Communist youth would rather be an engineer.

A spirited campaign to overcome this prejudice has been inaugurated by the government, it was learned today, after an official survey disclosed that virtually all students in the schools prefer jobs at which they can work with their hands.

Sorely in need of more doctors and teachers, the Soviet authorities are assuring Russian youth that it is "respectable to be intellectual." The odium which attached to the so-called intelligentsia, they are told, no longer is tenable.

Whether the new generation will permit itself to be convinced remains to be seen. The boys and girls of the new Russia have grown up in an era when intellectuals were hunted, derided and publicly humiliated. The very word "intelligentsia" has come to mean something affiliated with counter-revolution.

The one exception in the mind of the Russian youth has been the engineer. Though he might be classed as an intellectual, he is at least close to industry, and concerned with stern realities rather than "soft ideas." Thus it has happened that the engineering schools have been crowded, while the medical, pedagogical and purely scientific institutions have not.

The newspaper Pravda has inaugurated a campaign for a "proletarian intelligentsia," and has compiled statistics to show the need for more intellectuals in Russian life.

Mrs. Roosevelt Speeds By Plane to Husband

Kansas City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sped westward by airplane today toward Williams, Ariz., to board the special train bearing her husband on his Western campaign tour.

Welcomed by a group of Democratic women on her arrival by train in Kansas City at 7:45 a. m. today, she departed by plane an hour later. I. B. Dunlap, of Kansas City, a personal friend of Gov. Roosevelt, accompanied her to Wichita, Kans. Mrs. Roosevelt will meet the campaign train tomorrow morning. Her traveling costume was topped by a pale blue coat and a neat black turban ornamented with a tiny donkey of red and white brilliants.

Wholesale Relief Plan Inaugurated

$250,000 Expected to Be Saved Annually in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Wholesale methods of handling food have been adopted to lower the cost of care for the needy of Kansas City through the coming winter. Embracing the ordering of carload lots of foodstuffs through a brokerage committee at low prices bid by food brokers and the storage and distribution of the food free, the system already has been set in operation.

The city administration has contributed the Main street wharf, on the Missouri River, as a storage warehouse. Two carloads of foodstuffs have been taken there and others are on the way.

Transport companies have volunteered 15 or more trucks to move the food to delivery depots in key points at which it will be called for by the unemployed. Fifteen such depots are anticipated and seven, with rent free, already have been located. The sacking and packing of the foodstuffs will be handled by the unemployed who will volunteer one or two days' work weekly. C. Whit Prieffer, secretary of the City Charities Bureau, expressed belief it will save the city $250,000 annually.

VARIATIONS OF RAYS EXTEND BEYOND SUN

Cosmic Studies of Eclipse Show Intensity Change Develops in Wide Area.

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Measurement of cosmic ray intensity recorded at an altitude of 27,000 feet during the total eclipse of the sun last August 31 indicates that the part of the rays responsible for the daily change in intensity on the earth's surface emanate from a much more extended region of space than the sun itself, Capt. A. W. Stevens, of the United States Army Air Corps at Wright Field, reports.

Capt. Stevens recorded the intensity of the rays while flying over the New England States on a photographic mission with Lieut. C. D. McAllister, of the flight test section at the field.

Dr. Lewis Mott-Smith, of Rice Institute, Houston, Tex., measured and plotted the numerous negatives obtained on the flight at Wright Field. He also invented the recording instruments used on the expedition.

"Within the probable limit of accuracy of 2 per cent of the apparatus as used in the airplane, it was found that no change had occurred," Capt. Stevens said.

"A small change is known to take place daily at the earth's surface," he continued. "If the part of the cosmic rays responsible for this diurnal change in intensity had been coming directly from the sun, then at this altitude a change decidedly in excess of the probable error of measurements of the apparatus used might have been expected during the eclipse.

"The conclusion is that the part of the rays responsible for the diurnal change probably comes from a much more extended region of space than the sphere of the sun itself."

Chinese Irregulars Raid Village Near Tsitsihar

Tsitsihar, Manchuria, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency correspondent here today reported that 100 Chinese irregulars raided a village near Angangchi, on the Chinese Eastern Railway south of Tsitsihar yesterday.

The Japanese contingent from Tsitsihar was sent to the scene and quickly dispersed the raiders, inflicting heavy losses. Tsitsihar was untroubled by the action and under control of nearly a brigade of Japanese troops.

British Expert on China Plans U. S. Lecture Trip

Sir Frederick White, who was for five years president of the Indian Legislative Assembly, and later adviser to the Chinese government, will arrive in this country October 24 for a lecture tour of the United States.

Among subjects Sir Frederick will discuss will be "The Crisis in the Far East," "China and Japan; A Study in Contrast," "The Road to Home Rule in British India," and "Manchuria, the Land of Opportunity."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

"Petite costume" for autumn, made of navy blue jersey and worn with sweater of red, white and blue striped Angora jersey. (Courtesy of Jane Regny, Paris).

SLEEVES are more than intricate this season! For where we have thought of elaborate sleeves as meaning puffs and balloons, in the modern fashion, of course, now when one says elaborate sleeves one pictures such things as insets of lace, or velvet, or plaid if the frock be a sports one; or of diamond cut-outs all down the arm of a tight sleeve; or the sleeve with the top cut away to show an intriguing bit of shoulder; or intricate diamond-shaped cut-outs just above the elbow.

Long cuffs are another sleeve variation—oh, the very long ones that fall over the knuckles. And puffs, when seen, are always most discreet and subtle—never Hollywoodish!

Speaking of Hollywood, at a recent premiere, the only public social function of any magnitude, I did notice the happy idea of long sleeves on evening frocks. For the average woman really has not beautiful arms, you know, and the long-sleeved evening gown, with its plentiful decolletage, is certainly flattering.

• • • •

Velvet, in the old as well as the new versions, is the most-used fabric seen in the collection of Worth, both for daytime and for evening. This material seems to appear without discrimination in sportswear, formal afternoon ensembles, and in evening gowns, coats and ensembles. In fact, there is really very little distinction made between the fabrics used for day and for evening—one sees broadcloth evening coats and fine woolen evening gowns, as one sees velvets and richer materials used for daytime wear. In case any one cares—I don't like this idea.

• • • •

Jane Regny goes on making youthful things, without being obvious about it. Sportswear, "young" ideas, chic and smartness—there you have a Jane Regny model every time. Another thing I have always liked about this couturiere's models is their practicability. And, sh-h-h-h, their longevity!

A little fall frock is sketched for you today, which I think shows all these things—navy blue jersey is the material, and the sweater is Angora jersey, striped in red, white and blue. Don't you think it is all I claim for this couturiere?

A gr-r-r-r-r-eat big dragon will git jah if you don't watch out! 'Nif you send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, for this week's leaflet, which properly isn't a leaflet a'tall, but a dragon design, which is big enough to use outright, well, then you will git the dragon and be immune from dragons fer'ver!

Christmas is coming soon enough for you to think about it, you know, and this dragon is perfect as a design to embroider or paint or use in any way you wish on a lovely hand-made thing or two, for a Christmas gift. Send for the design, and the gift ideas will start right along now.

• • • •

Leopard skin is piquant, I think—and it does take a certain type to wear it, successfully. If you are the type and have the vivacity and particular combination of personal coloring to make it possible, then the little evening jacket and adorable muff that I sketched for you today is quite an idea. Yes, and this is one fur set that could be worn morning, noon and night, I think.

Au revoir.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

449.

Masters of Bridge.

IN responding to a recent inquiry, Mr. Geoffrey Mott-Smith, former president of the Embassy Bridge Club and now tournament manager of the Wynne Ferguson Bridge Studios in New York, remarks that his career as a player has suffered a blight of nonconformity with recognized bidding systems. Whether this be true or not Mr. Mott-Smith is one of the most brilliant and accurate players of the Dummy that the game has ever known, and there are many examples of his skill in developing tricks where they did not appear to exist that linger in the memories of his partners and opponents. He is a former holder of the Eastern Contract Pair Championship, winning that event in 1930, with Mr. Richard Frey as partner.

One of the hands which gave Mr. Mott-Smith great satisfaction in the play was the following, in which he was the only player sitting in the South position to make a game contract in hearts:

South—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

	♠ A 8 4 3 ♡ A 10 4 ◇ 10 6 5 ♣ A K 6
♠ Q 10 7 2 ♡ 7 3 2 ◇ A Q 4 ♣ Q 9 4		♠ K J 9 6 ♡ 9 8 ◇ K 8 7 3 ♣ 10 7 2
	♠ 5 ♡ K Q J 6 5 ◇ J 9 2 ♣ J 8 5 3

The bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1NT(1)	Pass
2♡(2)	Pass	2NT(3)	Pass
3♡(4)	Pass	4♡(5)	Pass
Pass	Pass

(1) The only alternative would be a bid of the greatly shaded spade suit, but notrump is unquestionably much better.
(2) This bid, of course, is an entirely natural response.
(3) North has 4 honor-tricks, but he can not find the playing-tricks for a Raise of the heart bid. His hand, however, suggests the possibility of game at notrump.
(4) This bid is in the nature of a sign-off.
(5) An overbid.

The Opening lead was the spade 2, which was won with the Ace in Dummy. Mr. Mott-Smith could see but little chance of making his contract, but evolved the only possible way of doing so. It required some help from the adversaries, but then, one's adversaries at the Bridge table are sometimes more than passing kind. A small diamond was led from the Dummy, which West won with the Queen. At this point, West could have defeated the contract by cashing the Ace of diamonds and returning the third round of the suit, as the end-play would then have been impossible. West, however, elected to return a spade, which was trumped in the closed hand, and the second round of diamonds led. East won with the King, and returned the third round of spades, which Mr. Moot-Smith trumped. The Dummy was re-entered by leading a club, and the last spade in Dummy was ruffed with the Knave of hearts. The King of hearts was then led, followed by the Queen, which was overtaken with the Ace, and the Ten of hearts then drew West's last trump. Dummy's last diamond was then led, which West was forced to win. His hand now contained only the Queen-9 of clubs, so South was enabled to win the last 2 tricks.

A brilliant plan had been brilliantly executed through the unwitting cooperation of his opponents.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ 8 6 4 ♡ 4 2 ◇ 6 5 3 ♣ 8 7 6 4 2
♠ 5 3 ♡ 10 8 7 ◇ A K Q J ♣ A K Q J		♠ A K Q J ♡ A K Q J ◇ 8 4 ♣ 10 9 3
	♠ 10 9 7 2 ♡ 9 6 5 3 ◇ 10 9 7 2 ♣ 5

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

There's Beauty in the Sunshine of Indian Summer Days.

"I'M sorry that Labor Day has come and gone, sorry the summer is over, because our shack is closed, which means no more outdoors for another year."

There you have a conversation I overheard the other day. There you have the sad truth of hundreds of thousands of people who get their full share of sunshine (and more than enough) during the summer and with the dawn of the day after Labor Day say good-by to fresh air and sunshine.

What a mistake! Particularly when you realize that the sun is actually kinder to skin, hands and hair during the latter part of September and all through October than it is during the burning, blistering summer months. Every fair day ought to be an irresistable invitation to get outdoors. Go to the parks. Go to nearby picnic grounds. Even on cool, brisk days if you are properly clothed, you will not feel uncomfortable.

Walk Before Dinner.

For the next few weeks, at least, take advantage of every fair day. Walk for a mile or two whenever you possibly can. Get up a little earlier and walk part of the way to work, if you go to business. Walk before your evening meal.

If mother needs an excuse to get outdoors, she might call for the children at school every afternoon and walk home leisurely with them. On the way, perhaps stop at a park and play a few games. Take them to any zoo or botanical garden that might be near you.

On Sunday, instead of sleeping an hour or two later than you did during the summer, get up earlier and make definite plans to take yourself, friends and family out in the open.

Forget Auto.

An automobile is a blessing for long trips, but for those mile or half-mile runs it is a beauty curse, to my mind. So if you have a short-distance errand to do, simply forget the car and use your own trusty legs. Walk, walk, walk, and breathe deeply as you do. Join or form a hiking club and get out into the country whenever you can, properly clothed in simple, sensible and suitable clothes that mean business—not the fluffy, fussy, easy-to-catch-on-something variety; low-heeled, sturdy shoes, of course, and no constricting garters or undergarments.

By exercising in this way, in the outdoors you will store sunshine and energy, build muscles and resistance against disease, tone your whole system, soothe and strengthen nerves. More Indian summer sunshine, less winter colds; more outdoor exercise, less pasty, sallow skin, tired tissues, drooping shoulders and such. More sunshine, more health and consequently more beauty. Let's!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF September 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:20 a. m. to 12:10 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:40 p. m. and from 9:50 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3:25 p. m.

The stars foretell a time of unusual activity on September 26. The influences will be energizing, and will induce greater effort than usual. Much useful work will be accomplished and, in many cases, the foundation of future success will be laid. An eminently suitable occasion for initiative work.

A child born on this September 26 will be, although exceptionally attractive, willful, and possibly, wayward. Its ingratiating ways will frequently secure for it unmerited indulgence. Clever and shrewd, rather selfish, determined and inconsiderate of others, it will succeed materially, but, in its onward progress, will cause many heart aches and disappointments.

You, if born on September 26, are a plodder, patient and painstaking. You suffer from no illusions as to your capacity, and are quite conscious of your limitations. You are not one to bite off more than you can chew, and, although not, lacking in ambition, you do not endeavor to reach your goal by airship, but are content to jog along on foot.

Methodical, meticulous and careful, you never leave a task, no matter how distasteful it may be, until it has been accomplished to the best of your ability. You never quit a job half finished. You never undertake more than one job at a time. Your methods may be slow, but they are sure, and, in the long run, you will outpace many who start off with a rush.

Your disposition is an affectionate and an even one. You do not blow hot and then blow cold. Once your affections become involved, they assume a permanent character. You are undemonstrative, in the accepted sense of the term, but those near and dear to you realize that they can always rely and depend on your help and guidance when needed. You are faithful, loyal and sincere.

Successful people born on September 26:

Edmund Gwenn, English actor.
William S. Holman, congressman.
William Henry Milburn, "The Blind Preacher."
Williard B. Rising, chemist.
Irving Batcheller, author.
Albert E. Wolf, chemist and inventor.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SALT AS A PREVENTIVE OF FATIGUE.

SOME Italian military surgeons investigated the advisability of giving salt in the form of mildly salt water to troops starting out on long marches and to athletes who are to engage in endurance contests. The soldiers under observation marched 10 to 12 miles a day. The athletes were runners participating in races of from two-thirds of a mile to about 4 miles.

The amount given was about 30 grains. The time was three-quarters of an hour before the start of the race or beginning of the march. The method was to dissolve the salt in enough water to give to it a very faint salty taste. The water was made cool and appealing. It was found that the men who drank this salt water lost less weight, sweat less and had more endurance than those who had not taken it.

In a hard prize fight each contestant will lose ten or more pounds. Some of this loss is due to loss of blood, sugar, fat and broken-down body cells, but the great bulk of it is water. With the water there goes a moderate amount of salt. During the course of the contest a gallon or more of sweat is secreted and each gallon weighs a little more than eight pounds.

Between rounds the seconds permit a contestant to swallow some water, but the intake is far below the amount that pours out as sweat. Besides the water lost by sweating, there is a moderate evaporation through the lungs, and some is lost by other excretions. Therefore at the end of a hard fight the tissues of the contestant are far too dry—so dry he can not function well; and he is below normal in his blood sugar, his salt, and in some other essentials.

In view of this, the drying out process to which fighters are subjected during the 48 hours before the fight may be carried too far—probably is carried too far.

This, which is true of prize fighters, is true of wrestlers, handball players, tennis players, and all who engage in endurance contests, such as long distance runners. Perhaps this is, in part, the explanation of the slight albimuria several times observed in athletes who have just completed endurance contests.

I presume the theory is that a little extra salt, taken about an hour in advance of the march or run, tends to hold the waters in the tissues and thus to prevent excessive drying out.

WHOLESOME, NOT HARMFUL.

D. D. writes: I have heard that if a person ate a lemon every morning before breakfast he would lose weight. Do you think this would bring on any kind of sickness?

REPLY.

Eating a lemon a day is wholesome. It should cause no illness. However, it will not cause a person to lose weight.

LOOK ELSEWHERE FOR CAUSES.

J. M. writes: I have had both feet amputated. Would this cause high blood pressure? My age is 50, weight 165, blood pressure 240. Blood and urine tests O. K.

REPLY.

No. Look elsewhere for the cause.

OINTMENT FOR TETTER.

G. B. writes: What is the black ointment used so efficiently on the heads of babies when they have tetter?

REPLY.

Ether and steam extract of crude coal tar, two parts.
Zinc oxide, two parts.
Starch, sixteen parts.
This ointment must be properly made. First, the extract of coal tar must be used instead of the tar itself, otherwise boils may appear. This extract is made by passing steam through crude coal tar, condensing the steam and extracting it with ether. Second, the final mixture must be black, rather than green.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Department of Agriculture.)

There's usually a warm week or two in September when one needs to revert to the easy meals of midsummer. Many satisfactory combinations can be made by using cottage cheese as the foundation for the menu. This has its economical aspects, for sometimes, with unexpected hot weather, there is a little sour milk on hand which can be made into cottage cheese.

Cottage cheese lends itself especially well to salads, whether French, mayonnaise or boiled dressing is used. The cheese may be formed into balls or sliced. It may be molded in small cups or passed through a pastry tube. Lettuce is the favorite base or bed for a cottage cheese salad, but other crisp, fresh green salad materials can be used. You can make a salad that consists only of cottage cheese on lettuce, or you can add cottage cheese at the side of a plate of vegetable, fruit or jellied salad.

Ground raw carrots and onions combine well in flavor with cottage cheese for salad. Canned pineapple seems to go particularly well with it, whether you mix crushed pineapple with the cheese or serve the cheese on or near a slice of pineapple. Bright, highly flavored garnishes like pimientoes, green peppers, beets, olives or pickles, give an attractive touch to these salads. The cottage cheese is also excellent with various raw salad vegetables—tomatoes, cucumbers, celery or green peppers.

To be enjoyed most the cottage cheese should be used as soon as possible after it is made. It will keep in the refrigerator a few days, but should not be held too long or it will develop a strong flavor.

A tempting hot weather luncheon plate consists of a cottage cheese salad, sprinkled with paprika for color, a half slice of pineapple, potato chips, olives and a roll. With a beverage this is a sufficient lunch for most people, but if a dessert is desired any of the summer fruits would be good, or a fruit ice or sherbet.

SO simple and comfy is this practical apron.

It has a slenderizing front panel. And don't you think the suspender straps at the back are a cute idea?

The way it is made of striped cotton with the stripes used in reverse treatment, makes it very individual. You can bind the edges with a contrasting color.

You could also combine two fabrics, say a flowered or dotted print with plain opening shade, used for the front panel, pocket, rims and binds.

GRACIOUS HOSTESSES realize the importance of clean rugs in enhancing the beauty and charm of the home. Their guests are quick to notice it, too, for particular housewives know that "HIDDEN DIRT" endangers the family's health and shortens the life of a rug. It is indeed wise economy to have your rugs shampooed regularly by our special process.

Try This "HIDDEN DIRT" Test

Vacuum your rug thoroughly, then rub a piece of clean white cloth on the nap. See that soil? . . . That soil is "HIDDEN DIRT," ground into the base and adhering to the nap of the rug. It dulls beautiful colors, destroys resiliency of fibres and shortens a rug's life. "HIDDEN DIRT" defies ordinary home cleaning methods. Only shampooing really cleans your rugs and restores their freshness and beauty by removing "HIDDEN DIRT."

FIVE DISTINCTIVE FEATURES

Of Our Rug Cleaning Service

1. THOROUGHLY DUSTED
Your rug is first thoroughly "dusted" with a powerful vacuum machine which removes all loose dust and dirt.

2. SHAMPOOED WITH IVORY SOAP
Your rug is then wet down with rain-soft water at 80 degrees temperature and the proper amount of Ivory soap "gel" is applied with a revolving brush which works it into a fine, creamy lather, penetrating the very base of your rug and loosening up all greasy soils and HIDDEN DIRT.

3. CAREFULLY DRIED IN WARM AIR
After shampooing, the lather is scraped off and your rug is rinsed with rain-soft water. A powerful vacuum machine extracts 80 per cent of the excess water. Your rug is then glue-sized, if necessary, hung up in the drying room in a circulating current of warm air of 125 degrees which slowly evaporates all moisture.

4. INSURED AGAINST FIRE AND THEFT
Your rugs are insured against fire and theft while in our care. Upon receipt at our plant they are checked, measured and marked in. Every stage in their cleaning is handled by expert operators.

5. TAKEN UP AND LAID AT NO EXTRA CHARGE
No extra work or trouble for you. Our men will carefully take up your rugs and lay them for you when they are returned at no extra charge. Rugs repaired by experts.

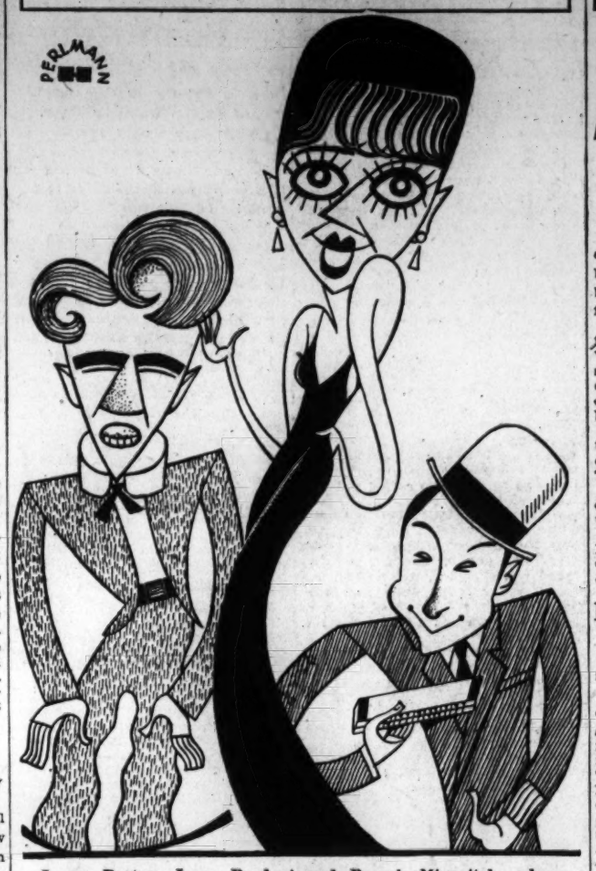
HITS OF A THREE-STAR BILL



James Barton, Irene Bordoni and Borrah Minevitch, whose diverse talents illumine the three headline spots on the vaudeville program current at Loew's Fox Theater.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT will be generally conceded, I think, that Guthrie McClintic has worked an improvement in changing the name of the late Edgar Wallace's London success, "The Case of the Frightened Lady," to "Criminal at Large." Among other considerations prompting Mr. McClintic to abandon the original title was the fear that his new dramatic production, scheduled to open in the Belasco Theater, New York, on Monday night, October 10, would be confused in a slovenly public mind with the English-made film version of the same subject which, probably, will be released in this country before long.

"Criminal at Large" will have as its principal players Alexandra Carlisle, who returns to the stage after a long absence to play Lady Lebanon in this production, Emlyn Williams and William Harrigan. Mr. Williams already has been briefly celebrated in this space.

Others in the cast will include Robert Middlemass, David Glassford, Perry Norman, Scott Moore, St. Clair Bayfield, Neville Percy and James Vincent, which in all probability will mean less to the average layman than that Cleon Throckmorton is designing the three settings the play will require.

Since it was Mr. Ray Henderson who supplied the foregoing item, it may be well to go a little further into his latest communication to this department and disclose that Katharine Cornell has cabled from Germany that, as she has not been able at this time to get certain players she wants for Sidney Howard's "Alien Corn," she has decided to open her season in New York with Andre Obey's "The Rape of Lucrece," translated by Thornton Wilder. "Alien Corn," according to present plans, will be presented later in the winter when, and if, the desired actors become available.

"The Rape of Lucrece" was inspired by Shakespeare's poem of the same name, and was produced in Paris by Jacques Copeau's La Compagnie des Quinze au Theatre du Vieux-Colombier and later was acted by his troupe in London. In it Miss Cornell will appear as Lucrece, a role which is a distinct departure from anything she hitherto has acted. Mr. McClintic, her husband in private life, will direct the production.

All of which is a reminder that "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be made into a motion picture during the coming season by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This play, which achieved one of the most conspicuous successes of recent years, was presented in this country by Miss Cornell for a total of 541 performances. Concerning the cast that will appear in the film version, there is but one surety, and that is that Miss Cornell will not be in it.

Completing his eminently successful engagement at Loew's Fox in this city last Thursday night, I am informed that Edmund Lowe, most popular of the visiting movie stars, left Washington at once for New York, where he appeared on Friday only at the Roxy Theater in conjunction with the first showings of "Chandu the Magician," leaving the metropolis on Saturday for a quick dash to the West Coast to resume picture making on the Paramount lot October 1. That is to say on the Charles R. Rogers lot, wherever that may be, for release through Paramount.

As was intimated here in connection with the advanced opening of "Hell's Highway" at RKO-Keith's last Thursday, RKO-Radio's production of Clemence Dane's "A Bill of Divorcement" also will be moved in ahead of time.

Word from Manager Meakin is to the effect that this latest vehicle for the talents of John Barrymore, in association with Billie Burke and Katherine Hepburn, will open its engagement on Fifteenth street day after tomorrow, Wednesday, September 28. The distinguished trio of principals will be supported by David Manners, Elizabeth Patterson, Paul Cavanagh, Gayle Evans and the veteran Henry Stephenson.

This is the picture that was interrupted in production by the sudden death of Florenz Ziegfeld, Miss Burke's husband, on the Coast.

An old friend also is coming back shortly, a brief bulletin from Manager Orangelo J. Ratto, of Loew's Palace, being to the heartening effect that "Smilin' Through" has been booked for his temple of the titillating and talkative tintypes for the week beginning Friday, October 7, which isn't so far away as you might think without stopping to look.

The new version of this sentimental romance is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, with Norma Shearer, currently on view as Nina Leeds in "Strange Interlude," at the National, in the stellar role, supported by Fredric March, borrowed from Paramount for this particular assignment; Leslie Howard, Ralph Forbes and O. P. Heggie, a quartet of male players it would be difficult to excel.

The seasoned theatergoer will recall that "Smilin' Through" was originally presented as one of her outstanding successes by Jane Cowl, later was made as a silent picture with Norma Talmadge starred, and last season was offered in musicalized form, under the title of "Love Is All," by Vincent Youmans, at the National.

Word reaches this desk that the new "Smilin' Through" has been converted into an extremely modernistic drama; that while it retains all of the charm of the original Jane Cowl production, it is entirely redressed and handsomely redecorated.

Making a modernistic drama of "Smilin' Through" sounds like a very swell trick, even if you cant do it!

While devotees of the traditional theater of bone and sinew are awaiting the inauguration of the new dramatic season next Monday at the National, when and where Eva Le Gallienne and her Civic Repertory Theater Company, headed by Joseph Schildkraut, will present Molnar's "Liliom" as their initial offering and Dumas' "Camille" as the alternate, they may while away the preceding week-end by watching the animated and audible shadows of a group of distinguished erstwhile stars of the stage. At RKO-Keith's, as herinabove intimated, will be John Barrymore, Billie Burke and Henry Stephenson; at the Metropolitan, George Arliss in "A Successful Calamity," and at the Palace, Walter Huston in "Kongo."

And there was a time when so-called legitimate players avoided the screen like a plague for fear it would prove fatal to their prestige—if any!

When the big fight comes off down at Alexandria tonight, I understand they are going to read between-round bulletins from the two preliminary boys boxing over on Long Island!

Begging your pardon, Mr. Povich.

GAYETY

"FRENCH FOLLIES."—Empire Burlesk attraction, with Irving Selig, Betty Colton, Velma Joszy, Harry Harrigan and Bob Gerard. Reviewed Sunday matinee by W. L. Wright.

Patrons of this popular Ninth street playhouse will enjoy this week's bill, "French Follies," a riot of song, dance and laughter.

Getting away to a flying start, the tempo of this fast-moving revue increases with each number to the whirlwind finale, "Poison Booze," starring Harry Harrigan, an exceedingly funny Hebrew comic.

This skit detailing the troubles of two strangers in the city getting a quart of good Scotch is worth the price of admission alone. Very well played all the way through—and the climax is a knockout.

Other skits causing much laughter were "Ritz Service," "House of David" and "Base Drum."

The feminine members of the company came in for a big share of the generous applause. What could be sweeter than pretty Betty Colton tossing her blonde curls while singing "Oceans of Love," Vilma Joszy and Ethel Cushing in several hot and peppy songs, or several other feminine specialists doing their torso-tossing? They all worked hard, both principals and chorus, and received a big hand from the more than satisfied customers.

An old-timer, back again, John Quigg, billed as the "Accordion King," has lost none of his popularity over the summer.

H. E. Steger, 68, Dies Following Operation

Farmville, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—H. E. Steger, 68, for many years prominent in Farmville business circles, died here last night from complications, which followed an operaton for appendicitis. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

His widow, and three daughters, Mrs. A. D. Watkins, of Norfolk; Mrs. B. F. Pulliam, Norfolk, and Mrs. Harry Driskill, of Eastville, survive.

20 Police Heads to Confer.

Police department heads of twenty sections in nearby Virginia will meet in Alexandria tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, on invitation of Capt. John S. Arnold, of Alexandria, to outline plans for the establishment of a police school here, as authorized by the Virginia State Police Executive Association.

BOY, 3, IS CRUSHED AS CAR OVERTURNS

Auto Driven by Father Skids and Leaves Highway Near Triangle, Va.

A 3-year-old child was crushed to death early yesterday, when pinned beneath the wreckage of an automobile which overturned after skidding from the highway near Triangle, Va.

The car was driven by the child's father, John Broderick, of Quantico, Va. Rounding a curve about a mile south of Triangle, the machine suddenly skidded on a slippery portion of the road and careened into a nearby field.

John Broderick, jr., youngest of three children, was thrown from the car, which overturned on its body. The baby was almost instantly killed.

Broderick, his wife and two other children were returning from a trip to Freedricksburg, Va.

The family were formerly from New Bedford, Conn. They had lived in Quantico only a brief time. The child will be buried in New Bedford.

Martinsburg Stores Hit by $50,000 Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 25.—Fire of unknown origin, starting in a rear second-story room, at midnight last night did heavy damage to the building and stocks of Thompson & Thompson, men's clothing store, and L. A. Roberts, jeweler, in the heart of the downtown district here. Lighter damage was done to the clothing store and stock of L. Lipsic and J. J. Newberry business, adjoining on either side.

The extent of the damage is estimated at $50,000. Two firemen, H. L. Sayles and John Stanley, were injured.

Steel Production Highest Since June

Regarded as Showing Most Vivid Evidence Yet of Market Strength.

Cleveland, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—"Shaking off the mild reaction of a week ago, the iron and steel industry has rallied the most conclusive evidence yet of active market strength and has resumed its forward march in production," said Steel today.

"Up two points to 17 per cent, steel production in the week ended September 24 was the highest since last June," the magazine said, in its weekly survey. "While Youngstown mills were expanding 3 points, eastern Pennsylvania 2 and Pittsburgh 1, other districts were holding their own.

"If tentative schedules for this week are followed, a further gain in operations is assured. It now appears reasonably certain that the September daily average steel rate will exceed August, and probably also July."

U.S. Probers Open Insull Quiz Today

Combine Forces in Chicago to Consider Action in Financial Crash.

Chicago, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Virtually a special department of the United States Government will be created when heads of Federal investigating agencies combine forces tomorrow to plan their scrutiny of the complex Insull Utilities kingdom.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green will head the investigation, ordered to ascertain if the financial mechanics Samuel Insull employed in building his utility holdings into a $3,000,000,000 organization "violated any statutes of the United States." The exact course the investigation will take has not been announced by Green, but the following officials were expected to meet with him tomorrow:

K. P. Aldrich, chief postal inspector; William A. McSwain, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Chicago; A. P. Madden, chief of the special intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Department; C. W. Herrick, Internal Revenue agent, and William J. Froelich, first assistant to the district attorney.

Editor Says Press Being Feminized

Caters to Women Because of Buying Power They Wield, Is View.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 25.—The American press is rapidly being feminized, writes Allen Cleaton, managing editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, in the October issue of the Virginia Quarterly Review.

In introducing his article, "The Press in Petticoats," Mr. Cleaton quotes a notice posted on the bulletin board of the New York World-Telegram. This managing editor was instructing that "news stories be written from a 'woman's angle,' whenever possible," and that headline writers should strive to interest women in their captions.

"The note on the bulletin board of the World-Telegram is placed in the spotlight because its managing editor felt the time had come to speak quite frankly to his staff about the advisability of increasing the paper's appeal to women readers. Its appearance was an important milestone in the feminizing of the American press. This feminizing process is now going on rapidly."

Mr. Cleaton traces the origin of this feminizing process back to the discovery that women purchase 85 per cent of all the merchandise sold in America.

Olga Dallaz Sings in Warsaw.

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Olga Dallaz, wife of Maj. Ermer Yeager, United States military attache here, sang in a benefit program today to raise funds for the Warsaw Radium Institute. She sang American Indian, Negro, Polish, Roumanian and Czech songs in costume. High Polish officials attended the recital.

Blind Man Wins Merit Medal.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Kelton Roten, of Huntington, W. Va., has been awarded the Capt. Charles W. Brown Memorial Medal for the school year 1931-32, it was announced today by the American Foundation for the Blind. The medal is awarded annually to the outstanding blind student among those who receive a foundation scholarship.

Alexandria Group Continues Custom in Program at George Mason.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 932.

The annual emblem breakfast of the Alexandria Business and Professional Women's Club was held in the George Mason Hotel yesterday, with Miss M. Alice Gronau, emblem chairman, in charge of the program. The custom of having an emblem breakfast was established during the regime of Miss Alice H. Whitton as president of the club.

The invocation was by the Rev. Dr. William B. McIlwaine, jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, followed by the welcome by the club president, Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson. Stephen H. Field sang, accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Book. An interpretation of the emblem was given by Mrs. Anita N. Sayles and Miss Rietta Butler, with piano and violin obligato by Mrs. D. C. Book and Miss Grace Powell. Miss Lucy Graves sang and a reading was given by Mrs. Laura Sullivan. Emblem benediction in unison by the club and the benediction by Dr. McIlwaine closed the ceremony.

Special guests were Mrs. Maffett, emblem chairman of the Arlington County Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mrs. Helen Collins, vice president, and Mrs. Hatchell, of that club; Miss Dorothy McDonald, of the Lynchburg Club; Mrs. William B. McIlwaine, Miss Katherine D. Power and Mrs. John W. Tulloch.

Safety Congress to Make Suggestions on Traffic

Recommendations based on a study of traffic accidents by the National Safety Council looking toward the reduction thereof will be presented to the twenty-first annual safety congress here October 3.

Engineering, educational and enforcement remedies, and the enlistment of cooperation by city, State, and Federal governments and the securing of the help of schools, industrial concerns and associations of all kinds are the main outlines of the recommendations.

ODDS ON SCHMELING OVER WALKER RANGE TO 3-1

Crowder Wins 26th Game as Nats Defeat Macks in Final, 2-1

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 25.—They're sending boxing's Happy Warrior, Mickey Walker, in the ring against Maxie Schmeling tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden's new bowl of punch at Long Island City, and if you think a good little man can beat a good big man, you can get 2 or 3 to 1 for all that you care to risk.

They say the man who wins tomorrow's fight will get the next shot at Jack Sharkey's world championship belt. Walker, once the welterweight champion, later the middleweight champion, who hurdled the lightheavy class in his bid for the heavyweight fame, would look very fetching, indeed, with Sharkey's crown atop his brow. But to this department the picture appears too far fetched.

They're asking Mickey to give Schmeling five years in age, 6½ inches in height, 26 pounds in weight and 6 inches in reach. That's why the odds are what they are. If Walker gallops home with the decision tomorrow night with the impost he is asked to carry, then this department is sadly amiss in its reckoning.

Little World Series Umpires Announced

Baltimore, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Jack Carroll and William H. Summers, of the International League, and Larry Goetz and George Johnston, of the American Association, have been agreed upon to officiate during the "little wold series," opening at Newark tomorrow.

This announcement, made tonight by Charles H. Knapp, president of the International organization, completes the setting of the stage for the event, in which the Newark Bears, winners in the International League, are to meet the American Association champions, Minneapolis.

Tigers Rally to Beat Browns in Ninth, 5-4

Detroit, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—After trailing the St. Louis Browns for most of the game, the Detroit Tigers tied the score in the eighth inning with a pair of home runs today, then won in the ninth, 5 to 4, with three successive singles.

Doljack, recently returned from New Orleans, got one of the circuit blows and Walker the other. Davis, Gehringer and Doljack contributed the singles that won the game. The game rang down the curtain at Navin Field on the American League season.

Athletics Escape Shutout On Foxx's 58th Home Run Into Stands in 9th Inning

Nats' Veteran Beats Cain, Rookie, in Brilliant Duel.

Drives by Cronin and Kuhel Send Home Washington Runs.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

PHILADELPHIA, most despised of the Nats' rivals in the league, beat them out for second place in the race, but Manager Walter Johnson and his crew yesterday obtained some little satisfaction by winning the final game of the year from them, 2 to 1, and thus gaining an edge over the Men of Mack in season's meetings, 12 to 10.

"General" Alvin Crowder, seeking his fifteenth successive victory and his twenty-fifth of the season, used the triumph to step out of a tie with Lefty Bob Grove for the most games won by a major league flinger this year. And he went about his work in a most businesslike fashion, completing the job in the near-record time of 1 hour 17 minutes and being robbed of a shut-out by Jimmy Foxx, who propelled his 58th homer of the year with none on in the ninth by lofting one deep into the stands in left.

Foxx Gets Homer and Two Singles.

Foxx, having given up hope of getting the three round-trippers needed to give him a tie with Babe Ruth's 1927 record of 60, was up there swinging for any kind of hits on the chance that he might take the league batting crown from Dale Alexander, of the Red Sox. Besides his homer, he was credited with two singles and a walk in four trips to the tee, but unofficial averages show that he failed in this aim, too, ending three points behind his Boston rival, who obtained two hits in four times up.

Crowder yielded but half a dozen hits and, but for Foxx's homer, not an allen reached third, while only two others progressed as far as second. He was in no real trouble any stage of the proceedings.

"Sugar" Cain, a promising rookie, toed the slab for the Mackmen and he twirled well enough to win the ordinary game. He allowed but seven safeties. Four were packed into the first inning, but they netted the Nats but one marker due to the fact that a double play came between the first two, Kerr hitting into it after Rice had opened the game with a single. Then followed successive one-basers by Reynolds, Cronin and Kuhel which produced the marker.

Simmons Makes Fine Catch.

A fine catch by Simmons, which robbed Kuhel of an extra-baser in the sixth, prevented another run, for Cronin was on second at the time as a result of McNair's two-base wild heave past Foxx on the Nat shortstop's grasser, and this was about the only opportunity the Nats had until the eighth, when they scored what proved to be the winning run. Cain walked Rice as a starter and Kerr's sacrifice and Cronin's double turned this walk into a run.

Of Washington's seven hits, Cronin obtained two to lead the native pillpounders, while Foxx's trio accounted for half of the allen attack.

Nats Divide Series Cut Into 29 Shares

Burke and McAfee to Get Half Shares; Players Scatter.

Washington players have voted to divide their third-place world's series money into 29 shares, it was learned yesterday, following a meeting of the players. All of the regulars, including Manager Walter Johnson, Secretary E. B. Eynon, jr., Coaches Altrock, Schacht, Gharrity and Ainsmith and Trainer Mike Martin will get full shares.

Clubhouse Boy Frankie Baxter will draw three-quarters of a share, Pitchers Burke and McAfee will get half a share each, and Groundkeeper Emil Haisman has been voted one-fourth of a share. The players have decided to make up a purse for Pitcher Luther (Bud) Thomas.

With their year's work completed, the Washington players last night were making plans for the off-season. Manager Walter Johnson, Sam Rice, Ossie Bluege, Joe Judge and Nick Altrock will winter in Washington, but all of the others already have made plans to hike for their respective homes within the next day or so. Heinie Manush was excused Saturday night and had left before yesterday's game.

Three Nats will tarry a while for operations before going home for the winter. Pitcher Luther (Bud) Thomas and Shortstop Joe Cronin will have their tonsils yanked here within the next few days, while Pitcher Alphonse Thomas is scheduled to go to Chicago tomorrow or Wednesday to have an operation performed on his salary wing. Physicians have discovered a small growth on the elbow of his right arm which must be removed if he plans to remain in baseball—and "Tommy" says he has no other plans.

Only three Nats will do any barnstorming. Moe Berg is going to Honolulu to play and then to Japan to coach, while Joe Judge and Al Schacht have been signed up by Earl Mack on a combination which opens in Brooklyn Wednesday and then will work its way to and through Canada. Grove, Gomez and Gehrig are members of this team.

Bluege made a fine try for Foxx's sharp roller well over toward short in the fourth, but the best he could do was to knock it down with his gloved hand and the blow went as a hit.

Kuhel coaxed the first walk of the game, drawing it on four successive balls in the home fourth.

Simmons robbed Kuhel of an extra-base hit and the Nats of a run in the sixth, taking a liner at arm's length overhead close to the stands in left.

YANKS GIVEN EDGE OVER CUBS

Ruth and Gehrig Not Only Advantage, Says Expert.

(This is the fifth and last of a series comparing the strength of the Cubs and Yankees, world series arrays.)

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Off hand it would seem as though the New York Yankees had a decided strategical advantage over the Chicago Cubs, even discounting the forceful reasoning that lurks in the home run bats of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

Back in 1929, Joe McCarthy, now the field director of Col. Jake Ruppert's $5,000,000 baseball property, managed these same Cubs in a world series with the Philadelphia Athletics. If any one should know their weaknesses, McCarthy is the man.

For that series they showed him just about all the weaknesses one club can hold. In one game, the A's scored ten runs in a single inning. The Cubs did everything wrong. They could win but one game in five.

Cubs New Players to Him, Says McCarthy.

Charley Grimm, now in the Cub pilot seat, was just a first baseman then, one of McCarthy's boys. He may have been an apt pupil. But he certainly had no chance that year to learn from observation how things were done correctly and world series won.

McCarthy insists, however, that having once managed the Cubs gives him no mental advantage.

"Three years is a long time," he said. "Sure enough many of the old gang are still there—Grimm, Gabby Hartnett, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, Woody English, Charley Root, Guy Bush, Pat Malone, Lon Warneke, Footsie Blair, Chuck Klein, Phil Cavarretta, Billy Jurges, Clyde Beck, Bill Jurges, Ken O'Dea, Jim Mosolf, Ethan Allen, Rollie Hemsley, Lance Richbourg, Tex Carleton, Ripper Collins, Roy Henshaw, Jim Weaver, Art Nehf, Ed Holley, Bud Teachout, Fabian Kowalik, Sheriff Blake, Jim Cooney, Charley Gelbert, Babe Herman, Johnny Moore, Zack Taylor, Hack Wilson, Lefty O'Doul, Dazzy Vance, Al Lopez, Al Spohrer, Tony Cuccinello, Babe Phelps, Fred Fitzsimmons, Van Mungo, Watty Clark, Ray Benge, Ben Cantwell, Wally Berger, Ed Brandt, Jim Turner, Ben Chapman, Red Lucas, Pete Donohue, Hod Lisenbee, Ray Kolp, Ivy Andrews, Jack Russell, Ed Wells, Jim Elliott, Ed Heusser, Jim Bottomley, Dick Bartell, Gus Mancuso, Leo Durocher, Jimmy Wilson, Ray Starr, Bill Swift, Jim Weaver, Ed Baecht, Jim Lindsey, Ed Morgan, Jim Tobin, Al Spohrer, Al Shealy, Ed Boland, Ed Brandt, Ed Head, Ed Wells, Ed Holley, Ed Heusser, Ed Baecht, Ed Morgan

TWO GOLF CLUB CHAMPIONSHIPS DECIDED IN WEEK-END PLAY

Pitt Retains Crown at Manor

Beaver Dam Honors to Mrs. Emge; Miller Beats McCarthy.

Other News, Scores of Competitions on Capital Links.

By DAVE HERMAN.

TWO golf championships were decided yesterday, while several other District club tournaments swung into either the final or semi-final round of play. Harry Pitt was crowned Manor Club king, while Mrs. Ora Emge annexed the women's championship at Beaver Dam.

Rallying after being one down at the turn, Pitt defeated C. W. Stoddard, 3 and 2, to carry off the Manor title for the second successive year. Pitt, who in the semi-finals eliminated H. K. Beck, 6 and 5, climaxed the match with Stoddard by sinking an 8-footer for a birdie three on the sixteenth hole. Stoddard earned the right to meet the champion by disposing of W. W. Dean, 3 and 2.

Results in the six flights of the Manor tournament follow:

FIRST FLIGHT—Semi-finals—Harry Pitt defeated H. K. Beck, 6 and 5; C. W. Stoddard defeated W. W. Dean, 3 and 2. Pitt defeated Stoddard, 1 up; 2 and 2.

Consolation — George Miller defeated Dave Thomson, 2 and 1.

SECOND FLIGHT—Semi-finals—K. S. Patten defeated B. G. Gamble, 1 up, 19 holes; George Landick, jr., defeated George Ashton, 4 and 3. Landick defeated Patten, 1 up, 19 holes.

Consolation—C. G. Strom defeated E. H. Teague, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT—Semi-finals—F. T. Early defeated J. A. Cosgrove, 1 up; Frank Smith defeated R. F. Garrity, 1 up. Early defeated Smith, 3 and 2.

Consolation—J. A. McKeever defeated George Meyer, 1 up, 20 holes.

FOURTH FLIGHT — Semi-finals — G. C. Billard defeated E. J. Merrick, jr., 6 and 5; W. W. England defeated A. E. Turner, 2 up. England defeated Billard, 2 and 1.

Consolation—M. R. Colbert defeated J. G. Taylor, 1 and 2.

FIFTH FLIGHT—H. J. Kane defeated P. M. Grogan by default; J. S. Ebert defeated C. H. Gerner, 4 and 2. Ebert defeated Kane, 4 and 3.

Consolation — A. C. Hullican defeated M. H. Irvin, 2 and 1.

SIXTH FLIGHT—C. R. Lops defeated E. A. Strudley, 3 and 2.

Consolation—J. J. Simons defeated H. E. Kimball, 1 up, 19 holes.

Harry Pitt and 14-year-old Billy Dettwiler, tied for top honors in the ringer tournament which ended yesterday at Manor. Each shot the two nines in 52 strokes, Pitt had 15 birdies and 2 eagles, while Billy rifled 17 birdies and 1 eagle. Maurice Nee and E. J. Carver tied for third prize with 53 each. The ringer event was started May 28, and attracted a record field.

Martin F. McCarthy's defeat at the hands of the cosharer of medal honors, J. R. Miller, featured yesterday's activities in the annual Beaver Dam Club championship. Miller, shooting a 75, conquered McCarthy, 3 and 2, after leading 2 up going to the tenth. His victory placed him in the semifinal round with C. H. Phipps as his opponent.

Results in the championship and other flights follow

FIRST FLIGHT—C. H. Phipps defeated Ted Butler, 4 and 3; J. R. Miller defeated M. F. McCarthy, 3 and 2; J. F. Baggett defeated R. M. Brown, 2 and 1. M. H. Maier-J. M. Palmer match postponed.

Consolation—F. E. Bailey defeated W. H. White, 2 and 1; H. Bailey defeated M. P. Patterson, 2 and 1.

SECOND FLIGHT—P. R. Baker defeated L. F. Meany, 3 and 1; H. Wellbliss defeated H. L. Kengla, 4 and 3; F. B. Hessler defeated E. H. Helmer, 2 and 1; A. F. Fischer defeated D. F. Sheehy, 1 up.

Consolation—M. R. Harrell defeated R. Chamberlain, 1 up; R. F. Lynch defeated W. T. Henderson, 1 up, 19 holes; M. B. Shaw defeated R. Escher, 3 and 2; J. W. Gregory defeated Schaefer, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT—W. A. Johns defeated L. O. Brien, 1 up; W. M. Davis defeated R. C. Mitchell, 1 up; C. B. Carver defeated J. Hutchison, 3 and 2; Morris H. Taliaferro defeated Dr. J. Friedman, 7 and 6.

Consolation—C. F. Stone defeated F. Thirwell, 4 and 2; C. Herrmann defeated A. W. Tucker, 2 up; M. C. Taylor defeated L. C. Winters, 4 and 3; J. H. Vance defeated J. Efferen, 4 and 3.

FOURTH FLIGHT—C. B. Morris defeated T. H. Burdette, 2 and 1; J. Z. Saverise defeated J. G. Bell by default; A. B. Evans defeated W. P. Stoner, 2 up; E. Sechrest defeated R. Zuber, 2 and 1.

Medalist in the tournament, Mrs. Ora Emge, won the Beaver Dam championship by beating Mrs. R. C. Mitchell, 3 and 2. Mrs. Emge commanded the lead throughout, and was 2 up at the half-way mark. Mrs. C. E. Purdy captured the second flight by defeating Mrs. Rex Weaver, 2 up, while Mrs. M. C. Patterson toppled Mrs. G. A. Ford, 1 up, to take honors in the fourth flight. The finals between Mrs. D. Mattison and Mrs. Gertrude Strong in the third division was postponed.

Mrs. Betty Meckley, medalist, forged into the semifinals of the Indian Spring women's tournament by trimming Mrs. A. Heap, 8 and 7. She was joined by Mrs. J. W. Harvey, jr., who defeated Miss M. Lumsden, 6 and 5; Mrs. Don Scott, who turned back Mrs. E. B. Wagner, 6 and 5, and Mrs. J. V. Brownell, who conquered Mrs. J. F. Cross, 4 and 3.

Three second round matches were played in the championship flight of the Indian Spring men's tournament over the week-end. Arthur Urban took J. V. Brownell in tow, 5 and 3; J. W. Harvey, jr., defeated J. F. Hauser, 6 and 5, while Dr. L. S. Otell humbled Alex Baumgartner, 3 and 2. Tom Belshe, defending champion, will play his match with Leo Pass this week. The winner will clash with Dr. Otell. Urban and Harvey meet in the top bracket.

Due to an operation for appendicitis, Max Weyl, who set the pace in the qualifying round with 77, was forced to default his match to Sam Kaufman in the opening round of the annual Woodmont Country Club championship.

Favorites in the other matches of the title division romped to victories. Howard Nordlinger, club ace, walloped Morris Simon, 9 and 8, while Melvin Kraft upset Leo V. Freudberg, 6 and 5.

Results of the first round in two flights follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Sam Kaufman defeated Max Weyl by default; Fulton Brzlawski defeated Gilbert Hahn, 3 and 2; Milton Harris defeated Stanley Fischer, 5 and 3; William Ilich defeated Dr. E. E. Leifer, 6 and 5; Dr. S. D. Gotlieb defeated Harry King by default; Morris Goldstein defeated Henry Kaufman, 2 up; Melvin Kraft defeated L. V. Freudberg, 6 and 5; Howard Nordlinger defeated Morris Simon, 9 and 8.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Arthur Marks won by default from Morton Wilner; A. J. Stephens defeated Edgar Baum, 6 and 4; Robert Baum defeated C. D. Kaufmann, 7 and 6; Sidney Kaufman defaulted to Nelson Biechman; Sidney Reizenstein defaulted to Stanley Glaser; Morris Bildman, leading 4 up, won by default from Jack Shulman when latter was taken ill on thirteenth; Philip Peyser defeated Lewis Hertzberg, 2 and 1; Morris Eiseman defeated L. Goldheim, 6 and 5.

Arthur Marks, jr., with 97—28—69, annexed sweepstakes honors at Woodmont yesterday. Howard Nordlinger was second with 76—5—71, while Fulton Brylawski took third with 84—12—72.

The 18-hole handicap tournament to decide the Woodmont senior championship went to Harry King, who shot a 91 and had a 22 handicap for 69. Isaac Behrend had 94—22—72, and Isaac Goldenberg, 104—28—72 to tie for second.

William P. DiEste and J. B. Harmon will clash next Sunday at Argyle Country Club to decide the championship as a result of victories yesterday. DiEste defeated Donald Dudley, 3 and 2, while Harmon put out J. J. (Tim) Reardon, 3 and 2.

Results in the flights:

FIRST FLIGHT—W. P. DiEste defeated D. G. Dudley, 3 and 2; J. B. Harmon defeated J. J. Reardon, 3 and 2.

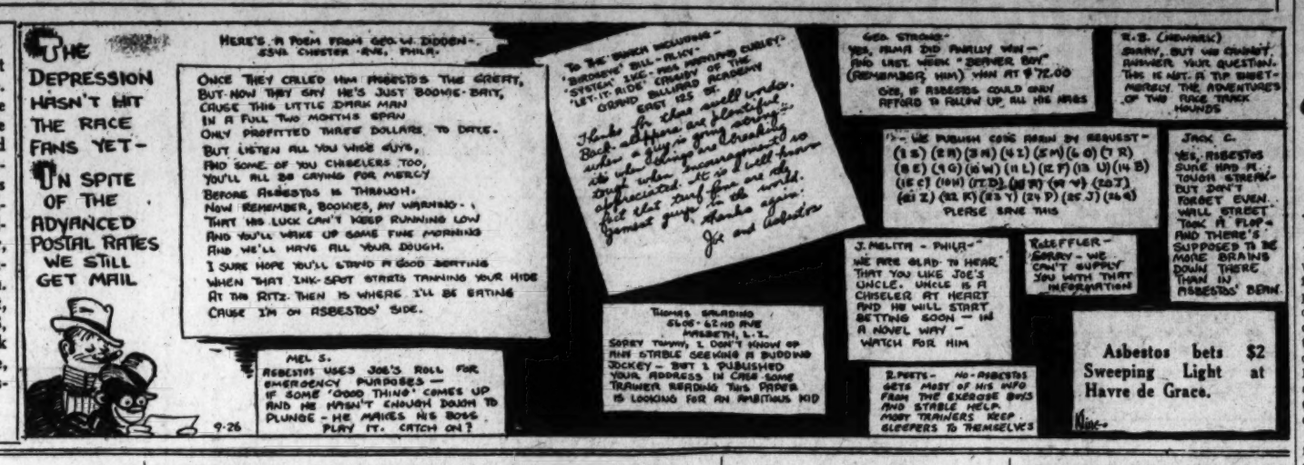
JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Asbestos is at Havre de Grace. Today's horse comes from the training wizard Max Hirsh, himself. Joe bets $2 on his handicap horses: Filter, Protractor, Mad Wind, Burnside, Raccoon. Code, Aqueduct, 14, 2, 3, 17, 8, 7, 11, 6, 9. Bank rolls are: Joe, $153.95; Asbestos, $17.83.



AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, SEPT. 25.

DEAR AL:

A lot of the wise boys had the Whitney Light Blues over the week-end. They went down on that sure thing parlay of Equipoise and Top Flight. We had two winners—Mr. Sponge and Kneehigh—and landed Osculator second for the big dough.

Most of the horses have had a crack at the racing here and my line on them should improve. Expect to dig up some good things this week. I'm mighty confident of my selections for tomorrow, Al. I've been wrong before. However, this is not Chicago and I have hopes.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—I'm not looking beyond FILTER for the winner of the first. This son of Sweep gave a brilliant exhibition, under the handling of Bejshak, in his victory here. Practically left at the post, this one waded through the field to defeat Hell Diver. NEW SON is a pretty high-class trick and is the one to beat. ESPINETTA looked good the last race.

SECOND RACE—McDONALD H. has spent his short racing career on the half-milers. This one has given a good account of himself on each appearance and will appreciate the absence of the turns. May pay off in telephone numbers. This is the spot. SIR KENDALL and BURNSIDE are the ones he must beat.

THIRD RACE—I'm going to send GRAND PRINCE back to beat this group. VISHNU is speed and has a good spot. LADFIELD drops down a peg or two and PROTRACTOR ran a sizzling race the last time.

FOURTH RACE—ILLUSIVE goes for me in this. Gets in light and an outside post has seldom bothered her. Providing she draws a capable rider, it looks like a win at a good price. DISDAINFUL won five of six in New York. GLORITONE is dangerous.

FIFTH RACE—SWEEPING LIGHT appears well suited here. But I look for a fine battle, with PORTDEN supplying most of the contention. Had a hard time separating these. CHIEF JOHN is dangerous.

SIXTH RACE—BLACK JACKET may get away faster tomorrow and take this purse. Gained ground the last time against Osculator and the rest. OLD MASTER is a live horse. WATCH HIM for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—NIGHT PATROL won for me in that fine race the other day. Has beaten SUNVIR up the line and will be ridden by Coucci. SUNVIR and RACCOON for the rest.

Chattanooga Wins Dixie Series Game

Downs Beaumont, 6-4, to Gain 3-1 Lead; May Cop Title Today.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 25 (U.P.).—The Chattanooga Lookouts, champions of the Southern Association, made it three straight over the Beaumont exporters, champions of the Texas League, by winning the fourth game of the thirteenth annual Dixie series here today, 6 to 4.

The game was played partly in the rain, and was featured by heavy slugging. A crowd of about 10,900 fans turned out to witness it.

The fifth and possibly deciding game of the series will be played here Monday. A Chattanooga victory would close the title play, but a Beaumont victory would mean another game.

President Joe Engel, of Chattanooga and Owner Rube Stewart, of Beaumont, flipped a coin after Sunday's game to determine where the next two games would be played. Engel won, electing to have the games played here.

MRS. TAYLOR STARS AT ARCHERY

Capital Woman Sets National Record, Is Belief.

MRS. JOSEPHINE TAYLOR, of 1460 Irving street northwest, yesterday established what is believed to be a new world's archery record in the invitation tournament sponsored yesterday at the Polo Field by the Potomac Archers.

Rolling up a total of 1,052 points from a double Columbia of 144 arrow shots, Mrs. Taylor bested the 1,046 mark made by Dorothy Duggan, of Greenwich, Conn., in the national meet at Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1931. Mrs. Taylor scored 534 in the morning, and in the afternoon her arrows pierced the bull's-eye, 14 out of 18 times. Mrs. Arthur Blackburn, Baltimore, was second with 640; Mrs. H. Scallowhill, Baltimore, third, with 603, and Miss Elizabeth Elmer, Wayne, Pa., fourth with 444.

William C. Skinner, Ellicott City, Md., State champion, won the men's event with 762 points, shooting in the Potomac and American rounds. J. R. DeBruler, was second with 738 and L. B. Olmstead, third, with 731. Dr. R. P. Elmer, Wayne, Pa., seven times national archery champion, finished with 690.

An Old Dominion Archery Association was formed on the field. W. O. Robinson, Falls Church, Va., was elected president; S. J. Makielski, of Charlottesville, Va., vice president, and H. S. Callowhill, of Baltimore, secretary and treasurer.

French A. C. Beaten By Front Royals, 4-3

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., Sept. 25.—The Front Royal All-Stars defeated the French Athletic Club of Washington, D. C., in a hard-fought battle here this afternoon by the score of 4 to 3. Lefty McIntire, who pitched for the locals, provided the winning run by singling to right center with Lyle McFall on third base in the last of the ninth.

Both McIntire and Lyons allowed ten hits and granted four free passes.

MISS KIRSON BEATEN IN FINALS

Mrs. Martinez Wins at Wardman, 6-2 and 6-0.

MRS. RUTH B. MARTINEZ, young Spanish teacher from Eastern High School, clinched her place at the top of Washington's women's tennis yesterday at Wardman Park Hotel when she administered a decisive beating to Reba Kirson, well known in both Baltimore and Washington net circles, 6—2, 6—0.

Cutting down the heretofore invulnerable defense of Miss Kirson, Mrs. Martinez stroked hard-hit drives with beautiful precision and speed throughout the entire match, maintaining an excellent length on her strokes and never letting down, as she went about the business of beating the girl who beat her for the City of Washington title.

Mrs. Martinez Wins 11 Games In Row.

So airtight was the play of the victor that she won 11 straight games after Miss Kirson had achieved a 2-1 lead in the first set. Mrs. Martinez, hitting with equal skill off forehand and backhand, lost only five points in the second set.

Victory yesterday clinched the No. 1 ranking of the District for the smooth stroking school ma'm. She won the public parks tournament here in July, the women's tennis league championship, was runner-up in the City of Washington and semi-finalist in the District tournament.

YANKS HOLD SERIES EDGE OVER RIVALS

son, Woody English, Guy Bush, Charley Root, Pat Malone.

"But styles change in that time and so do players. They learn and they do things differently. They're like new ball players to me now."

Grimm has the same sort of idea. His great hope is that the change has been for the better.

While McCarthy and his strategic staff, consisting of Jimmy "Sunset" Burke, also a veteran of the 1929 debacle, and Art Fletcher, are long on master minding, neither they nor Grimm go in heavily for the Connie Mack school of scorecard waving strategy. Neither side fancies the bewildering pitching shifts and mysteries that intrigued Connie.

Cubs Must Think and Play For Selves.

Grimm, with Charley O'Leary and John Corriden to help him choose his pitchers, and figure the proper moments to insert pinch hitters, is a stanch advocate of putting a team's problems directly before the members. When he took over the management of the Cubs in August, he told them it was as much their team as his. They must win or lose for themselves. His world series strategy will be much the same.

Similarly McCarthy, with power to burn, needs but to sit tight in the driver's seat and pick his pitchers if the Yankee machine is hitting on all cylinders.

But a streak of wildness, such as has affected three of his pitching aces, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing and Johnny Allen, might force McCarthy to throw the burden to Walter Brown, 230-pound right-hander, who has pitched three fine victories this month, or ageing Herb Pennock, never beaten in five world series games.

A shortstop problem might develop between Lyn Lary and young Frank Crosetti, and a sign of outfield weakness, even among such stalwarts as Ruth, Combs and Chapman, will find Sammy Byrd, a streak hitter liable to run wild at any time, waiting on the bench as a possible solution.

Once certain strategic maneuver is a shift of Ruth to left field in Chicago.

Grimm May Alternate, Demaree, Moore.

As far as Grimm's outfield is concerned, the only likely chance is Frank Demaree, a right-hand hitter, in place of Johnny Moore, a southpaw swinger, against Yankee left-hand pitching. Bill Jurges and Mark Koenig may be shuttled around at shortstop.

Otherwise it seems a case of opening the throttle for both teams and letting them go.

PROPOSALS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Office of the Supervising Architect, Washington, D. C., September 23rd, 1932.—Sealed bids in duplicate subject to the conditions contained herein, will be publicly opened in this office at 3 p. m., Friday, October 28th, 1932, for furnishing all labor and materials and performing all work for the construction (except elevators and dumbwaiters) of the U. S. archives building at Washington, D. C. The prevailing rate of wage shall be paid all laborers and mechanics employed on the project as provided in the Act of March 3, 1931 (Public No. 798). Not exceeding 6 sets of drawings and specifications will be furnished to the prospective bidders upon application therefor, when such application is accompanied by a deposit of $100.00 for each set to insure its return. One set will be furnished builders' exchanges, chambers of commerce or other organizations who will guarantee to make them available for any sub-contractor or material firm interested, and to quantity surveyors, provided a deposit of $100.00 is made to assure its prompt return. Checks offered as deposits must be made payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. Cash deposits will not be acceptable. Each bid must be accompanied by a statement of facts in detail of the business and technical organization of the bidder available for the contemplated work, including financial resources and building experience, and no consideration will be given to a bid which is not accompanied by said statement. The right is reserved to reject any bid where an investigation of the evidence submitted by such bidder does not satisfy the contracting officer that such bidder is qualified to carry out properly the terms of the contract. In awarding a contract, consideration will not be given to bidders who have not constructed within the last six years at least one building comparable with the project for which the bid is submitted. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond of at least 50 per cent of the contract price. JAS. A. WETMORE, Acting Supervising Architect. 26,28,30

HOOVER TO PRESIDE IN NEW POSTOFFICE CORNER STONE RITE

Work on $10,500,000 Job to Start Today; Brown and Smoot to Speak.

President Hoover this afternoon will lay the cornerstone of the new $10,500,000 Postoffice Department building 143 years after the wheels of an humble postal system started to turn.

Bounded by Pennsylvania avenue, Twelfth and Thirteenth streets and Constitution avenue, the huge structure will be completed in 1934.

The exercises are scheduled to start promptly at 3:30 p. m. The invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Allen Stockdale. Postmaster General Brown will deliver an address, followed by one by Senator Reed Smoot. Following this the President will speak, after which he will lay the stone. The benediction will be said by the Right Rev. Mgr. Edward L. Buckey. Music will be furnished by the United States Marine Band.

Employes of the City Postoffice will march in a body to the site of the new building to take part in the exercises. They will be accompanied by the Army Band under the direction of Capt. Louis J. Fielder.

Ceremony to Be Broadcast.

More than 1,200 invitations have been mailed to persons to attend the ceremonies. Arrangements have been made to seat approximately 2,000 persons. The entire program will be broadcast over a Nation-wide radio hook-up.

Immediately following the laying of the stone the present Pennsylvania avenue at Eleventh street local station will be renamed the Benjamin Franklin station.

On September 22, 1789, President George Washington appointed Samuel Osgood, of Massachusetts, as the first Postmaster General. Four days later on September 2 a skeleton postal system started operations.

Plans for the new building contemplate two great semicircles, one on Twelfth and one on Thirteenth street, with two large courts connected to streets by driveways, with a straight wing on the avenue. The structure will also be bordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission Building now being built.

Limestone will be used on the entire structure with the exception of the base, which will be of granite. The building will be of eight stories in height with a basement.

Will Transfer All Offices.

All of the activities now housed in the present Postoffice Building will be transferred to the building when it is completed. The important Division of Stamps, now accommodated in the Washington City Postoffice, will also be under the roof of the new structure.

The third floor of the building will be occupied by the Postmaster General, and his offices, which will include a conference room and a reception room. The present familiar Postoffice Department Building was erected in 1899. At that time the fiscal receipts for the year ended June 30 were $95,021,384. The postal business of the Nation had increased to a showing of $656,463,383 on June 30, 1931, for the fiscal year.

Policeman Is Injured In Motorcycle Crash

Policeman L. H. Peterson, attached to the Traffic Bureau, suffered severe lacerations to his right knee yesterday when his motorcycle skidded and overturned at Piney Branch road and Butternut street northwest.

Peterson was following fire apparatus to a small blaze in the Herald Publishing Co., in Takoma Park. As he turned into Butternut street from Piney Branch road his motorcycle skidded, throwing him to the ground. He was treated at Walter Reed Hospital.

Engineers to Open Convention Today

Legislation for Regulation of Trade Is One of Topics for Parley.

The eighteenth annual convention of the American Association of Engineers will open a three-day session at 9 a. m. today at the Shoreham Hotel. A number of leaders in industrial and business fields will address the organization during its sessions.

Legislation looking to the regulation of the practice of engineering and registration of engineers will be among the chief items to be discussed by the association. Donald L. Chamberlin, president of the Washington Chapter of the organization, will preside at the opening session today.

Among speakers at the convention will be John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner of the District; Chester Leasure, of the United States Chamber of Commerce; David Lawrence, editor of the United States Daily; John Lyle Harrington, member of the engineering advisory board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Dr. Henry Arnstein, of Philadelphia; V. Bernard Siems, of Philadelphia, and Dr. J. A. L. Waddell.

Summer Festivals For 1933 Planned

Story of Ali Baba and 40 Thieves Likely Theme of First Pantomime.

"The Forty Thieves," the story of Ali Baba, of the Arabian Nights, in dance pantomime form, will probably inaugurate an augmented series of summer festival programs on June 14, next year, in the National Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument Grounds, it was announced yesterday.

This presentation, to be prepared by Miss Bess Davis Schreiner, will be followed by weekly festival programs throughout July and August, closing shortly after September 1, according to present plans.

The ten festival programs given in July and August were attended by 50,000 persons. The entertainment was under the direction of the Community Center Department, the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and the National Capital Civic Fund.

BIG ABSENTEE VOTE IN D.C. IS FORECAST

Number of Electors Here Are Found Ignorant of Right to Cast Ballot.

A near-record mail vote from the 55,000 absentee voters of the District in the presidential election was forecast yesterday by local Republican leaders.

This prediction was based on the relative number of inquiries for information in regard to registration, the number of calls for assistance in preparing registration blanks and the amount of interest being shown in the matter of mail voting, which is possible in two-thirds of the States.

Discovery has been made, it was said, that a large number of qualified voters in the District fail to exercise their rights of suffrage because of misunderstanding of the laws of their States, lack of specific information as to registration and tax requirements, or the mistaken belief that the Civil Service Commission forbids such action.

Laws of a majority of States guarantee Federal employes the right to vote in the town or city from which they came, it was explained, so that absence from the home State usually does not disqualify local residents who are in the Government service from voting. The committee further advised that the Civil Service Commission does not attempt to prevent Government workers from participating in the election, although political campaigning is barred.

Shepherds Open Session Today

Supreme Lodge Members Will Be Received by Hoover Tomorrow.

The supreme lodge of the Order of Shepherds of Bethlehem, comprising members from New England States and the District of Columbia, will open its annual meeting this morning at the Washington Hotel.

Mrs. Josephine Hudson, Stratford, Conn., supreme commander, will preside. The officers will be received by Mrs. Floda Regan, of this city, assisted by the Rainbow Girls. A banquet, followed by dancing, will be held tonight. Members of the lodge will be received by President Hoover at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow at the White House. Election of officers will be the principal business at the afternoon session tomorrow. The convention will close with memorial services tomorrow night.

Members of the order gathered yesterday afternoon at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where a wreath was laid on the tomb by Mrs. Maggie Licarione, oldest past commander of the lodge. She was assisted by Don Moricco and Mrs. Ethel Phythian.

Three Persons Suffer Minor Hurts in Crash

Three persons suffered minor injuries yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with an automobile operated by Henry Warren, 44, of Springfield, Mass., at Thirteenth and Euclid streets northwest.

Sarah Porter, 45, of 4412 Thirteenth street northwest, and Charlotte Wood, 50, of 1326 Quincy street northwest, passengers in an automobile operated by Dr. Frank Porter, 47, of 3512 Thirteenth street northwest, were treated at Garfield Hospital for contusions and lacerations. Dr. Porter was also treated for injuries. A charge of reckless driving was placed against Warren by police of the Second Precinct. He was later released in custody of his attorney.

GOLD STAR MOTHER DAY IS MARKED HERE

100 Who Gave Sons in War Attend Rites at Tomb of Unknown Soldier.

Gathering at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in honor of Gold Star Mothers' Day, more than 100 mothers who lost their sons in the World War bowed their heads in tribute yesterday afternoon to the unknown warrior and his unknown mother.

The ceremony marked the formal observance of Gold Star Mothers' Day, which was inaugurated on Saturday when the mothers were received by President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House.

Mrs. Mathilda Burling, president of the American Gold Star Mothers of the World War, Inc., presided and laid a wreath on the tomb. The call to order and taps were sounded by Corpl. F. Murphy, of the headquarters troop at Fort Myer.

Addresses, in which the mothers were extolled for their supreme sacrifice, were made by Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, representing the Army, and Commander J. F. Shafroth, representing the Navy.

Miss Mary Frances Hall sang "There Is No Death" and "Dear Old Pal," accompanied by the Army Band. The band played the "Star-Spangled Banner," the "Gold Star Mothers' March," "The Unknown Soldier," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The memorial prayer for deceased mothers was made by Mrs. Julia Zimmerman, chaplain of the American Gold Star Mothers of the World War, Inc. The Rev. Andrew Melrose Brodie, S. T. D., of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

More Faith Declared Man's Pressing Need

More faith is man's pressing need, declared the Very Rev. Charles A. Hart, of the department of philosophy of Catholic University, in a sermon before the monthly communion breakfast yesterday at the Nazareth Social Service Center, 200 I street northwest, of the Catholic Evidence Guild.

"A far deeper and more profound faith in the divine is the crying need of man today in his distress. Men can not live without faith, because faith is woven into the very fabric of their lives."

Mother of God Is Topic at C. U.

Catholics Venerate, Not Adore Her, Speaker Declares.

"Catholics do not adore the Virgin Mary, but they do venerate her, because she is the Mother of God-made man, whom they adore," Miss Mary G. Hawks, president of the National Council of Catholic Women, declared yesterday afternoon in an address before the Catholic Evidence Guild on the campus of Catholic University.

"Catholics love Mary," said Miss Hawks, "because as the mother of Christ she is the cause of our joy in the favor and grace of God. We love her also because on the deathbed of the cross Christ gave her to us as a legacy to our mother—'Woman, behold thy son,' and to the disciple, 'Behold thy mother.'

"When we owe so much to Christ, would it not be strange if we paid no tribute to the woman who was His mother, who consented to serve in the great plan of God for our redemption and salvation and clothed in human flesh the eternal word of God?" the speaker asked.

'Peanuts, Red Hot Ones,' Cry Police as Vendors Are Held

The Eighth Police Precinct has adopted a theme song. Perhaps if you passed by the station house last night you heard a chorus of throaty voices harmonizing on the famous "Peanut Vender" song.

From all outward appearances, it looked as though someone in the station had developed a sudden taste for the popular circus delicacy. Seven push carts, each loaded high with peanuts, were lined up in front of the building.

Inside, their owners were awaiting turns to post $5 each on charges of selling on an arterial highway. They were there by orders of Privates H. F. Cornell and J. Mills, who launched a two-man crusade against street vendors, and arrested the men on Connecticut avenue in the vicinity of Chevy Chase Circle.

SPEIDEL WILL BARE ROMANCE OF MODEL AT INQUEST TODAY

Coroner's Jury Will Decide Whether Houseboat Victim Was Suicide.

The story of the relationship between George B. Speidel, 30-year-old amateur artist and Sylvia Rochkin, 23-year-old artists' model, who died of strangulation in a houseboat, will be told today by Speidel at a coroner's inquest at the District Morgue.

Testimony which is expected to be of value in establishing Speidel's statement that the girl died by her own hand is expected to be given by Rufus and William Willard, who occupy a houseboat adjoining that in which the girl died.

On the night of the tragedy, they will testify, both were asleep in their boat, moored in Little River, and heard no sounds of a struggle in the adjoining boat. They will also testify that there was no evident rancor between their neighbors.

Speidel to Bare Relations.

Attorney Joseph D. Kelly, who is representing Speidel, has decided to permit the city postoffice clerk to take the stand and disclose the whole story of his life with the Ozone Park, Long Island, artists' model and school teacher.

The Capital's art colony, as well as students at the Corcoran School of Art and the George Washington University School of Art, where the girl posed for artists, is expected to be well represented at the inquest.

The most sensational testimony is expected to be given by Speidel, who will amplify the statement given by him to police, in which he narrated the history of the affair between him and the artist's model.

Police to Show Fatal Cord.

All of the facts of the investigation of the death will be laid before the coroner's jury by Detective Sergeant John C. Dalglish, of the homicide squad. He will exhibit the bathrobe cord with which, the evidence indicates, the girl caused her death by suspending herself from a rafter in the galley of the boat.

Other witnesses will be Detective Sergeant H. K. Wilson, Harry Lindenschmidt, who sublet the boat to Speidel, and Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald, who viewed the medical evidence at the scene of the tragedy.

Post Model Home Visitors Increase

First Bright Autumn Day Brings Additional Hundreds to House.

The first bright autumn Sunday increased by hundreds the number of persons who have visited The Washington Post model home at 5727 Third place northwest since its formal opening a week ago. This revelation in satisfying home construction was a center of interest throughout the pleasant day.

The opinions of the visitors on the excellent dwelling, one of a group of twelve owned, built and for sale by Boss & Phelps, realtors, were universally favorable. They were delighted with its artistic and substantial construction, its convenient arrangement and the beauty of its furnishing by Hutchison's, Inc.

The home will be open for inspection daily from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening. To reach the home from Sixteenth street or Georgia avenue northwest, drive east on Longfellow street to Fifth street northwest, then north to Nicholson street northwest and east to the group, or take Fourteenth street cars marked Takoma to Third and Nicholson streets and walk a half block to the property.

Religion Is Experience, Is Opinion of Dr. Sizoo

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, speaking yesterday to a capacity congregation at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, defined religion as "an experience of the sense of God, which gives man comradeship in his loneliness and the courage to face life."

"Despite radio, modern transportation and other twentieth century innovations," the pastor said, "man was never so lonely as at the present time. Modern philosophy and the literature of our enlightened age have caused man to wonder what and why he is, and this spiritual or mental loneliness must find consolation in religion."

Dixie Veteran Escapes Plot; Keeps Bonus

Willie Dowd, colored, of Dillon, S. C., had $700 yesterday. With the helpful support of Second Precinct police he still has it today.

Dowd had never been in Washington before. In fact he had never been out of Dillon except once in his life, and that was when he went to France during the World War. Dowd met two "friends" back in the home town, who carefully explained to him that he was entitled to a bonus from the Government.

Consequently all three set out for Washington. Dowd applied for his bonus and got it, $700. His "friends" then suggested they stay a while to see the sights. They went to a house, the location of which Dowd was unable to furnish police, and there met a kindly old woman.

She sensed something was in the wind, and managed to obtain the $700 from Dowd and hid it. She notified police, who in turn found Dowd. With his bonus money safely in a drawer of the Second Precinct Station, Dowd was held throughout the day and finally placed on a train for Dillon last night.

Meantime a search for the two "friends" is being made. The woman, police said, informed them of a plot whereby Dowd would soon be swindled of his money.

MARRIED WORKERS' PENALTY ASSAILED

U. S. Law Viewed as Blow to Women in General in Talk by Miss Dell.

The law prohibiting married persons from working together in the Government service was viewed as a direct blow at the employment of women generally by Miss Jessie Dell, civil service commissioner, in an address yesterday afternoon at Alva Belmont House, given under the auspices of the Government workers' council of the National Woman's Party.

"There are any number of family relationships that could have been injected into the matter, which would have been just as effective as a penalty on marriage," Miss Dell said.

"At the eleventh hour the law was changed to include married men as well as married women, but this inclusion of the men was brought about because of the fear on the part of the legislators of the political effect it would have if the discrimination were so clearly and forcibly shown to be against women only.

"The legislation decreeing that the married woman shall not be employed by the Government if her husband is also in the Government is nothing short of absurd and gives no consideration to the right of the individual to open competition on the basis of merit.

"Denial of employment to women on the ground of marriage is a penalty upon marriage and, therefore, opposed to sound public policy," Miss Dell charged.

Woman, 34, Overcome As Wind Blows Gas Out

Florence Davis, 34, of 2106 F street northwest, was overcome by gas yesterday when the wind, apparently, extinguished the blaze in a range jet.

CATHOLIC U. STARTS ITS ACADEMIC YEAR

Solemn Mass in Crypt of National Shrine Opens 44th New Term.

The forty-fourth academic year at Catholic University of America was formally opened yesterday at the solemn mass of the Holy Ghost in the crypt of the National Shrine. The Right Rev. Mgr. Edward A. Pace, vice rector of the institution, preached, and the Right Rev. Mgr. James H. Ryan, rector of the university, celebrated the mass.

Members of the faculty in formal academic dress, seniors, appearing at their first scholastic function and for the first time in cap and gown, superiors and members of the religious committee on the campus, graduate and undergraduate students, and their friends attended the mass.

Mgr. Pace declared that the "hope of the future lies chiefly in the men and women whose vision is clearer, whose resolve is stronger and whose devotion to the common weal is deeper because they have first ordered their lives in accordance with the law of God and the example of Christ."

"In this religious observance, the most solemn act of Catholic worship," said Mgr. Pace, "we consecrate ourselves anew to the service of God, of His church, of our university and of our country. These are the ideals which give meaning and value to our efforts as teachers and students."

Two Girls Fall Down Stairs; Are Injured

Two girls suffered sprained ankles last night, in falls down stairways. Both were treated at Emergency Hospital.

Miss Mildred Lippe, 21, of 2638 Garfield street northwest, fell on a short flight of steps while visiting at 2022 G street northwest. Miss Margaret Card, 17, suffered injuries when she tripped on a stairway of her home, 22 Evarts street northeast.

Virginia Traffic Blocked By Huge Burning Truck

Traffic on the Washington-Richmond highway between Alexandria and Mount Vernon was detoured over the River road for more than three hours yesterday morning when a large eight-wheeled freight truck was burned. The driver was badly injured.

The truck was owned by the Barnwell Brothers, of Burlington, N. C., and driven by Quillian Faulkner. The accident occurred at the foot of Snake Hill in Hybla Valley about 9 a. m. Faulkner suffered a fractured right hip and possible internal injuries besides serious burns.

According to the police the huge truck ignited coming down the hill and crashed into an electric pole breaking it off at the base. The truck was loaded to capacity with miscellaneous merchandise on its way South. Faulkner was taken to the Alexandria Hospital by a passing motorist.

After the flames died down persons began to salvage hardware from the embers. The truck was dragged into a nearby field and employes of the State Highway Department finished clearing the road about noon.

MANAGER OF FILLING STATION IS ATTACKED AND ROBBED OF $100

Three Other Men Assaulted as Series of Robberies and Thefts Net $1,000.

Two colored men attacked the manager of a gasoline station at 2000 L street northwest yesterday and robbed him of $100. Three other robberies and five thefts netted thieves about $1,000 in money and merchandise during the last 24 hours.

William Rudy, of 1408 L street northwest, was struck over the head by a blunt instrument wielded by one of two colored men who drove into the L street filling station and asked for 4 gallons of gasoline. Rudy was able to give a good description of the men, who, he said, escaped with $100.

Other Thefts.

Jewelry and money totaling $348 was either lost or stolen from the automobile of Mrs. Antonette Marvis, of Baltimore, Md., while it was parked at the Monument Grounds yesterday afternoon. Clifford L. Ward, of the Roosevelt Hotel, reported clothing valued at $60 stolen from his automobile while it was parked in the 4100 block of Connecticut avenue.

Three Victims Attacked.

William Campbell, 32, colored, of 2422 Seventeenth street northwest, was in a serious condition at Freedmen's Hospital, suffering from injuries inflicted by a colored assailant, who robbed him of $18. Two other colored men were assaulted and robbed yesterday. A store at 2 Quincy place northeast was broken into and robbed of merchandise valued at $51, according to a report by Jenis Dadain. A lunchroom at 129 Fifth street northeast and a store at 1309 H street northeast were broken into and the motor in a boat owned by Joseph Mackey, which was moored at the south end of the Chain Bridge, was stolen.

10,000 Birds to Fly In 400-Mile Race

Pigeon Derby Classic Will Start on October 9 From Capital.

More than 10,000 pigeons have been entered in the Bicentennial Futurity, proclaimed to be the greatest pigeon racing classic in the United States. Weather permitting, the bird derby will start October 9.

The race is being held under the auspices of the Washington Racing Pigeon Club of the American Racing Pigeon Union. It will be followed by the annual convention of the union to be held in the latter part of October at the Mayflower Hotel.

All organized fanciers throughout the country are permitted to enter birds in the event. The pigeons will fly to points within a 400-mile radius of the Capital.
